

Equalization Rate Drop Poses Threat of Higher Taxes

By HUGH REYNOLDS
KINGSTON
City and county officials will be in Albany next month to protest a general drop in equalization rates, averaging about 15 per cent throughout Ulster County.

In Kingston the rate dropped from 35 to 32 and Mayor Francis R. Koenig is ready to fight. "You just don't take these things automatically," he said. "You fight for a raise. I wrote to them (the State Board of Equalization and Assessment) as soon as I got the figures."

The state board originally set the city's hearing for April 1 but that has been postponed until later in the month.

On the county front, the County Treasurer's Committee of the Legislature met last night and reviewed the situation. The figures are still being studied but it is expected that the county will also send a delegation to Albany next month to protest the rate drops.

Last night's meeting was attended by Louis Bevier of New Paltz, the chairman, Orrie Riehl and D. Gerald Gorman from the city, Lester Elmendorf from Ulster, Glen DeBrosky from High Falls and Jack Reynolds, director of the county's real property tax service agency.

The county figures read much the same as the city's: Denning dropped from 9 to 8; Hurley from 20 to 17; Kingston Town from 18-15; Marlborough from 17 to 16; Olive from 13 to 11; Plattekill from 54 to 48; Rosendale from 12 to 11; Saugerties from 14 to 13; Shandaken from 28 to 25; Ulster from 14 to 13;

Wawarsing from 16 to 14 and Woodstock from 68 to 60.

Special

The equalization rate is based on the assessment that a community puts on the value of real property. A ten per cent equalization rate in a municipality means that the assessor assesses property at 10 per cent of its value for tax purposes.

Kingston assesses at 35 per cent which is to say a property with a full value of $10,000 is assessed at $3,500 for tax purposes.

What the State Board of Equalization and Assessment is telling the city by dropping the equalization rate from 35 to 32 is that the city is not assessing its properties at the correct value, according to state samplings. In other words, Kingston, and Ulster County are under assessing property.

Koenig called for and got, the state's sampling data which revealed that the board sampled 196 one-family residences out of a total in the city of 6,107. The state sampled three out of 19 commercial properties valued at $50,000 or more; one of 13 industrial properties valued at $50,000 or more and two utilities out of four in the city.

Koenig, who will be joined by City Assessor Matthias G. Richardson and the city's real estate consultant, Walter Donnaruma, will attempt to show the state its samplings are inaccurate and do not truly reflect the assessing practices of the city.

A failure to do so could result in higher county and school taxes for city residents since a lower equalization rate adds to the full value property total of the city and county and school taxes are based on full value.

Reynolds explained the county aspect of it this way: A town with an equalization rate of 17 paid $45,931 in county taxes last year. A town with a rate of 18 paid $43,379.

"We're working up our figures right now," Koenig told The Freeman. "We're making every effort to get those rates raised."

2,000 Evacuated From Laos Area By U.S. Copters

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. helicopters airlifted nearly 2,000 more South Vietnamese troops out of Laos today, U.S. officials said. The troops were evacuated from a fire base "Lolo" today. Another South Vietnamese unit was reported surrounded by North Vietnamese after suffering more than 100 dead and wounded.

A South Vietnamese spokesman in Saigon denied reports that North Vietnamese forces have forced the South Vietnamese to pull back toward the border with South Vietnam.

"We have not been put to rout," the spokesman said. "Rumors saying the Communists forced the South Vietnamese back to the border are completely untrue."

At Fire Base "Brown," near "Lolo," beleaguered South Vietnamese forces were reported preparing for what military sources called "an all-out North Vietnamese assault."

Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam, commander of South Vietnamese forces in Laos, said government troops had maintained a 10-1 kill ratio over the Communists since the Laotian drive began Feb. 8.

Lam called the casualty figures "a victory ... a sign of winning."

Nevertheless, the 50 killed and 80 wounded the South Vietnamese reported in fighting today near "Lolo" were the highest acknowledged by Saigon in a single battle since the Laotian campaign began. The spokesman said the North Vietnamese lost 567 killed in the same fighting, less than two miles from Lolo, which is nine miles southeast of the shattered Ho Chi Minh trail junction of Sepone.

Heavy overcast and rain prevented U.S. helicopters from carrying out an emergency resupply mission to a battered South Vietnamese battalion under Communist attack south-west of "A Loui," 11 miles inside Laos on Highway 9.

Field reports said the unit was surrounded and had taken losses of at least 100 dead and wounded. They said the estimated 160 men still at the outpost were ordered to "break out of the position" but no further reports were available.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said 10,259 Communist troops had been killed in the five-week-old Laotian campaign with government losses of 860 killed, 3,235 wounded and 193 missing.

The U.S. command said today 45 Americans were killed last week and 156 wounded. It was one more dead than the previous week and down from the previous week's 434 wounded. Three GIs were killed and 14 wounded in the U.S. air mission over Laos.

It brought to 44,676 the number of Americans killed and 296,034 the GIs wounded in more than 10 years of war since 1961. Another 9,335 Americans have died of non-hostile causes.

Five Americans were killed Wednesday when a U.S. UH1 Huey helicopter collided in flight with an A1H Cobra gunship in Cambodia and four GIs and two South Vietnamese were killed in the collision of an A1H chopper and a fixed wing plane at Can Tho, 90 miles southwest of Saigon.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said "rumors saying the Communists forced the South Vietnamese back to the (South Vietnamese) border are completely untrue. The truth is that we are now carrying out a new plan of operations which began on March 14 when the fighting got hot around Lolo."

"The plan is for operations in another area and in another direction," the spokesman said.

The Calley Deliberations Continue

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—The jury got an early start today in the second day of its shirt-sleeved deliberation of the fate of Lt. William L. Calley, accused of point-blank slaughter of civilians at the Vietnam village of My Lai.

Looking chipper, the six officers comprising the court-martial jury walked into the courthouse, doffed military jackets and got down to work at 8:05 a.m. EST.

Maj. Harvey G. Brown, 33, of Amarillo, Tex., a Vietnam veteran who was taken to a post hospital shortly before midnight Wednesday night suffering a sudden attack of stomach pains, told the five other jury members he was feeling "fine now."

Brown spent an hour and a half at Martin Army Hospital and then returned to the five-bedroom suite in a transient officers' barracks where the jury was sequestered during final arguments. The men will remain there until they reach a verdict on the guilt or innocence of Calley, who is accused of premeditated murder of 102 women, children and old men three years ago.

Brown's illness had caused a ripple of apprehension among court officials at midnight. They feared it might cause a temporary halt to deliberations, but that fear was dissipated with Brown's appearance in the courthouse.

Brown had heaved a sigh as he put on his coat following Wednesday's deliberations. Two other jurors, Col. Clifford H. Ford, 53, of Knoxville, Tenn., and Maj. Charles C. McIntosh, 38, of Donora, Pa., also appeared tired and tense at the end of the first day.

The picking of the jury began Nov. 12. This was the 51st day of court session since then, there having been several long recesses.

Should the jurors find Calley guilty of premeditated murder, the 27-year-old lieutenant would receive a mandatory penalty of death or life imprisonment.

The jurors are working in a tightly guarded room which is newly equipped with blackboards, possibly to help chart Charlie Company's onslaught on the village three years ago.

On a table at one end of the narrow chamber are some 100 exhibits collected through four months of testimony.

Meanwhile in his bachelor apartment, on the post and decorated with peace signs, Calley welcomed a steady stream of Army friends and newsmen he invited to help pass the time waiting for the jury's decision.

The 27-year-old lieutenant provided beer, soft drinks and conversation that rarely touched on My Lai. A secretary, hired to handle the hundreds of letters he receives, acted as a hostess.

Kennedy, on call for any questions from the jury, played bridge in his chambers. Even the prosecutor Capt. Aubrey Daniel, his work finished after spending a year preparing the case, was relaxed and jovial for the first time since the trial started Nov. 12.

In their first hour of talks, the jurors sent out a call for a new newspaper and television viewing of news about the Calley case.

The discussions apparently were heated.

As the jurors left for dinner, they put on their tunics without exchanging a word.

The faces of Col. Clifford Ford and Majors Charles McIntosh, Walter Kinard and Brown appeared flushed. Maj. Carl Bierbaum and Capt. Ronald Salem went out with jaws set.

The officers are being kept away from their families and from all contact with the world outside their six-room suite in transient officers' barracks and their deliberation room.

Three bailiffs censor their newspapers and television viewing of news about the Calley case.

They will return verdicts on four specifications: the mass murders of 30 and 70 people and the deaths each of one man and one child.

On each specification they must choose from four possible verdicts—premeditated murder, unpemeditated murder, voluntary manslaughter or acquittal.

Unless they vote for acquittal, the jurors, after announcing the verdicts on each specification, must renew their private discussions to fix sentence: life in prison or death for premeditated murder up to life imprisonment for unpemeditated murder, and up to 10 years for voluntary manslaughter.

Many 'My Lai' Massacres Happened, Viet Delegation Tells U.S. in Paris

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong delegation to the Paris peace talks charged today the alleged My Lai massacre was not an isolated case of American atrocities but one of several massacres of Vietnamese civilians by U.S. troops.

Both the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese chief delegates boycotted the talks for the third week in a row to protest the Allied drive into Laos, leaving lesser delegates to attend today's 107th session of the talks.

The deputy delegate for the South Vietnam Provisionary Revolutionary Government (PRG), Nguyen Van Tien, said on the third anniversary of the March 18, 1968, My Lai incident that "the United States has not ceased to intensify its barbarous atrocities."

"The Nixon administration pretends Son My (My Lai) is only an isolated case, and stages a trial of some soldiers ... to appease opinion," Tien said.

"The undeniable truth is that since the massacre of Son My, in particular since the accession of Nixon to the presidency, the number of these massacres has not ceased to increase," he said.

Tien also denounced a 28,000-man prison he said the Americans maintain at Cay Dua in South Vietnam where "more than 630 detained persons have died following torture and massacre."

"The jailers put the prisoners into sacks filled with sand and expose them to the sun until they are dead," he said. "Or they throw the prisoners into cauldrons filled with boiling water, or they stick them into jute sacks soaked with gasoline and then set them on fire to burn the men alive, or they massacre them with machine guns."

Meanwhile in Oswego the student body at the State University College at Oswego rallied around the school's president Wednesday on the eve of his departure for Paris where he intends to meet with the North and South Vietnamese delegations to the peace talks.

Dr. James Perdue announced recently his intention to go to Paris as a citizen interested in a peaceful settlement of the war.

He said he was going at his own expense and on his personal vacation time.

Perdue said he had some personal opinions concerning the Indochina conflict but would keep an open mind during his discussions in Paris.

Perdue leaves by plane today from Hancock Field at Syracuse. Several student groups and the student government plan send off rallies both at his home and the airport.

"This shows that if college administrations are really responsive to students, the students will do anything to support them. Why else would we get up at 7 a.m.," said Judy Paratore, a student movement leader.

Suicide Ruling in Death Of Saugerties Businessman

SAUGERTIES or two hours" when he was to meet his brother at the home Dairy on Partition Street in the city.

The death of a prominent Saugerties builder and developer was listed as suicide today by Ulster County Coroner Henry S. Hartley.

Austin T. Simmons, 57, was discovered Wednesday afternoon sprawled on the dining room floor of his home in Simmons Park, a residential area that he developed.

State police at Lake Katrine were notified of the incident around 3 p.m. Wednesday. Coroner Hartley, of Saugerties, said today that Simmons "might have been dead for one Simmons died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the chest. State police said a 12-gauge shotgun was found on the floor of the dining room near Simmons' body.

Cause of death, according to state police, was listed as internal thoracic hemorrhage, caused by a 12-gauge shotgun wound in the chest.

A widely known community figure, Simmons was discovered at his home by his brother, Arthur Simmons, a real estate broker in Saugerties. According to Hartley, Arthur had planned and then drive him to Saugerties to keep a doctor's appointment.

State police yesterday ruled the incident an "apparent suicide." Harold T. Bowers, Ulster County Senior Investigator and BCI Investigator J. L. Ventriglia investigated.

Simmons' reputation as a builder and developer was known throughout the Hudson Valley. In addition to Simmons Park in Saugerties, he developed shopping plazas in Newburgh, Catskill, Hudson and the Saxton Sportsmen's Club in March, 1959.

Simmons' name had been mentioned in connection with the proposed Central Broadway Shopping Mall in Kingston. The first sketch of the proposed mall was drawn up by Simmons late last year, and the Saugerties builder had reportedly expressed an interest in developing the project.

While Simmons "was not a joiner," according to Hartley, he did serve as president of the Saugerties Lions Club in 1959 and was elected president of the

Vote of Woodstock Town Board

Another Police Car Purchased

WOODSTOCK — There's another new police car on its way to Woodstock as the result of Town Board action this week. Board members voted unanimously to accept the low bid of Greene County Motors to supply a Plymouth Fury 1 at a cost of $3,221.92.

Three other bids had been submitted for a new police car, but the Greene Motors price eliminated the competition. The board, which has long been concerned with controlling traffic problems in the area of the new Zena Elementary School, also approved the appointment of a committee by Supervisor Milton Houst to further explore this situation.

Houst named himself, along with Councilman Paul DeLisio and Wilfrid Brey, of Cardinal Drive, as a committee to study new and improved system to facilitate fire and police dispatch control near the Zena school.

Houst also lauded the new Woodstock Emergency Communications Center which went into full operation last Monday. Located in the Woodstock Town Hall Annex and functioning 24 hours around the clock, the center is doing business in the old police station. Police activities are now concentrated in the former Justice Court in the same building.

The Emergency Center is a new and improved system to facilitate fire and police dispatch control near the Zena school. The number is 679-2422 (six phone number). The number is seven - nine - two - four - two - form Woodstockers of the new (two). Three roll-over numbers service, police and firemen will be involved in the answering issue, posters, and permanent operation, almost totally eliminating the chances of ever getting a busy signal. In addition, callers will still receive an answer through the old number for the time being.

During the 24 hours daily operation of the Emergency Center, local police will remain on standby, meaning that any and all police or fire action should be reported to the new telephone number. To further inform Woodstockers of the new operation, posters, and permanent stickers bearing the phone number will be given to all residents to attach to their home phones as soon as possible.

American Lists February Loss

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Airlines reported Wednesday it had a net loss of $10.3 million in February, a loss of 51 cents per share.

In February, 1970, the company lost $4.4 million, or 21 cents per share.

So far this year, revenues have totaled $169.5 million compared to $173.6 million for the same period last year. Revenue passenger miles were off 5.5 percent compared to last year, and commercial freight volume was off 9.4 percent.

Mabie Advances Idea

Trustee-Legislator Team Sought

KINGSTON — A suggestion that the next negotiating team between Ulster County and Ulster County Community College consist of a joint group of college trustees and county legislators was advanced by Minority Leader Roger Mabie (D-Dist. 7) at a recent meeting of the county board.

Negotiations during 1970 were first initiated by the trustees but were completed many months later by members of the Legislature's Community College Committee, when the trustees relinquished the responsibility.

Mabie, commenting on the past negotiations, said that "many of us on the board have had very strong feelings ranging from one extreme to another."

"We should look to the future," he said. "In two years we will be facing this again and the oneness is on us to give thought to what the future holds."

Mabie's remarks followed the proposing of a resolution approving additional money for the 1970-71 Ulster County Community College budget.

The proposal was sponsored by Brian White (R-Dist. 9), chairman of the UCCC Committee and three members of his nine-man committee, William West (R-Dist. 12), Glenn A. DeBrosky (R-Dist. 7) and Richard Thornton (D-Dist. 1). The resolution, which passed unanimously, was necessitated by the fact that the UCCC budget, passed by the legislature for the fiscal year Sept. 1, 1970 to Aug. 31, 1971, did not provide for increases in salary for the teaching faculty, and because the negotiations have now been completed.

A supplementary addition to the budget was therefore needed and the measure called for the transfer of $53,000 from a contingency account to the community college account.

County Treasurer Fred DuBois was authorized to make the transfer.

HERBERT HEKLER

Hekler Addresses Shawangunk Board

TOWN OF SHAWANGUNK — This week's meeting of the Town of Shawangunk Board featured a lengthy address by Herbert Hekler, director of the Ulster County Planning Board. Hekler delivered a report to the board on the progress of county planning and zoning, discussed in detail the recently released proposal for the disposal of solid waste on a county-wide level.

Hekler also went over the town's zoning proposals, making suggestions as to the areas in which the proposals could be improved.

He agreed to put his recommendations in writing to be delivered to the board at a later date.

The board also heard further discussion on the mobile home park proposed for Straw Ridge Road. The board directed its attorney to place all verbal commitments made to date in writing.

EX-GENERAL COLE (L), MAGEE, BROMLEY (R)
(UPI Telephoto)

Cole Threatens Libel Suits

WASHINGTON (AP) — After nearly five weeks of conflicting testimony a Senate probe into alleged scandal in the giant military PX system has ended in charges touching the integrity of the investigating panel.

Finishing their interrogation of former Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole, senators announced Wednesday they will turn his sworn testimony over to the Justice, Treasury and Defense departments for possible perjury and tax evasion action.

Cole, once a key Army staff officer in Vietnam who later was fired as head of the European PX system, replied he had been slandered, libeled and destroyed by an unfair hearing.

The Senate probe degraded American justice, and gave comfort "to the neo-fascists, Nazis and the Communists," he said.

Cole said he would file libel suits against any senator or witness who repeated statements about Cole outside the cloak of congressional immunity.

"I feel if this case of mine is brought before a court of law, I will be exonerated," Cole said. "If this has been a fair and impartial hearing, I feel sorry for the future of this country."

Committee Chairman Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., declaring the aim of the panel is reform, said of Cole's charges: "I reject them totally." Cole is represented by Warren Magee.

Several witnesses accused Cole of misconduct in relations with vendors dealing with PXs and service clubs in Vietnam.

Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla., said Cole had used the phrase "I don't recall" 92 times in answer to questions of his relations with William J. Crum, a businessman dealing with clubs and PXs in Vietnam.

Senators on the permanent investigations subcommittee also held Martin J. Bromley, an international slot-machine magnate, blameless of an implication made in testimony that he offered a $50,000 bribe to buy Cole's silence.

Bromley is said to be the key figure in a worldwide operation selling slot machines and amusement devices to military clubs.

Dewey's Body Lies in State

NEW YORK (UPI)—The body of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will lie in state for public viewing today in the city where he launched the political career which almost carried him into the White House.

The twice unsuccessful presidential candidate died in Florida Tuesday of a heart attack. His body was flown here Wednesday according to a spokesman for the law firm with which Dewey was associated.

Funeral services for the one-time racket-buster were scheduled for Friday at 4 p.m. in St. James Episcopal Church in the presence of numerous public leaders. Interment will take place at Pawling, N.Y., where Dewey maintained a residence.

It is an historical irony that Dewey is almost as well known for a campaign he lost as he is for the three successful ones he ran for governor of New York. In 1944 he ran for the presidency as the Republican candidate and lost to Franklin D. Roosevelt as predicted by almost everyone.

In 1948, however, he was the GOP presidential opponent of Harry S. Truman and it was considered a foregone conclusion that Dewey would run away with the election.

And Many Tributes in Albany

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—The state legislature put aside its regular calendar Wednesday to adopt a resolution paying tribute to former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Most of the tributes came from the 14 members of the legislature who served during the Dewey administration.

"He was a tough opponent, a task master of the first order," Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges said. "But underneath this exterior was a warm personal man."

Brydges recalled how Dewey for himself, he put together the essentials to succeed in winning the nomination for General Eisenhower. Hughes said, "Without his brilliance, Eisenhower never would have been nominated and of course would not have been elected president."

Senate Minority Leader Joseph Zaretzki said as governor "Dewey ran the legislature like it has never been run before or since."

Sen. John H. Hughes, N.Y. cause, recalled the contribution Dewey made to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's presidential bid in 1952.

"Although he couldn't succeed

But he lost. Dewey said it was because he thought he could conduct a clean, high-principles campaign while the electorate apparently preferred Truman's "give 'em hell" campaign technique.

On the surface Dewey appeared to be a tough, humorless and cold personality which may have contributed to his surprising defeat.

But those who worked with him said he was actually a deeply compassionate and friendly man.

The French newspaper Le Monde in its obituary on Dewey referred to the 1948 election saying Dewey "was the first important victim of public opinion polls."

School Aid — A Cutoff

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York's basic plan for holding down education costs is to use a carrot and stick to get local school districts to employ fewer teachers and administrators.

The underlying premise—supported by comparisons with other states—is that the ratios of teachers and other professional staff personnel to pupils have become too high.

Therefore, the thinking at the Capitol is that there should be a cutoff point beyond which no more state aid will be given to the districts. If the districts want richer ratios, it will be up to them to raise the needed tax money locally.

Legislative sources indicated Wednesday that the exact standards remain to be worked out.

Meanwhile, Assemblyman Charles A. Jerabek, a Republican - Conservative from Bay Shore, Long Island, has introduced legislation aimed at saving the state $300 million a year by creating an approved ratio of 45 "instructional staff" to every 1,000 pupils. Jerabek defines instructional staff as classroom teachers, principals and supervisors and such other personnel as librarians, guidance counselors and athletic directors.

The sources conceded that Jerabek's proposal conforms in broad terms with what legislative leaders are working on but added that the goal is to come up with something more flexible.

One consideration is to avoid getting so locked into over-all ratios that there would be no latitude for services provided by the districts to mentally, emotionally and physically handicapped children.

In addition, some extra effort may be made to bear less heavily on classroom teachers, compared with the nonteaching professional staff, when determining the ratio.

Statistics provided to legislators show that the ratio of instructional staff to pupils in New York is 58.8 per 1,000. New Jersey is listed second at 54.7, Connecticut at 54.4, Pennsylvania at 49.8 and Illinois at 46.8 to complete the top five states.

Rolison to U.S.—Pay Up

ALBANY has advanced the Federal Government's share of the Pure Waters Program and the Interstate Highway system. This has kept these programs moving, in spite of the fact that the past several administrations and the Congress of the federal government have defaulted in paying its share of these projects.

Senator Rolison said, "For years, the State of New York

"Hundreds of millions of dollars are past due on these federal promissory notes and if they were paid they could reduce the state and local tax burden of our taxpayers."

"I have requested the Legislative Research office to compile a complete listing of these past due payments. As soon as this data has been compiled, I shall prepare and introduce a resolution asking the legislature to call upon the Congress and the federal administration to pay its share of these costs.

"Every member of the legislature of every party will be invited to participate in and to support this resolution in the name of the taxpayers of the State of New York.

"It must be remembered that these programs have nothing to do with revenue sharing. They are programs legislated by the Congress of the United States and, in some cases, were mandated by the Congress. New York State moved ahead on these programs, relying on the promise of the federal government to pay its share."

"It is now time for the federal government to pay on these long overdue, promissory notes to the taxpayers of our State and local areas. Such payments may well obviate tax increases and conceivably result in lightening the tax burden for our people."

"Once the legislature has passed this resolution, we shall call upon the Congress and the administration to make payment without further delay. Each and every member of New York State's Congressional delegation will be directed to take steps to see that these hundreds of millions of dollars are paid in the coming fiscal year."

Rolison also reported today that a bill designed to prohibit the use of triple-lantern trucks on the New York State Thruway has been reported out of the Senate Committee on Motor Vehicles for action by the full Senate.

Rolison, a member of the Motor Vehicle Committee, has been working closely with the chairman, State Sen. John Caemmerer in endeavoring to get the Thruway Authority to voluntarily stop the operation of these vehicles, but with no success to date. Therefore, legislation would appear to be necessary.

Dutchess' Second Fatal of Week

Youth Dies, 4 Hurt in Crash

MILLBROOK half mile west of Route 82 in the Town of Washington. A 17-year-old Dutchess County youth was killed and four passengers in his car were injured at 2:50 p.m. Wednesday when the vehicle was involved in a spectacular crash on Route 44 a

William G. Thompson of Rhinebeck reported the youth died of a fractured skull.

Police said that Roy, accompanied by four other teenagers, were westbound on the highway ahead of a truck when the youth attempted to make a left turn into a private driveway as the truck driven by Russell Gregory, 28, of Pine Plains, was passing. The vehicles collided.

Passengers in Roy's car who were treated at the hospital in Poughkeepsie were, Pamela Grubell, 17, who suffered a fractured left leg; Patrick Hurley, 14, who sustained minor head injuries; Richard Hurley, 17, who was treated for a scalp laceration and Susan Cassinelli, 16, who received contusions of the head. They all reside in this village.

Roy was the second traffic fatality in Dutchess County this week. On Monday, William T. Kahl, 26, of the Brookside Garden Apartments, Wappingers Falls, was killed when his car careened out of control on Osborne Hill Road, Town of Fishkill, and slammed into a tree. Kahl was ejected and his car continued on some 200 feet before it crashed into a tree. Fishkill State Police reported.

Rolison, a member of the Motor Vehicle Committee, has been working closely with the chairman, State Sen. John Caemmerer in endeavoring to get the Thruway Authority to voluntarily stop the operation of these vehicles, but with no success to date. Therefore, legislation would appear to be necessary.

Phone Company Presses for Immediate Hike

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Arguing that the New York Telephone Co.'s financial situation is critical, company officials are pressing the state Public Service Commission to allow an immediate, temporary $284-million rate increase.

Telephone officials continued the appeal Wednesday during the second day of public hearings on a permanent 29.1 percent rate hike that would bring in $391 million in added revenue for the company.

The utility has contended that it needs the additional funds to increase earnings and to attract additional capital investment for expansion and service-improvement programs.

Joseph J. Gottlieb, the PSC examiner in the hearing, said a decision on the temporary increase would be made when the PSC collects enough data, but he set no definite date.

The telephone company emphasized that customers would be refunded if the PSC later disapproves the temporary raise in rates.

Testimony during the hearing has centered on consumer complaints about service and the company's counter-claim that it needs more money before it can improve its service.

At Wednesday's session, Charles R. Gibson, PSC counsel, asked Edward Goldstein, a New York Telephone vice president, about the condition of service in New York City.

"I would say we are making fine progress," Goldstein answered. "The improvement in service is apparent everywhere and upstate the service has been good all along."

Gibson later asked if telephone service in New York City had ever been as bad as now.

"Not to my knowledge," Goldstein said.

In other actions Wednesday, PSC examiner Gottlieb set Aug. 20 as the closing date for the hearings and July 23 as the date when the PSC case must be finished.

The cross-examination of telephone company executives was expected to continue today.

The PSC also will hold hearings in New York City, Syracuse and Buffalo.

PSC Warns of New Voltage Cuts

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—More voltage reductions will be inevitable in the Consolidated Edison Co. system this summer, Public Service Commission Chairman Joseph C. Swidler reported Wednesday night.

In his weekly report to Governor Rockefeller, Swidler said the power shortage will occur from maintenance needed on older units, and the delay in getting the Indian Point No. 2 generator going.

The PSC chairman said Con Ed once again will have to purchase power from outside its system to supply the New York City metropolitan area.

Officials estimate they will have a total capacity of 9,742 megawatts this summer, Swidler said, including the return of the Indian Point No. 1 plant and the "Big Allis" generator in Queens.

He said the estimated peak load of 8,150 megawatts would leave a reserve of only 19.5 percent.

If the equipment availability is roughly the 72 percent of last summer, he said, Con Ed will need to buy 1,100 megawatts in peak hours.

Rosendale Parley—Congratulations

ROSENDALE swearing-in ceremonies will take place.

Congratulations from incoming and outgoing trustees and brief discussion on Rosendale's parking situation occupied most of the agenda at Wednesday night's Village Board meeting.

According to Village Clerk Nancy Hanrahan, both Mayor Carl Grassi and newly elected Trustee William Ritter have been notified officially of their recent victory at the polls. The two will decide jointly when swearing-in ceremonies will take place.

Last night's meeting marked the last for outgoing Trustee Kenneth Smith, who was lauded for his efforts on the Village Board by Grassi. Ritter, who is not yet an official member of the Board, was congratulated by the other Board members on his victory.

Smith did not run for reelection this year.

As one of his final acts on the Village Board, Smith urged officials to continue efforts to solve the village's parking situation.

A motion by Smith that would have authorized the Village to purchase a parking lot off Main Street was not seconded.

Smith was assured by the other Board members, however, that the parking situation would not be neglected. The Village, it was pointed out, is now renting a large lot belonging to the Joppenbergh Mountain Assn., but it has been inaccessible because of the large accumulation of snow.

Grassi urged residents and shoppers in the village "to be patient" until the snow is cleared from the lot off Main Street.

New Demolition Bids Opened

KINGSTON City officials expect to begin work on a demolition contract involving seven city-owned properties and four privately owned properties within the next few weeks.

Bids were opened Wednesday in Mayor Francis R. Koenig's office with the apparent low bidder, J. and S. Excavating of Kerhonkson, at $6,700 for the city-owned properties and $2,450 for the privately-owned properties.

Van Alen and Thayer of Kingston came in next lowest at $8,627 for the city properties and $3,159 for the privately-owned properties.

The city-owned properties are located at 44 West Union Street, 159-161 Hunter Street, 163-165 Hunter Street, 109-111 Hunter Street, 54 Abeel Street, 111 Broadway and 131 Abeel Street. The privately-owned buildings are located at 50 Sycamore Street, 127 Abeel Street, 141-147 Abeel Street and 35 West Union Street.

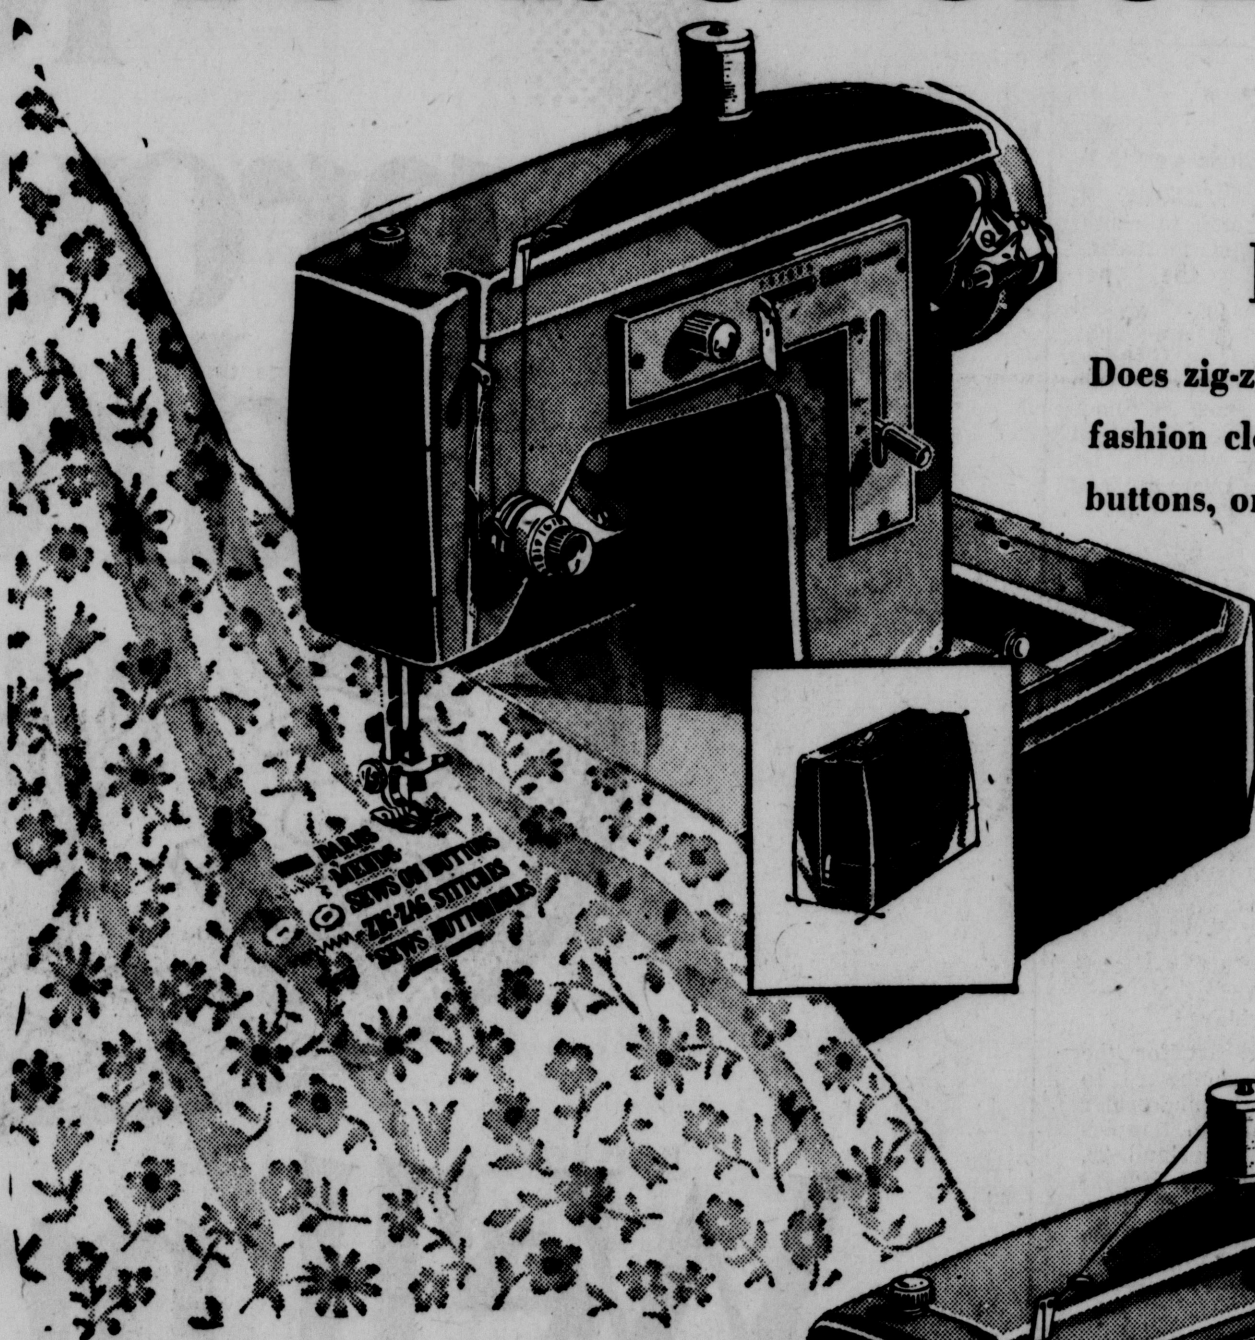

The demolition is being carried out through a joint city-federal program with a total of $52,000 in funds, two-thirds of which is paid by the federal government.

Churchmen Bow to War Critics

was made although Hope was explanation and forced a new vote. However, at Monday's meeting of the council's general assembly, about 20 young ministers, led by the Rev. Richard Neuhaus, demanded an Hope's record of public commitment to the three pressing issues that confront the council—poverty, racial justice and peace. Neuhaus said Wednesday, "On the contrary, Mr. Hope has uncritically supported the military establishment." Dr. Dan Potter, executive director of the council, said he thought Hope was a good candidate for the award. He said Hope had been notified of the change and he "understands and there are no hard feelings. That in itself marks him as a pretty great guy." The award is a gold medallion which goes annually to the public figure who has contributed massively to the family of man. In the past it has been awarded to Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon. Last year's award went to Mayor John V. Lindsay.

New Try to Get Angela Out

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Attorneys for black militant Angela Davis say they're going to appellate courts to seek her release on bail now that the judge in her murder case has disqualified himself.

Miss Davis' codefendant, 31-year-old black convict Russell Magee, surprised even his own attorneys Wednesday when he presented an affidavit at a pre-trial hearing seeking to disqualify Superior Court Judge John P. McMurray "for cause."

After almost two hours of conferences in chambers with attorneys for all parties, McMurray returned to the bench and declared: "I'm going to allow Mr. Magee's affidavit for cause. It disqualifies me to act further in this case."

Miss Davis, 27-year-old former UCLA philosophy instructor and an avowed Communist, and Magee are charged with murder, kidnap and conspiracy in the Aug. 7 shootout at the Marin County Civic Center in which a judge, two convicts and an accomplice were killed.

McMurray's decision postponed the case indefinitely and returns to the California Judicial Council the task of finding a judge. After McMurray's announcement, Howard Moore Jr., chief counsel for Miss Davis, asked him to consider her petition for refuse to act any further in this matter. Magee's handwritten petition seeking disqualification of McMurray, 62, was brought out of retirement from sparsely populated Inyo County in southeastern California to preside at the pretrial hearings. All Marin County judges had disqualified themselves because of past friendship with Superior Court Judge Harold Haley, killed in the shootout last summer.

Moore said, "I think it was personal to the judge. I think it's a matter which weighed heavily on his conscience." McMurray, 62, was brought out of retirement from sparsely populated Inyo County in southeastern California to preside at the pretrial hearings. All Marin County judges had disqualified themselves because of past friendship with Superior Court Judge Harold Haley, killed in the shootout last summer.

The Bobby Seale Jury Hears Testimony

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A jury of five Negroes and seven whites whose selection took nearly four months begins hearing testimony today in the trial of Black Panther Chairman Bobby G. Seale and Ericka Huggins, a local party member.

Seale and Mrs. Huggins are charged with kidnaping resulting in the death of a fellow Panther and aiding and abetting murder—offenses which carry the death penalty—plus conspiracy to kidnap and to murder. In addition, Mrs. Huggins is accused of binding with criminal intent.

The charges arise from the slaying of Alex Rackley, whose body was found in a swamp 20 miles north of New Haven almost two years ago. Police said the victim was suspected of being a police informer by members of the Panthers' local chapter, and was tortured with boiling water before being shot in the head and chest. The Panthers maintain that the killing was conceived and carried out by George Sams Jr., a former Panther and bodyguard to Stokely Carmichael.

Sams has pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the case and is expected to be an important prosecution witness.

"The members of the New Haven chapter were young and they were immature, so they cannot and must not be blamed for what George Sams did or made them do under the threat or the victim."

of death at his hands," says a statement from Panther national headquarters.

Panther spokesmen have said Sams was a police agent. Sams, who founded the Panthers in 1966 with Huey P. Newton, was arrested in California in August 1969 on the basis of an affidavit in which Sams said the Panther leader had confronted Rackley in New Haven and ordered him slain. Seale has denied seeing either Sams or Rackley in New Haven.

Rekindle Faith in U.S.

In the depths of the Depression, Americans had "nothing to fear but fear itself."

Today, faced with problems undreamed of a generation ago, it may be that we have nothing to despair of but despair itself.

That was the tenor of a boost-America speech made before the New York Rotary Club by Charles W. V. Meares, chairman of the board of the New York Life Insurance Company.

Crisis seems to accurately express the general mood of our time, says Meares. We are struggling to control inflation without aggravating unemployment, to resolve the problems of urban decay and racial unrest and of a deteriorating environment. There is crime and drug abuse and violence in the land and, above all else, there is the Vietnam war that we have yet to bring to an end.

But the most serious crisis of all, he believes, is a crisis of the spirit, a mood of disillusionment and bewilderment that has swept across our land.

"At the heart of this crisis of the spirit is the feeling of helplessness that so many individuals have. They recognize many of our problems but they feel they are so big and complex that the individual is powerless to cope with them."

By contrast, our country was founded in a burst of confidence in man's ability to govern himself, and it survived its times of trouble because of the faith our people had in themselves and their country.

We seem to be losing that confidence and faith today. Recent polls have shown, for instance, that many students believe America is losing its nobility of purpose, that most adults would surrender some of their freedoms in exchange for law and order and that a majority of all age groups is pessimistic about the nation's future.

What America needs in 1971, says Meares, is a resurgence of faith in its ability to solve its problems, no matter how large they seem.

"We, the people, have to believe that if we could rebuild the devastated economies of Europe and Japan a generation ago, then we can surely rebuild the devastated hopes of our minorities today; that if we can back into the longest war of our history, then clearly we can get ourselves out of the war; that if we can kill the fish in our streams with pollution; then we can find ways of ending that pollution; that if we can believe in ourselves and reaffirm the faith of our founding fathers, then we can accomplish practically anything."

This is no call for Pollyannaish complacency, however. The time has come, he says, to stop talking about the things that must be done and to start doing them. If you can't move the world, at least nudge a neighborhood.

In earlier days, if fire or storm destroyed a man's home, his neighbors rallied to the call for help to raise new beams and roof and walls, usually on the old foundation. This call goes out again today. And it demands a personal response from a neighborhood of millions in our complex national household.

"But first," says Meares, "we must recognize that 200 years of history and accomplishments have provided us with a firm foundation on which we can build today. There is, then, neither sense nor purpose in tearing down our society and starting over again from scratch. Instead, we must be willing to acknowledge that, while we do have miles to go before we rest, we have already come a very long way, indeed."

As noted, this was a booster speech, appropriate for a Rotary Club—but also, perhaps, for a nation that has had enough of tearing down.

181% Tax Rise in 15 Years

Taxes collected by all levels of government—local, state and federal—have risen 181 per cent in the last 15 years. This finding of the Tax Foundation should surprise no one. The cost of government has been rising precipitously in the same period and the taxpayer, who had to pay the bill, found little relief by changing governments whichever way he turned.

In 1956, total government tax collections amounted to slightly less than $100 billion. This year, the research foundation estimates that the tax collections for all governments will total $281 billion. That works out at $4,328 per household, as compared to $2,045 in 1956.

Tax collections this year will increase by about $5 billion, but because of an increase in households, the per household tax will average out at a little less than last year—$4,328 down from $4,353.

While we are relating the bad news, let's make it complete. Governments were $511.6 billion in debt at the end of 1970. The federal government debt accounted for 73 per cent, for a total of $371 billion. This worked out to a per capita federal debt of $1,816, and for the aggregate government debt of $511.6, the per capita share was $2,558.

To get it all on a personal basis, the per capita tax bite for all governments was $1,405. So to get square with himself, the average American man, woman or child would pay his tax of $1,405; and, to discharge his debt, an additional $1,855 or a total of $3,260.

David Lawrence Says Nixon Determined American Industry Shall Be Protected

WASHINGTON — The United States and the Japanese governments have in the last two and one-half years engaged in what up to now has proved a futile effort to obtain a "voluntary" restriction on exports of textiles and certain other products to this country.

American producers cannot compete with the low-priced goods brought in from Japan. Naturally, the administration and Congress have been urged to apply some form of protectionism so as to preserve certain businesses and jobs in the United States. The attitude of the Department of State has been one of caution, based upon a belief that somehow the controversy could be settled amicably, perhaps by "voluntary" restrictions imposed by the Japanese themselves.

The principle of limiting exports was accepted by Japan. It agreed that a level would be established for exports to this country, and the United States negotiators declared that if this were done, no mandatory action would be taken. But, for months, the question debated has been how the level should be set and when it should be applied. The decision was delayed. Meanwhile, exports have increased. If Japan had been willing to agree on its 1969 level of exports, there would have been no trouble. But the problem was left unsettled, and while the months passed, the level of exports was rising. It was evident the Japanese were aiming at a higher and higher figure for their "voluntary" restriction.

Not until this year were there indications the Japanese might be willing to fix their present export figure as the annual amount beyond which they would not send any more textiles to the U.S. but by the time this conclusion had been reached, the American industry had been seriously damaged. The State Department was advised that the textile people in the South would not be able to compete with the "voluntary" quota established by the Japanese.

To complicate matters further, the Japan textile federation recently entered into a kind of agreement with the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee concerning the quotas. It was endorsed by the Japanese government. President Nixon was displeased with this approach through Congress instead of the State Department. He declared that the American government must provide relief for the textile workers and businesses of the United States, and he rejected the proposal made by the Japanese. He is willing, however, to carry on further negotiations to solve the problem.

The Japanese have evidently misjudged the firmness of the Department of State on the issue and didn't believe that the "voluntary" quotas insisted upon would be based on the levels of export which were attained in 1969, with a reasonable provision for growth. The administration's idea was that the Japanese government would take into account the impact of its exports on the American textile industry. Plenty of opportunity can be given for sales of the Japanese products as well as the American output. The danger, however, lies in the influx of low-priced textiles from Japan to such an extent that the entire American market will be absorbed.

President Nixon is determined that American industry shall be protected, though the Japanese will still be able to export to the United States a substantial quota of textiles under a formula that would provide for gradual increases. But this would have to be based upon restrictions that would take care of some possible negative effects on American industry from year to year.

What is puzzling about the whole matter is the reluctance of the Japanese to deal directly at all times with the State Department and set up voluntary quotas that would give the American textile industry a chance to survive. Instead, the controversy has been allowed to drag on and, finally, the quota that was offered as "voluntary" is so big that the industry thinks the program would be destructive rather than constructive.

Many members of Congress do not have textile plants in their home states, but the principle of protectionism applies to other products as well. For there are a number of countries which export goods to the United States that are in competition with American businesses and workers. Once a quota system is established, it will be a useful formula to extend to other industries and will help several industries which are worried today about low-priced foreign imports.

They were replaced with men loyal to Brezhnev.

The Brezhnev "personality cult" also continued to expand. His partisans even printed a two-volume edition of his "works" which were designed to depict the mediocre man as a "great" Marxist-Leninist ideologist. The "works" were unimpressive, to be sure. Most of Brezhnev's proteges. All the eulogistic references to predecessor had to be deleted. Specious efforts to polish Brezhnev's image as a worthy successor to Lenin and Stalin go on unabated.

Under the circumstances, no Soviet politician who cares about his own political future has much energy to spare these days for major Soviet foreign policy initiatives. Even West German Chancellor Willy Brandt has had to scale down his earlier optimism about a speedy agreement with Moscow.

He made it clear that there could be no real detente between Russia and Bonn if West Berlin remained in a state of tension. The Russians have much to gain from an agreement with West Germany. But the Soviet leadership is clearly not capable at this time of making a statesmanlike decision on Berlin which Brandt requires to convince Bonn's Bundestag to ratify the "nonaggression" treaty he signed in Moscow last August.

There is no doubt that Brezhnev is fighting for his political life. He is still the frontrunner. He can win only if a majority of the Red Army's generals rally to his reactionary banner.

Jack Anderson Says U.S. Rainmakers Proving Success Over the Ho Chi Minh Trails

WASHINGTON — Air Force rainmakers, operating secretly in the skies over the Ho Chi Minh trail network, have succeeded in turning the weather against the North Vietnamese.

These strange weather warriors seed the clouds during the monsoons in an attempt to concentrate more rainfall upon the trails and wash them out.

The hush-hush project, known by the code name "Intermediary - Compatriot," was started in 1967, to hamper enemy logistics. Those who fly the rainmaking missions believe they have increased the precipitation over the jungle roadways during the wet seasons.

Their monthly reports, stamped "Top Secret Spec" (Special Category), have claimed success in creating manmade cloudbursts over the trail complex. These assertedly have caused flooding conditions along the trails, making them impassable.

The Ho Chi Minh trails will get their next monsoon bath from May to September. During this season, the South Vietnamese are expected to pull out of Laos and leave it to the rains to stop the flow of enemy supplies down the trails. Only those with top secrecy clearance knew, until now, that nature would be assisted by the U.S. Air Force.

An Air Force weathermaker, answering our questions guardedly, said the "Intermediary - Compatriot" project is more experimental than operational. The experts still aren't sure, he said, whether cloudbursts that occur after seeding would not have taken place anyway.

However, the evidence is persuasive if not conclusive, he acknowledged, that it is possible not only to increase precipitation but to concentrate it upon a target area.

In 1969, the Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos asked the U.S. to employ its latest weather modification techniques to relieve a drought in the islands. The Air Force sent its rainmakers to seed the clouds over the Philippines, and a substantial downpour followed.

The only trouble with rain, as Jesus Christ pointed out in His sermon on the mount, is that it falls on the just and the unjust alike. The same cloudbursts that have flooded the Ho Chi Minh trails reportedly have also washed out some Laotian villages. This is the reason, presumably, that the Air Force has kept its weathermaking triumphs in Indochina so secret.

Nixon's Secret Pledge

President Nixon withheld some intriguing information about his wife from the nine newsmen who talked to him about the First Lady on the eve of her 59th birthday.

He didn't tell how hard Pat Nixon tried to persuade him to give up politics. Nor did he mention that tucked among her private papers is an extraordinary pledge that she made him sign after the bruising 1952 campaign.

She got him to put in writing a promise that he would quit politics. But Pat Nixon soon learned that even a wife can't count on a political promise. He ran again for Vice President in 1956, then for President in 1960.

Intimates say Pat was "supremely happy" after her husband lost to John F. Kennedy and settled down to becoming a successful California lawyer. She wanted nothing more, they say, than a real home and a husband who worked regular hours. But Richard Nixon still hadn't gotten over the political bug. Despite Pat's strenuous objections, he ran for the governorship of California in 1962. His defeat was one of the lowest points of their lives.

Once again she persuaded him to give up public life. She encouraged him to move the family — lock, stock and law clients — to New York City. The way to make sure he stayed out of politics, she reasoned, was to pull up his political roots and transplant them in Nelson Rockefeller's territory.

Pat's Strategy

She mistakenly concluded that her husband could never stage a political comeback in Rockefeller country, and she settled down again to the private life she had always wanted.

It ended in 1968. As usual she played the good soldier and campaigned for her husband. But her friends, noting that she was less active than in the past, suspected her heart wasn't in it.

These friends agree emphatically with the President that Pat isn't the bland and brittle blonde she appears to be in pictures and that she has extraordinary stamina for a woman who seems so thin and fragile.

She wears long-sleeved gowns to cover her bony shoulders. And the White House physician, Dr. Walter Tkach, feeds her malts with eggs in a vain attempt to put some weight on her.

But behind the skin and bones and frozen smile, she is a warm, gracious, sensitive woman to whom children instinctively draw. She also maintains a healthy irreverence toward her famous husband.

On more than one occasion, her friends say, she has taken him aside after a speech and deflated his ego with pinprick criticism. "That man will never get a swelled head as long as Pat is his wife," one intimate of the Nixons told us.

Of all the recent First Ladies, say intimates, Mrs. Nixon is most like Bess Truman. Mrs. Truman was a homebody who shied away from publicity. But she was an artist at the tug-of-the-coat-sleeve and the under-the-table kick when Harry Truman was feeling explosive. Pat Nixon, if more subtle, is equally effective.

On one occasion, the Nixons were entertaining visitors, and RN was expounding mightily on world problems. Pat passed quietly among the guests with a tray of hors d'oeuvres. "Why don't you have some of these?" she asked sweetly. "They're much better than the baloney he's handing out."

Henry J. Taylor Says National Days in Red China

These are national days in Red China, days contrived for a nationwide chant: "Mao Chu Hsi Wan Sui" — "Long Live Chairman Mao."

In China a mere 19 million Communist party members control more than 730 million people. But this is easy when you command the four essentials of dictatorship: the army, the secret police, the weapons supply, the food supply. And moon-faced Mao Tse-tung, now 78, and his wife Chiang Ch'ing, a former Red guerrilla fighter, exercise their bicéphalous command like the head of a hammer.

No wonder 11 million Chinese fled to Formosa when Mao took over mainland China. No wonder that some time ago, representing 17 million overseas Chinese, 285 organizations in 47 countries signed an advertisement in the free world press opposing admission of Red China to the United Nations and thus "to refrain from giving aid and comfort to Mao Tse-tung."

The ancient Chinese had a saying: "May you live in interesting times." But the Chinese wished it to their enemies. So does Mao, racked by greed, green with envy, totally devoted to power and to himself. His own admissions sound like Gilbert and Sullivan's pirate singing, "Shall we kill him now, or later?"

Mao's regime has slaughtered, exiled and imprisoned millions. It has killed more, in fact, than did Stalin and Hitler combined. And this does not include the Mao-instigated Red student riots that killed additional countless Chinese and convulsed millions into a renewed support of Mao.

The Red Chinese army is called the People's Liberation Army (PLA), and, behind the scenes, the PLA was really behind this ghastly purge.

You must add, as well, those deliberately starved, and on a scale even larger than Stalin used in the Ukraine. For example, during the last two famine years throughout most of China Mao exported 200,000 tons of rice a year to Castro's Cuba. He was more interested in helping America's Red enemy in the Western Hemisphere than in his own starving people.

Mao land the irrepressible, dangerous Chiang Ch'ing, her ambitious eyes as hot as the Gobi, live in the Forbidden City, the reserve of China's former emperors in the heart of Peking, always formerly called the Celestial Kingdom. Peking itself has the musical sound of any Oriental city selling its wares — the whole city buzzing with flies, brays and conversation. But Peking always had a special charm and was regarded by Western ambassadors as one of the world's most delightful and desirable posts. They can grow as sentimental about this as homing pigeons.

A willow-fringed medieval moat surrounds the high gray battlements of the Forbidden City's ancient wall. The compound covers a square mile. Its heart is a vast complex of palaces, pavilions and houses with golden-tiled roofs and swallows usually wheeling and dipping above them. This central complex opens onto a beautiful area known as Chung Nan Hsi, the South Lake — a lovely lake like a plate of slate, where the pre-dawn dew is amazingly deep, and in the morning the loons call in the piercing sunlight and the Peking ducks settle gently or dive with a timid pride.

But the Public Security Bureau secret police are also there — everywhere and always — like half-submerged hulks lunging mysteriously to the surface when you least expect them. They are a very formidable crew, commanded by iron-fisted Wang T'ang-hsing. Chiang Ch'ing's proteges, whose memory is the terror of all of Mao's rivals.

On national days tens of thousands of marchers are assembled at the Forbidden City's Gate of the Heavenly Peace. They're equipped with bamboo poles bearing the enormous red banners of communism that blaze the "Mao Chu Hsi Wan Sui" slogan, and are carefully drilled to chant and push through the broad streets.

The oration is usually given by Marshal Lin Piao, Mao's disciple and apparent chosen successor is he survived Mao, in his nasal voice as cold and hollow as an echo from the back of a dripping cave.

While Lin Piao bellows his rears of persuasive drivel, Mao himself stands beside him in godlike silence. And next to Mao stands Chiang Ch'ing in godlike silence, too.

There is an old Confucianist prayer: "Dear Lord, make this a better world and please begin with me." But that was the former Peking and the ancient Chinese — long before China was booby-trapped.

Freeman Readers Write the Editor

County District Attorney's Office was the second worst in the state. That in itself points to a definite lack of efficiency. But a lack of efficiency is not the worst way in which a district attorney's office can fail to carry out its responsibility to the public.

An impartial, non-political agency of the ombudsman type, with the authority to oversee the operation of the District Attorney's Office, might go a long way to insure equal treatment for everyone before the bar of Justice. Whatever tendencies there may now be to overlook the transgressions of the politically powerful might be effectively curtailed. If the district attorney is doing the best job possible, one wonders why he should object so strongly to an impartial examination by a non-political agency.

Rev. Kinsolving Articles

Editor, The Freeman:
I am in agreement with Rev. Gary L. Mehl when he expresses his dismay at the type of journalism used by Rev. Kinsolving. I can only ask, also, one single question concerning the protection of the citizens they represent.

'A Pigeon's Solution to Human Problems'

Perhaps we should use this sterilization process on the citizens of Barclay Heights. Eventually as the population decreases, our sewage and surface water problems would cease. There would be fewer outspoken, concerned, bothersome citizens asking questions and expecting answers.

In conclusion:
Keep your chin above the polluted surface water and your feet out of the muck, unless of course, you have wings!

Supervising Criminal Justice

Editor, The Freeman:
One of the more ominous conditions that currently confront our society is the shoddy way in which some elected officials carry out their duties, and their simultaneous tendency to reject out of hand measures that would subject them to objective review. A recent position taken by the Ulster County District Attorney is perhaps a good case in point.

There is currently before the State Legislature a bill that would set up a division of criminal justice to supervise all law enforcement agencies in the state. Those who favor the bill point out that some district attorneys have a tendency to make questionable deals in too many of the cases that are brought to them, and that there are often gross inconsistencies in the manner in which cases are presented to grand juries. The object of the bill is to insure fair and equal treatment for all, and to do away with favoritism. The bill passed in the 1970 Legislature, even though Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and State Senator Jay P. Rolison voted against it. If it passes again this year, it will be placed on the ballot in November for the voters approval. Francis J. Vogt, the Ulster County District Attorney, is opposed to the bill. "I can't think of anything we need less than some official appointed by the governor to supervise our activities," he has been quoted as saying. Some of those who have had the opportunity to examine the record of the Ulster County District Attorney's office, however, can't think of anything that office needs more than objective supervision.

One recalls that the Hughes Report showed that the felony conviction rate of the Ulster

County District Attorney is not out of hand? It is high time that we put a stop to all of this nonsense, buckled down to some work, and weeded out these leeches of society. The people who care about America may decide to go all out for a new system the next election day. Ten million voters can't be entirely wrong.

Thank you.

Goodell Calls on Libs To Dump Nixon in '72

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For-mer Sen. Charles E. Goodell of New York said today liberal Republicans should start laying the groundwork for a possible "dump Nixon" movement in 1972.

Goodell predicted Nixon would dump Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in 1972 and choose a running mate "who is relatively uncontroversial ... a political enigma."

Goodell, defeated last fall at least in part because of opposition from President Nixon, criticized the President for "widening" the Indochina war and for his handling of domestic problems, adding, "I would support opposition to the President now."

Goodell said he was not "urging open revolt" within the party at this time but is meeting with dissident GOP liberals throughout the country "to see if we can get a significant insurgency within the Republican party with the intent

Anti-pollution and other environmental benefits have been emphasized in the development of the Ulster County Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) for 1971, according to John Snyder, local farm lead. "REAP was formerly ACP — the Agricultural Conservation Program, which has been operative in Ulster County for many years," Snyder said. "The name change is the key to the program change. Long-range preservation of the environment and more public benefits are being emphasized." "Lower priority is being placed on conservation practices which are production-oriented or which provide only temporary benefits," he said. "In considering applications by farmers, as individuals or in groups, the county ASC Committee will give first priority to those which will best improve the community environment and provide the most public benefits," Snyder said. Encouragement will be given to such farmland conservation measures as dams and ponds, permanent grass cover, sod waterways, buffer strips, and tree plantings, all of which help retain and slow down water and reduce siltation as the water moves downstream. Practices which help reduce pollution from animal wastes, fertilizers and pesticides also will be encouraged. REAP will continue to be administered by the Ulster Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, 54 John Street, Kingston.

Ellenville YMCA Lists Spring Plans

ELLENVILLE — Zigmund Auerbach, chairman of the Ellenville Branch YMCA Sponsoring Committee, announced today that "The YMCA Spring Program will include instruction in baton twirling, judo for boys and girls, judo for high school and adults, and a Saturday gym program for boys 8 to 12 years old." We are grateful to the school district of Ellenville, said Auerbach, "for their cooperation in helping us with facilities to carry on activities for Ellenville youth."

Baton twirling starts Monday, March 22 at 3:30 p. m. in the elementary school gym, under the supervision of Mrs. George DePuy.

Auerbach said, "We are pleased to have Ellenville Police Chief, William Trappell, as our judo instructor." Judo instruction classes start March 25 at the Ellenville Elementary Gym. Chief Trappell said, "The judo classes will be hard working groups teaching how to fall, discipline and basic defense skills using speed, balance and leverage." The class for boys and girls 10 years old and over will be held from 7 to 8 p. m. The class for adult and high school men and women will be held from 8 to 9 p. m. Minimum number of students in each class is 10 and maximum is 20, so early enrollment is suggested.

The gym program on Saturdays from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. for boys 8 to 12 years old starts Saturday, March 27, in the Elementary Gym.

Application for all of the above classes may be obtained at the school office or from Ace Hardware, 87 Canal Street, Ellenville.

Amendments Start April 1 on Colored Lights

KINGSTON — Amendments to the Vehicle and Traffic Law pertaining to the use of colored lights on vehicles will become effective April 1, it was announced today by the Volunteer Fire Police Association of Ulster County, through its secretary John Sahloff.

Emergency vehicles using colored lights are defined by the new law as "every ambulance, police vehicle and fire vehicle."

The law as it will become effective on April 1 provides that one or more red or combination red and white lights or one white light, which must be a revolving, rotating, oscillating or constantly moving, may be affixed to authorized emergency vehicles, and such lights may be displayed on an authorized emergency vehicle when such a vehicle is engaged in an emergency operation, and upon a fire vehicle while returning from an alarm or fire or other emergency.

The law further states that one blue light may be affixed to any motor vehicle owned by a volunteer member of a fire department or on a motor vehicle owned by a member of such person's family residing in the same household or by a business enterprise in which such person has a proprietary interest or by which he is employed, provided such volunteer fireman has been authorized in writing to so affix a blue light by the chief or the fire department or company of which he is a member, which authorization shall be subjected to revocation at any time by the chief who issued the same or by his successor. Such blue light may be operated by such volunteer fireman on such a vehicle only when engaged in an emergency operation. The use of the blue light does not include returning from a fire.

Five Shoplifting Arrests in Area

NEW PALTZ — Five persons were arrested Wednesday by authorities on charges of petit larceny involving shoplifting of merchandise at area business establishments. One of the defendants also was cited for possessing dangerous drugs. The arrests were made in this village, Rosendale and the Town of Ulster.

An 18-year-old youth was arrested by Highland State Police and accused in the theft of merchandise at the Grand Union Store here. Two others were cited for petit larceny for alleged thefts at the same store.

Sergeant Stanley Kowalik of the Highland State Police reported Roger Polansky of Gardiner was booked on the larceny count and also for criminal possession of dangerous drugs after troopers reportedly found him in possession of a quantity of marijuana.

Arraigned before Town Justice Rexford Schneider, Polansky pleaded innocent to both charges. He was committed to the county jail in lieu of $250 bail on each count and hearing was adjourned until Friday.

Trooper H. R. McKeighan, who arrested Polansky, also cited Cheryl Ann Sawyer, 20, of 42 Church Street, this village for petit larceny. She was accused of stealing merchandise worth $2.40 at the Grand Union store. After pleading guilty before Judge Schneider, the defendant was sentenced to pay a $100 fine or serve 10 days in the county jail. She indicated the fine would be paid.

McKeighan also arrested Robert Simon, 24, of Wallkill, on a petit larceny charge. He was accused of the theft of merchandise worth $2.63 at the Grand Union store. Simon pleaded guilty and was fined $100 or 10 days in jail by Judge Schneider.

Another shoplifting case was reported by the sheriff's office. Sergeant Ray Davis said Lance Morgan Lightstone, 19, of Waukegan, L. I., was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Donald VanAken assisted by Deputy Thomas Cook.

Lightstone was accused of taking two pairs of dungarees valued at $9.96 at Fann's Department Store at the Rosendale Shopping Center. Arraigned before Ulster Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly, the youth pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail or a $50 fine. He paid the fine.

Meanwhile, Kingston State Police reported the arrest of Mrs. Sandra Levy, 38, of 158 Main Street, Kingston, on a petit larceny charge. She was cited on complaint of Mrs. Joan Cramer, personnel manager at Wallace's store in the Ulster Shopping Plaza, who accused the woman of taking a dress and pillow cases from the store valued at $33.

Mrs. Levy pleaded innocent before Justice Reilly who released her and adjourned hearing until March 24. Trooper B. G. McNab assisted in the arrest.

Mistreatment Denied By Auburn Guards

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP)—Another group of prison guards and law officers has trooped to the witness stand at a federal hearing here to deny any mistreatment of inmates during an earlier county court appearance.

The testimony by Auburn State Correctional Facility guards and Cayuga County sheriff's deputies came Wednesday at a U.S. District Court hearing on six inmates' request for transfer to federal custody.

The six say they cannot properly prepare their defense of assault and robbery charges while they remain in the custody of guards who have testified against them previously.

The charges resulted from a Nov. 4 riot at the prison.

The prisoners have testified before Judge Edmund Fort that they were beaten, intimidated and harassed in the segregation unit of the prison. They also have charged officers with beating some of their number when they allegedly refused to leave their county court arraignment by Clark.

One of the correction officers who brought the prisoners to court during that arraignment, Robert Oaks, testified Wednesday that two of the inmates, Harold Johnson and Russell Prout, complained that their leg irons were too tight and refused to walk.

They kicked guards and had to be restrained while they were being carried to a van, Oaks said.

He then showed the court a scar on his left leg that he said was inflicted by a prisoner.

Four county deputies also testified that they did not beat or insult the inmates.

The deputies carried one of the prisoners, Robert Clark, from the courtroom when he allegedly refused to leave at the end of the session. Deputy Francis Piorkowski said Clark was struggling while being carried.

Deputy Peter Pinckney and Sgt. Joseph Bradan testified that they were bitten on the fingers by Clark.

Priests Ask Church: Let Us Get Married

BALTIMORE (UPI) — An organization representing 34,000 priests in the United States asked the Roman Catholic church Wednesday night to grant priests permission to marry.

The 209 delegates of the National Federation of Catholic Priests Councils, largest organization of priests in the United States, recommended an end to mandatory celibacy in a six-page "statement of renewal."

The document will be sent to the International Synod of Bishops for consideration when it meets in Rome in September. The celibacy clause recommended the choice of marriage or celibacy be given immediately to priests now active in the ministry.

Dioceses should be allowed to admit married men as candidates for the priesthood and priests who left the ministry to

Stone Ridge Dance

Paper Company Ordered to Halt Waste Discharge

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The International Paper Co. of Ticonderoga has been ordered to halt all discharges of industrial waste into a Lake George outlet Cerrito in Essex County Supreme Court.

The order, announced here by Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, was issued by Justice D. Vincent.

Innocent Plea On Harassment

TOWN OF HURLEY — A 24-year-old Saugerties man was arrested Wednesday by deputy sheriffs on a charge of harassment following an incident at the Maverick Inn on Route 28 in Glenford.

According to Sergeant Ray Davis, Michael Sparks of Route 4, Box 126 F. Ulster Landing Road, Town of Saugerties, was cited on the complaint of Fritz Charles Bishop.

Dobler, owner of the inn, who accused the defendant of causing a disturbance and using obscene language at the establishment.

Sparks pleaded innocent before Town Justice C. H. Dumond. He was released in $500 bail and hearing was adjourned until March 23. The arrest was made by Corporal Douglas Van Giesen assisted by Deputy Charles Bishop.

The company also was ordered to end all operations of an 88-year-old mill in Ticonderoga, which was replaced recently by a new plant.

I.P.C. consented to the judgment but did not admit a violation of the law. The judgment provides for a penalty of $500 plus $100 a day if the company fails to comply.

The company had been charged with polluting Lake George and Lake Champlain. It expects to stop its pollution with the use of the new mill.

Burke was the sixth person indicted by the jury since it began its investigation of the school district's affairs.

Dr. Ina C. Sartorius of Accord, well known educator and a charter member of the Ulster County Community College Board of Trustees died in Kingston Wednesday night.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced by the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson.

Dr. Sartorius, wife of John Sartorius, was a former school teacher and had devoted her life to education. She held numerous degrees including a PhD from Columbia University Teachers College. She had done professional work in education in Connecticut and was the author of several textbooks. She resigned her post with the UCCB board of trustees in 1967 for health reasons.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Anthony Colombo, the son of Joseph Colombo Sr., filed a $1 million suit against the Columbia Broadcasting System and its local affiliate, WCBS television, Wednesday for a newscast which described him as a "reputed Mafia leader."

Barry Slotnik, an attorney who has represented the Colombo family in the past and serves as counsel for the Italian American Civil Rights League, said Anthony Colombo "has never been arrested, never been subpoenaed and never has had any conflict with the law whatsoever."

The suit stems from a broadcast last June 26 and alleges the network and WCBS knew the statement was "untrue" when it was broadcast.

A spokesman for the television station said the complaint had been received and was under study but had no further comment on the charges.

Anthony's father, Joseph, was arrested recently on grand larceny charges in Nassau County. A younger brother, Joseph Colombo Jr., was recently acquitted on charges of conspiring to melt down $20,000 worth of silver coins to retrieve the value of the silver in them.

Anthony Colombo was described in the suit as a vice president of the Italian American Civil Rights League which has picketed the New York offices of the FBI charging harassment against Italian Americans.

THE LACKAWANNA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE'S 1970 "MAN OF THE YEAR" was free on $1,500 bond today after pleading innocent to charges in a 15-count indictment.

A special grand jury accused Lester J. Burke of billing the city's school district for equipment it never received. Burke, 60, was charged with forgery, possession of a forged instrument, and offering a false instrument for filing.

The indictment, handed up Tuesday, accuses Burke of filing a $995 claim for a tractor never delivered to the school district. The jury said Burke later filed other claims for $1,650, also for equipment never delivered.

Burke, owner of the Hotel Lackawanna, formerly was a building contractor. He was arraigned Wednesday before Judge William G. Heffron of Erie County Court.

Barry Slotnik, an attorney who has represented the Colombo family in the past and serves as counsel for the Italian American Civil Rights League, said Anthony Colombo "has never been arrested, never been subpoenaed and never has had any conflict with the law whatsoever."

The suit stems from a broadcast last June 26 and alleges the network and WCBS knew the statement was "untrue" when it was broadcast.

A spokesman for the television station said the complaint had been received and was under study but had no further comment on the charges.

Anthony's father, Joseph, was arrested recently on grand larceny charges in Nassau County. A younger brother, Joseph Colombo Jr., was recently acquitted on charges of conspiring to melt down $20,000 worth of silver coins to retrieve the value of the silver in them.

Anthony Colombo was described in the suit as a vice president of the Italian American Civil Rights League which has picketed the New York offices of the FBI charging harassment against Italian Americans.

SAUGERTIES
At a regular meeting of the Saugerties Central School District Board of Education with President Anthony Rizzo presiding, it was voted to set the date of the annual school district meeting on Tuesday, May 4, and the budget vote and election of new board members on Wednesday, May 5.

The board will present its budget of 1971-72 at a public hearing on Tuesday, April 20, at the high school auditorium on Washington Avenue, at 7:30 p.m. Copies of the budget will be made available at that time and may also be obtained at the administration building following that date.

The board's budget may be amended only by a ballot vote on May 5. Qualified voters of the district who wish to suggest amendments must submit a petition duly signed by a minimum of 100 qualified voters not less than six days prior to the vote, April 29.

Petitions nominating candidates for the Board of Education must be filed with the district clerk at the administration building on Hill Street not later than April 21. The candidates receiving the three highest number of votes will be elected.

Polls will be open for voting on the budget and board candidates on Wednesday, May 5 between the hours of noon and 9 p.m. in the Main Street School gymnasium.

The annual meeting will be held in the Senior High School auditorium on Washington Avenue at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, May 4.

Mrs. Ingrid Sternberg and William Provost, elementary teachers, demonstrated the use of recording cassettes and the overhead projector.

Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, announced that a grant of $3,859.00 has been made available under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act — Title II.

A letter from the New York State School Boards Association was read urging citizens to meet in Albany on March 24 to emphasize "Public Education Day".

A request for recognition of an organization as a representative for bargaining purposes of two bargaining units which have not been combined was denied.

The following professional personnel were recommended for tenure by Dr. Arnold and the recommendations were unanimously accepted by the board: David Baker, Mrs. Ann Bergin, George Cosenza, Mrs. Virginia Hancock, Mrs. Joan Hopf, Mrs. Roberta Place, Mrs. Patricia Potter, Robert Potter, William Robinson, Mrs. Terrie Rosenblum, Mrs. Ann Marie Simmons, Miss Diana Sofronoy, Mrs. Patricia Tonzi, Thomas Whelan, and Dennis Wurzel.

Charles Emerick reported on

BOCES; Donald Calderwood for the building committee; John O'Rourke for the budget committee; Philip Meade regarding the meeting with PTA concerned with playground equipment; and President Rizzo on Ulster County School Boards Association.

Permission was granted to the PTA's to purchase playground equipment for the elementary schools at no expense to the district with the selection of equipment to be approved by a committee composed of the director of health and physical education, the supervisor of buildings and grounds, and the principal and physical education teacher of the building.

A list of tax corrections was approved.

The director of the high school band was authorized to proceed with plans to raise money through public support to provide uniforms for the band.

Leaves of absence were granted to Mrs. Margaret White, Mrs. Dolores LaChance, Mrs. Betsy Hill, and Mrs. Rosemary Cordani.

The resignation of Mrs. Joanne Haskel was accepted.

Reinstated as elementary teachers beginning September 1971, upon completion of a leave of absence, were Mrs. Mary Stewart, and Mrs. Barbara Stewart.

An inservice course in elementary reading was approved for the 1971-72 school year, and Mrs. Hermione Mills was approved to teach the course.

Mayone Speaks to Morse PTA

SAUGERTIES
Thomas Mayone, special investigator for the Ulster County District Attorney's Office, was guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Grant D. Morse School PTA attended by more than 100 persons.

Mayone explained that the drug problem in Saugerties is more serious now than it was three years ago and the "hush-hush" approach is not the answer. He said that in the past several months, five persons from the Saugerties area have gone to rehabilitation hospitals.

He urged the home, school and community work together to combat drugs.

Mrs. James Chase was program chairman and refreshments were arranged by Mrs. George Fetty, Mrs. Michael Sheehan and Mrs. George Augustine.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. John Weglarz, vice president of the PTA, Ward Schelling, fundraising chairman, gave a report on the successful bake sale held in February. Following this report, a new fund-raising project was introduced. A benefit movie, "Cromwell," will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre, April 14 thru 20. Matinees will be shown on Saturday and Sunday. Only those tickets sold prior to the running of the movie will benefit PTA. It is a first run film starring Alec Guinness and Richard Harris.

Mrs. John Giannone, a Morse kindergarten teacher, explained the perceptua screening test which will be given to each kindergarten pupil before the close of the school year. The test will be used to locate areas where children may need special help. PTA volunteers will assist with the testing, under the supervision of the school psychologist, Kevin Graham, and the kindergarten teachers.

Philip Meade expressed a definite need for closer PTA-School Board relationships in order that the people may be better informed about the affairs of their schools.

Grand Union Helping State Put Rubella in (Shopping) Bag

MRS. VALERIE DWORCK, DAUGHTER KRISTINE AND HINMAN (L-R)

ALBANY — New York State Department of Health's five-year rubella immunization program received 10 million bag's worth of support from Grand Union Company recently.

The first grocery bag bearing the message "immunizing today's children protects tomorrow's children" rolled off the press into the hands of Dr. Alan Hinman, director of the Department's Bureau of Epidemiology, which is coordinating the State Rubella Information Program, and Jean Judge, director of consumer affairs for Grand Union.

Also representing the New York State Department of Health at the mammoth bag-in was Dr. David Ross, regional health director.

Grand Union is printing the rubella grocery bags as a public service. The large food merchandiser will distribute the bags in April to millions of shoppers through its 275 stores in the New York State area.

In addition to the printed message, the bag displays an illustration used in the current state rubella immunization effort. A rubella umbrella, symbolizing the Department of Health's rubella umbrella, symbolizing the Department of Health's rubella immunization program, hovers over a mother, her young son and her baby daughter.

"The Grand Union bag is destined to reach millions of families in New York State," said Hinman. "We greatly appreciate Grand Union's efforts in behalf of the Department of Health's campaign to eradicate rubella."

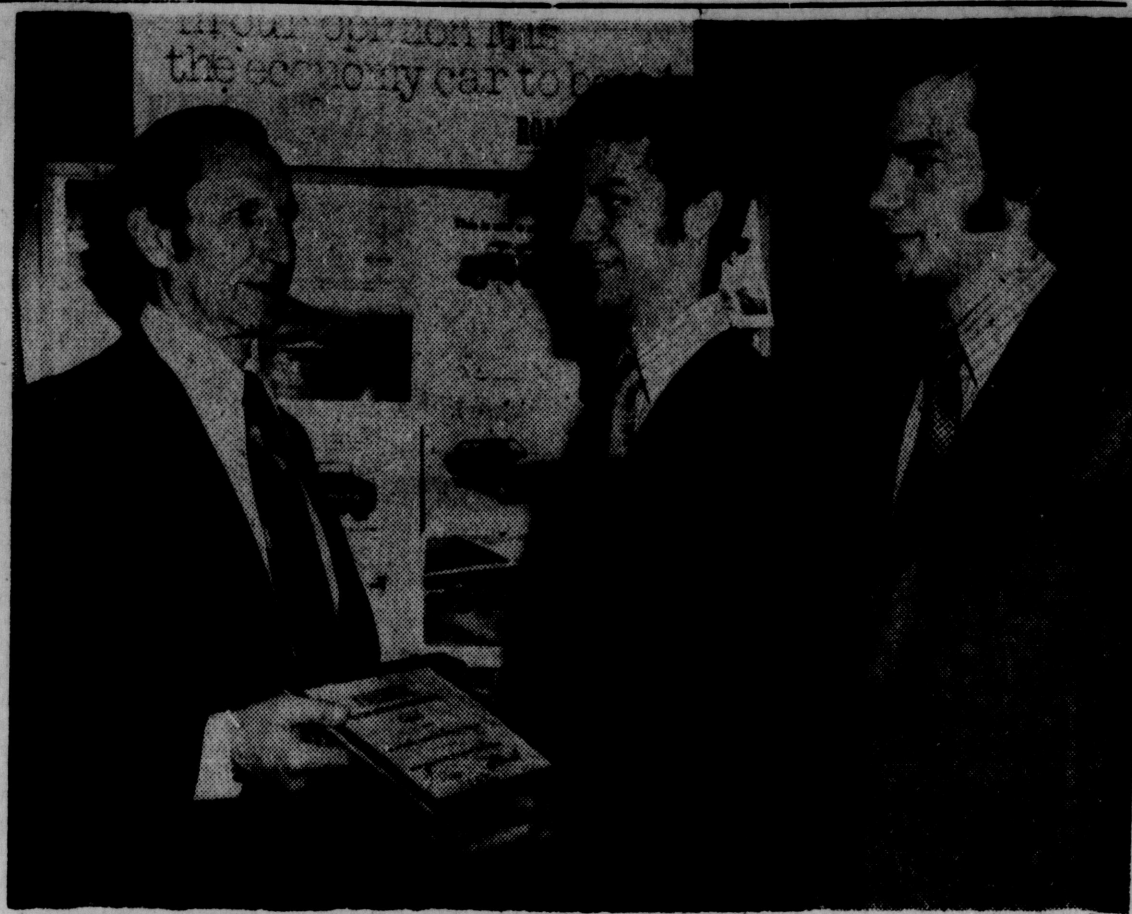

Rubella immunization of boys and girls entering school for the first time is now a New York State law. "All children between the ages of one and 12 should be immunized in order to protect expectant mothers who might contract rubella and pass it on to the unborn fetus," Hinman noted.

Rubella, also known as German measles (as the grocery bag points out), is a common childhood disease. It is usually not serious to boys and girls but can be a tragic cripple of unborn babies if transmitted to pregnant women.

The last rubella epidemic occurred in 1964 and 1965, and resulted in the birth of 20,000 deformed babies and 20,000 miscarriages nationwide. Another outbreak of rubella is anticipated in the next year or two. The efforts of Grand Union are in cooperation with the overall State program to avoid another rubella epidemic.

Cassaniti Appointed At Clinton

KINGSTON — Louis Cassaniti has been appointed assistant manager of the Governor Clinton Hotel, it was announced recently.

Cassaniti will be in charge of reorganizing existing services at the hotel, with special emphasis given to the extensive renovation program that is currently being undertaken by the owners of the historic up-town building.

Among the renovations and improvements that Cassaniti will oversee are installation of a new telephone system, improvement of banquet services and the addition of new residential and commercial apartments within the building.

Cassaniti said many of his efforts will be directed at attracting increased convention trade and tours.

Prior to joining the staff at the Governor Clinton, Cassaniti served as a restaurant manager for three years and handled hotel operations for two years at the Statler Club of Cornell University.

He graduated from Paul Smith's College in Paul Smith, N.Y.

Cassaniti's appointment was announced by N. Jansen Fowler, president of the Kingston Hotel Corporation and acting manager of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

IBM Gives Driscoll Promotion

KINGSTON — Earl F. Wheeler, director of the IBM Kingston Laboratory, has announced the promotion of John F. Driscoll to Communications Systems manager, Health and Welfare Systems.

In his new position, Driscoll is responsible for providing the IBM Systems Development Division's strategies and product plans for communication and complex systems in the health and welfare industries.

Driscoll joined IBM in January 1956 as a field engineering student and was assigned to the Sage Experimental Sub-sector in Lexington, Mass. from July 1956 to February 1957. He returned to Field Technical Liaison in Kingston where he was promoted to associate engineer in 1958 and to technical assistant in 1960.

In December 1960, Driscoll was promoted to staff engineer in Air Traffic Control Support at Atlantic City, N.J.

In July 1963 he returned to Kingston as a project engineer in Data Acquisition Systems. He was promoted to development engineer in Special Systems Support in 1964 and promoted to senior engineer in that area in 1967.

Driscoll, his wife Edythe and three sons, reside in Saugerties.

Kingston Savings Bank clears up the interest rate confusion.

There are lots of ways and places to save. So many, in fact, that if you want the highest possible return on your savings, it can get a little confusing, trying to figure out how and where to get it.

We'd like to clear things up a bit.

Kingston Savings Bank has six ways to save. They're all described here. Read and decide which way is best for you. Then, remember this: no other bank pays higher dividends. And, some banks pay less.

6% per year, compounded daily and paid quarterly.
You deposit $1,000 or more, for a specified term, from 2 to 5 years.

5.75% per year, compounded daily and paid quarterly.
You deposit $1,000 or more, for one year.

5.25% per year, compounded daily and paid quarterly.
You deposit $1,000 or more, for 90 days.

5% per year, compounded daily and paid quarterly.
Deposits made by the 10th of any month earn 5% from the first of that month, and from then on from day of deposit.

5% per year, compounded daily, and credited for whatever number of days your money is on deposit, as long as a balance of $10 remains to the end of the quarter. Our Day of Deposit to Day of Withdrawal Accounts.

On term accounts — 6%, 5.75%, and 5.25% — you can choose to receive your interest at the end of each quarter, or leave the interest in your account to earn interest on that interest.

If you have $100,000 or more, come in and discuss a special plan tailored for you.

Mrs. Salapatis...It Was a Chamber First

KINGSTON The Irish eyes were shining on Mrs. Lillian Salapatis Wednesday morning, the surprise and popular winner of the annual "Irishman of the Year" award presented by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

ident of the Chamber of Commerce, read the "solemn proclamation" naming Mrs. Salapatis this year's winner of the "Royal Order of the Blarney Stone." A warm and enthusiastic ovation guided this year's reigning Irishwoman to the podium at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

"Words really fail me," said Mrs. Salapatis, but she found enough to say, "I just worship you all and wish you all a happy St. Patrick's Day." "I just want to say thank you... it was such a shock." It may have been a shock to Mrs. Salapatis, but the 80 break-Irishwoman to the podium at the Governor Clinton Hotel, she admirably met the qualifications required for the honor: a hale and hearty outlook, a willingness to help others, a smile on her face and a constant display of typical Irish spirit. A "typical" Irish name, obviously, was not one of the prerequisites for selection. Mrs. Salapatis succeeded Tony Pizarella as Kingston's honorary Irishman.

chairman of the American Cancer Society and, in 1968, was named Woman of the Year by the Ulster County Young Republicans. She is a member of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, Mental Health Association, Federation of Women's Clubs and American Legion Auxiliary, Tillson Post.

directly to The Freeman office. Eventual expansion of The Freeman to include a Sunday edition will occur "when the time is opportune," he commented. "It strongly depends on the circumstances."

When questioned about The Freeman's long range goals, Barrecchia said that the newspaper's top priority "is to maintain a place as the foremost news carrier in this area" and to "continue its present relations with the community."

As evidence of The Freeman's increasing impact on the Ulster-Dutchess community, Barrecchia cited a four-year circulation increase of 4,000, from 19,000 in 1967 to 23,000 today, a growth rate he termed, "almost phenomenal." He anticipated further circulation growth but admitted that it was unlikely that circulation would expand at a rate comparable to the past four years.

In response to another question, Barrecchia estimated that "about 90 per cent" of all the letters to The Editor submitted to The Freeman are printed. He explained that the only criteria for publication are that the letters be signed, verified, literate and that they contain no profanity.

"There are no problems" publishing a newspaper, commented Barrecchia, "but we are confronted with a challenge every half hour. We're working against a deadline and trying to put together the most attractive package possible in a given amount of space and time." "It's a contest, not a problem," he concluded.

Rondout Votes Against Approval Of Ulster County BOCES Budget

STONE RIDGE Rondout Valley High School Board, meeting Tuesday night, voted unanimously not to approve the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services budget.

According to John Basten, district clerk, the board agreed that should the present BOCES budget be passed, Rondout Valley Schools will withdraw from the BOCES math and English programs and will probably take place on May 5 from noon to 9 p.m. in the high school resources (R&A) for the year gymnasium.

The board also recommended be on Saturday, April 17 and that the post of assistant superintendent be filled and that on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 26, dates for the position, Rondout, 27, 28 from 7 to 9 p.m. In past years, had such a post but had not made any attempt to fill it during the last few years.

The board voted further to include a resolution to be presented to the voters calling for 7:30 p.m. in Marlletown School, the purchase of three 66-passenger conventional school buses. It also recommended the annual meeting and Robert that all contract bus routes be rebid.

May 4 was set as the date of the class size committee and for the annual meeting to be heard a report of the superintendent of schools, Robert A.

Robertaccio, who presented Four requests for two-year Edward Poenicke, creator of a maternity leaves of absence were granted to Mrs. Barbara Fernandez, Mrs. Paula Bell and Mrs. Katherine Gillis. Also an extension of one year for a maternity leave for Mrs. Jean Waruch was granted.

Staff appointment was approved for Harry Snyder who will teach general music in the Middle School on a probationary basis. He replaces Mrs. Elizabeth Shaw who has resigned.

The resignation of Mrs. Veronica Sommer, teacher aide in Accord School was accepted. Mrs. Caroline Johnson was named to replace Mrs. Sommer.

43 Nurses Are Licensed, Passed Exam

NEW PALTZ Forty-three practical nurses who attended classes sponsored by the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services were licensed recently after passing a professional examination, it was announced by Ulster BOCES officials.

Forty-nine prospective nurses took the exam, it was pointed out by Michael M. Aronica, director of vocational education, with only six failing to achieve a satisfactory score. Passing the test were 16 of the 17 graduates of the secondary curriculum (where nursing is part of their high school education), 11 of the 12 adults and 16 of the 20 participants in the State Manpower Training Program.

Aronica explained further that 20 high school girls completed the nursing program and graduated from their respective high schools.

The composite record for the past five years, reported by Dr. Jack L. Roosa, district superintendent, disclosed that 69 high school program graduates have been duly licensed, in addition to 30 adults in the past three years and one Manpower class of 16.

Roosa added that the total of 115 practical nurses for Ulster County does not include two classes of adults graduated under the sponsorship of Kingston High School during the first two years of the program.

A majority of the graduates of the program, it was pointed out, are currently working at Benedictine and Kingston Hospitals. In addition, several of the graduates are participating in courses leading to registered nurse status.

AFS Program Set Friday at Olivebridge

OLIVEBRIDGE An American Field Service International Scholarships Community get-together is planned for Friday at 8 p.m. in Olivebridge Methodist Church, Town of Olive. Mrs. Alice Crost, president of Ontario Branch of AFS International Scholarships, will explain the purpose of this organization which arranges for sending students to study and travel in foreign countries.

Marie Snyder, who returned last month from Montevideo, Uruguay, will speak and show slides describing the highlights of her year of study and travel abroad. Miss Snyder is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snyder of Olivebridge.

Sharing the evening's program with Miss Snyder will be Eva Arza, AFS International Scholarships student from Asuncion, Paraguay. A guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Goddard of Woodstock, Miss Arza will describe life and customs in her country, particularly in relation to teenagers.

Residents and parents of pupils of Ontario School District are invited. A question-answer session will be conducted to help guests better understand the opportunities available to present and prospective juniors and seniors of Ontario High School. Refreshments will be served.

Buckminster Fuller

Futureologist Coming to UCCC

CONTRIBUTION — Stephen Moncure (L) the Student Government Organization president at Ulster County Community College, receives a contribution from Paul Sturges, of Stone Ridge. The students are conducting a fund drive to buy materials to build a dome on the campus for the appearance of Buckminster Fuller on April 20. Fuller, a distinguished architect, has gained fame for his geodesic domes.

STONE RIDGE will donate funds for the project. Buckminster Fuller, a distinguished architect, inventor and philosopher who has gained fame for his geodesic domes, will appear at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College on Tuesday, April 20, under sponsorship of the Student Government Organization.

"We're extremely pleased to be able to bring a futureologist like Dr. Fuller to our College," said Stephen Moncure, the S.G.O. president, "and for the occasion we plan to build a geodesic dome on the campus."

Moncure said UCCC students are conducting a fund drive to raise money to buy materials for the dome. The dome will be constructed by students and faculty members before Dr. Fuller appears April 20.

Moncure said Paul Sturges, of Stone Ridge, an industrial consultant who specializes in heat exchange, had aided the S.G.O. in getting Fuller, with whom he has been acquainted in the past, to come to the Stone Ridge campus.

Sturges has contributed to the fund drive for materials for the dome and Moncure said he is hopeful that other area residents will donate funds for the project. Dr. Fuller's geodesic domes have been universally recognized to be the strongest, lightest and most efficient shelters ever devised.

Although he never completed his freshman year at Harvard, Dr. Fuller presently is a distinguished professor, a gold medalist, an Oxford don, and the holder of 21 honorary degrees. He has written nine books and been written up extensively in newspapers and magazine and been the subject of TV specials.

The great appeal of Buckminster Fuller to college students appears to lie with his optimistic beliefs for the future, his scorn of traditional structures and his dismissal of tradition.

He predicted the present environmental crises more than 40 years ago and foresaw the great technological leap that would follow World War II about 40 years before the war.

Fuller felt that most of his inventions wouldn't receive serious consideration until his life was almost over because the time lag between inventions and their coming into use averaged 22 years in America. The time lag is an even larger 50 years in which he was most involved.

Fuller has been a pioneer of revolutionary technical inventions since he constructed the Dymaxion house in 1927. He has been called a mathematical philosopher.

Police Probing Barn Fire Origin

At the scene. Ellenville State Police were asked to investigate the origin of a minor fire that was discovered shortly after 9:30 p.m.

Meanwhile, Woodstock firemen were dispatched to the Zena School shortly after 7 p.m. after smoke was discovered in the in a barn on the property of Howard Anderson on Route 209 in this community.

Fire Chief Edward Kelder was in charge of firefighters from didn't shut off. Damage was the local company who quickly confined to wiring, it was re-brought the flames under control.

Theatre Group

STONE RIDGE Would you like to attend Broadway and off-Broadway theatre productions without the bother and expense of tiresome driving, parking and arranging for the purchase of tickets?

The Center for Continuing Education at Ulster County Community College will hold an exploratory meeting of all people who are interested in forming a theatre group for this purpose Friday, At 7 p.m., in room 213 of the Hasbrouck Building on the Stone Ridge Campus, the group will explore and discuss the nature of their interests, and the extent to which they wish to participate. All persons interested should attend this meeting in order that their opinions especially the extent to which they wish to financially involve themselves, will be heard.

Pattern Directors In Appeal to Save OPC

NEWBURGH The Board of Directors of Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress has issued an appeal aimed at saving the state Office of Planning Coordination (OPC) from possible extinction in the current debate over cutbacks in Governor Rockefeller's proposed $8.45 billion budget, it was learned today.

In a resolution, passed unanimously by Pattern's 45-member Board of Directors, the state Assembly Ways and Means Committee was urged "to give favorable consideration to keeping the budget and program of the Office of Planning Coordination intact so that it can, at this critical stage in the state's development, continue to offer its valuable services to the citizens of New York State."

Leaders of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee earlier this month proposed the possible elimination of the entire 235 member OPC staff and its $3.7 million budget. Under the proposal, the work of this office would be returned to several state agencies that formerly handled it.

OPC, created in 1967, is charged with coordinating the planning activities of all state departments with those of federal and local governments.

In its formal resolution, which was also sent to area state legislators, Pattern's board cited these major reasons for keeping OPC intact:

—The agency "has provided invaluable planning and coordination services to local governments in the Mid-Hudson and throughout the state."

—It occupies "an essential role in coordinating the programs and policies of a variety of other state agencies to ensure their maximum effectiveness."

—The state's future "hinges in large measure upon its orderly development, and the Office of Planning Coordination has the major responsibility in this regard."

—"State expenditures for the Office of Planning Coordination are, over time, more than repaid by both the money saved as well as that generated as a result of its efforts."

CAP Cadets In Winter Survival Bivouac

Five cadets from the Kingston Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, joined cadets from Dutchess and Taconic Squadrons at a Winter Survival Bivouac recently held on Bald Mountain near Wingdale.

The cadets were given basic survival training and CAP Emergency Services training and had only survival rations to eat during the weekend. Campsite planning and shelter construction were stressed along with how to keep your feet warm and dry.

Senior members who served on the bivouac staff were 2nd Lt. Kipp A. Pells, Bivouac Commander; CWO Lela F. Pells, Administrative Officer; SSG Kenneth W. LaBarr, Training Officer; and AMN Richard Byrd, Supply Officer. Cadet-TSG Richard J. Cramer, served as Flight Sergeant "A."

In addition to Cramer, other cadets who attended from the local squadron were Keith W. Coon; Larry W. Forte; Scott A. Moore; and Greg Murphy.

Civil Air Patrol is the official civilian Auxiliary to the United States Air Force, and conducts air search and rescue operations. The cadet program stresses aerospace education and leadership. Major Lane, Squadron Commander, invites all teenagers to join Civil Air Patrol and attend the regular weekly meetings at the New York State Armory on Manor Avenue on Thursday at 7 p.m.

Woodeshick Signs PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Tom Woodeshick, veteran running back who missed the last nine games of the 1970 National Football League season with a broken right leg, has signed his 1971 contract with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Freeman Show—A Smash Hit

It is a dangerous thing to express appreciation to those who help with a designated project but The Daily Freeman's benefit fashion show for the United Way of Ulster County would never have been realized without the assistance of many wonderful people. To name a few:

Modjeska Sign Studio which furnished an eight foot medallion used as a backdrop on stage at the J. Watson Bailey School Tuesday, March 16. The medallion commemorated the 100th Anniversary of this newspaper. Coordinating this work were Paul and Janet Modjeska and Bill Freer.

Through the courtesy of the Kingston Recreation Department and its director Andy Murphy, the show was provided with a ramp for the 125 models.

Spiesman's Bakery in Kingston provided a special anniversary cake while Britts furnished necessary props.

Coach House Players of Kingston provided helping hands in the persons of Ray Caddy, their stage designer; Bill Chavis, board member;

and George Quartell on lights.

Flowers for the occasion were provided through the courtesy of The Carriage House while Kingston Savings Bank provided door gifts. Also contributing to the success of the show were: Frank Simpson, Ulster County Savings Bank, Valley Gardens Inc., London's, Rondout National Bank, Yardley's, Savings and Loan Association of Kingston; Oneida Silversmiths; Fashion Two Twenty, Colonial City Carpet Company, Hy Green-span, Greenwald's Travel Agency, Gloria Jean's Bridals Plus, Estee Lauder Perfumes, Howard Johnson's, Capri 400 in Port Ewen and Revlon.

Stores represented in the fashion show included: Crick-et Shop, Flah's, Rafalowsky's, Montgomery Ward, Leven-thal's, Sears, Jennifer Shop, Britts, London's, Valley Cas-uals, Holly's Tall Shop, Gloria Jean's Bridals Plus, Gladys Bridals, The Rose Shop, Kaye Sportswear, Hurley Saddle and Wallace's.

Also Tack and Leather Shop, Rhinebeck; Village Closet, New Paltz; Hiberna-tion, Kingston; Sheik Bou-

Cosmetics

All make-up for 1971 Fash-ion Preview was provided through the courtesy of Vanda Beauty Counselors. Assisting Joyce Fasano, Vanda's dis-trict manager in Kingston were Mary Yates, Carol Cris-pino and June Dalton. Assis-ting Carol Mayone, branch district manager in Sauger-ties were Alice Tipp, Susan Lezette and Jeannine Camp-bell.

Vanda conducted a special beauty session prior to the show at the YWCA. The beau-ty specialists gave models a complete skin and beauty treatment and instructed them in the proper use of make-up for the stage.

TRIBUTE IS PAID by officials of United Way of Ulster County to Dorothy A. Narel, woman's page editor of The Daily Freeman, on the occasion of the newspaper's third annual fashion show given in the J. Watson Bailey School in Kingston. Mrs. Narel served as director and general coordinator of the benefit cited as the largest fashion show

300 Voices in Kingston Concert

"Musical Echoes from the Hudson Valley" featuring combined choruses totaling more than 300 voices will be presented at the Community Theatre in Kingston on Sun-day, Apr. 4, by the St. Cabrini Home, Inc.

Organized by Dominick Lo-Faro, musical director at the Home, the program will fea-ture a combined children's chorus drawn from parochial schools throughout the Hud-son Valley. There will also be an adult chorus whose mem-bership will include seminari-ans, nuns, and members of religious orders.

The main performance is scheduled for 8 p.m. and is open to the public with pro-ceeds going to the St. Cabrini Home at West Park, a home for dependent and neglected children. A dress rehearsal at 2 p.m. on April 4 will be open to children at a reduced ticket cost.

Area parochial schools which will be represented in the children's chorus include St. Mary's, Immaculate Con-ception, and St. Joseph's schools of Kingston; St. Augus-tine's school, Highland; and St. Mary's school, Pough-keepsie.

Some of the groups participating in the adult chorus will be Mt. Saint Alphonsus semi-nary, Santa Maria (Christian Brothers) novitiate, and Mar-ist Brothers, Esopus; Marist College, Poughkeepsie; High-land Corale, Highland; Cab-rini High School Corale, New York City; and Mission-ary Sisters from Brooklyn, New Jersey, New York City, and West Park.

Pictorial Coverage on Big Fashion Show

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY—The Freeman's 100th Anniversary was celebrated Tuesday, March 16, at the conclusion of the fashion show given in the J. Watson Bailey School. Spiesman's Bakery in Kingston baked a special anniversary cake for the occasion. Taking part in the on-stage celebration were (l-r) Richard W. Vendettuoli, executive director of United Way of Ulster County; Dorothy A. Narel, director of the show; Joan Conway, advertising and fashion coordinator for the show; Richard L. Treat, publisher, and Bill Chavis of Coach House Players who served as manager of stage properties.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE — Alice Bartz portrays a radiant bride for Gladys Bridals of Kingston in the 1971 Fashion Preview held Tuesday night. The show featured two complete wedding scenes with a section on formal wear for men and women. Also modeling in the wedding scene for Gladys Bridals were Betty Glowinski as the attendant and Kerry Pillsworth as the flower girl.

KNICKERS are the "in" thing this spring and summer and Joan Huber thinks they're just great. Her outfit comes from Fashion Town located on Route 9W in the Town of Ulster.

SUMMER FUN means a three-piece outfit for the beach from Valley Casuals, Kingston Shopping Plaza. It is modeled here by Gigi Gilligan, well known professional model. Also modeling for Valley Casuals were Kay Gilligan, Maggie Tucker, Sheila Barnes and Irene Tucker.

HANDCRAFTS were in order also at the Freeman show. Mrs. Richard Winter of Hurley modeled her own handmade outfit as did Maria Filosa. They represented Sit N' Knit of Hurley.

WARREN SIMMONS, Freeman business manager also joined the spring and summer fashion parade in a suit from Flanagan's in Kingston. Modeling for Flanagan's also was Brendon Alexander, a director for the United Way of Ulster County.

IRWIN THOMAS, city editor, sported a pale blue suit for Flah's in the Freeman's big style show. Other male models for Flah's included Eddie Palladino and Richard Dieter.

TRACY PALLADINO joined the fashion parade in a shepherdess dress from Flah's, Kingston's Shopping Plaza. The youthful model also appeared for Tack and Leather in Rhinebeck.

HAIR STYLES from Joseph's in Saugerties won approval from a capacity house at J. Watson Bailey. Tiny braids were used by this model to accent a high upsweep. Ideal for evening wear.

NINA TIANO in the latest look, a peasant outfit. She models here for Caldor's in the Town of Ulster. Her gathered blouse sports the new bloused sleeves also.

FLOWER GIRL for Gladys Bridals of Kingston was little Kerry Pillsworth. The Freeman fashion show featured two wedding scenes. Modeling with Kerry were Alice Bartz as the bride, Betty Glowinski attendant, and Roberta Bartz in a formal gown.

FINALE of the 1971 FASHION PREVIEW given Tuesday, March 16, in the auditorium of the J. Watson Bailey School in Kingston featured this wedding scene from Gloria Jeans Bridals Plus in Port Ewen. On stage are some of the formals for men and women while in the background is a special medallion made for the occasion by Modjeska Sign Studios of Kingston. The medallion commemorates the 100th Anniversary of this newspaper.

ICE BLUE crushed velvet captured the hearts of women attending Ulster County's biggest fashion show Tuesday night. It is modeled here by Gloria Stevens for Caldor's, Town of Ulster. The beautiful cape features the new side buttons. Also modeling for Caldor's were Cathleen MacIsaac, Denise Newton, Sharon Kuriger, Joan Huber and Nina Tiano.

SUN AND FUN is the word for Edward Palladino, assistant city editor, in a sports outfit from Flah's in the Kingston Shopping Plaza. Fashions for Flah's were co-ordinated by Rosemary Cook of Albany.

MATERNITY pantsuit from the Maternity Shop in Kingston is modeled by Mrs. Lester (Dorothy) Hatcher. It proves the lady-in-waiting can be beautiful and comfortable at the same time.

SUEDE is a big number this year and J & J Wig Hut and Rustic Cabin presented this two piece outfit in The Freeman fashion show Tuesday night. When it came to wigs, a Tom Jones hairpiece drew applause.

SPORTS EDITOR Charles J. Tiano livened things up at the fashion show with his appearance. Modeling a snappy golf outfit for Kaye Sportswear of Kingston, Tiano took time out to fill in the audience on such things as "... the tired man's golf swing." This is the first time The Freeman show featured a large section on men's clothes.

EASY SUIT for easy fun days is the theme for this knit outfit from Flah's in Kingston Shopping Plaza. It is modeled here by Freeman employee Richard Dieter. It's the latest outfit for men. A royal blue, the suit is outlined with red leather and featured red print sleeves.

Four Home Contests Launch Army Slate

WEST POINT, N.Y. — Army opens its 28-game baseball schedule with four straight home games before beginning the Eastern Intercollegiate League season on the road. The campaign begins March 27 with a 2:30 p.m. game against Fordham at West Point's Doubleday Field.

Rutgers, Villanova and Lehigh visit the Point on April 1, 3 and 5, respectively. The league schedule begins with a single game at Brown April 9 and a doubleheader at Yale April 10.

Coach Eric Tipton begins his 14th year as head coach with only four lettermen back from last season, when the Cadets were 7-14. Tom Pyrz (Argo, Ill.) is back at shortstop and Tom Peterson (Brooklyn Center, Min.) returns to play either in the outfield or at first base. Pitchers Mike Tokarsky (Bridgewater, Mass.) and Bill Lord (Brooklyn, N.Y.) are the other returning lettermen.

Tokarsky, the only left-hander on the pitching staff, compiled a 1-3 record and a 3.35 earned run average in 11 appearances last season. Lord, whose three complete games were the most on the staff, was 2-4 with a 4.42 ERA in nine games. John Scott (Wakefield, Mass.), a senior, is also back this season after a 1-4 record last year. The most promising newcomer on the mound is sophomore Barney

KHS Stats Support Burkoski

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON — Mickey Burkoski, highly successful coach of Newburgh Free Academy, the State's third-ranked basketball team and winners of the DUSO League and Section Nine Tournament One, points to Kingston High School as the next great power in the Mid-Hudson Valley. And, the final statistics for the Maroons 1970-71 season seems to bear him out.

"We had trouble with ratings this year," said Burkoski after his team posted their second win over the Maroons. "We were Number One then we were dropped to Number Three. It's a problem that I feel Mike Rienzo (Kingston Coach) and his club will have in the next two years. They are a good, young club and I think that they will be on top next year," he concluded.

Rienzo's charges did a complete about-face this season, posting a 13-6 record that included a trip to the Sectionals. And, they did it with a lineup largely of underclassmen. Kingston dropped two games in the final seconds of play to Poughkeepsie, handed Middletown an upset win and lost a close one in the Sectionals to Spring Valley. Last year's record was 7-12.

Needless to say, the two losses to Newburgh were decisive. But, even a ray of sunshine can be seen here as the locals scored more points against the Goldbacks than did 14 of NFA's 16 other victims.

In posting their 13 wins, the Maroons averaged 68.7 points-per-game offensively while allowing 62.5 on defense.

One of the big reasons for Kingston's success, no pun intended, is the emergence of 6-5 sophomore Tony Adams as one of the best centers in the Mid-Hudson Valley. Tony, a transfer student into the KHS ranks this year, never played varsity ball prior to this season.

However, as the season progressed, so did the "Big Man." And his play, on several occasions, spelled the difference between victory and defeat for Rienzo's squad. Adams averaged 15.8 points-per-game, playing in all 19 games. He grabbed off a total of 205 rebounds, handed out 25 assists and blocked numerous shots.

"He's only a growing boy," said Rienzo. "And, he's still got a lot to learn. But, he is coming and has to be considered a star of the future."

Another outstanding performer for Kingston this season was junior forward Vito Platts. Platts has to be rated as one of the best streak shooters in the area. His 22-point performance against Newburgh in the last regular-season game was superb.

Vino had a mid-season slump, but recovered enough to be the team's second-leading scorer for 19 games with a 13.6 average. He was the team leader in foul shooting percentage with 67 per cent and handed out 60 assists.

"Vino is one of the most unselfish shooters I have seen," said Rienzo. "There were times when I wished he'd shoot more. I think that next year he will really come into his own."

Herman Simon, freshman backcourt ace for Kingston, closed out a stormy first-season with an average of 21.5 points-per-game for nine contests. Although he was a part-time performer for various reasons, Simon left little doubt that he was a force to be reckoned with on the court.

The crafty guard his 48 per cent from the field and 64 per cent from the foul line while handing out 46 assists in his nine games. Simon's 30-point performance against NFA was the most points scored by a single Goldback opponent in more than a year.

Two unsung heroes, but very much a part of the KHS success story, were soph forward Chuck Jackson and junior guard Ron Burris. Jackson hit 10.8 points per game and grabbed a total of 227 rebounds to lead the club in that department.

Burris is one of the best ball handlers in the area. And, while he hit just 7.5 points per tilt, passed for 32 assists and nabbed 35 caroms.

Platts and Adams made The Daily Freeman All-County squad. Simon and Jackson were honorable mention.

The statistics:

Frazier's Alive But Resting

By WILLIAM VERIGAN
UPI Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Joe Frazier is not dead.

The heavyweight champion is alive and well, if still "tired", in a Philadelphia hospital. He's munching watermelon, listening to his stereo at full blast and entertaining any friends who manage to slip past the 24-hour guard standing outside the door.

"Take my picture, put it in the papers," Joe said on Wednesday. "Then they can see for themselves."

The rumor began late Tuesday night that the 27-year-old Philadelphia was "seriously ill" and by Wednesday morning he was supposed to be dead. Calls flooded the switchboards at newspaper offices in New York for information on his condition, and some radio stations carried the "news" that Frazier was dead.

The injury he was supposed to have suffered ranged from broken ribs to a detached retina, and Frazier's physician, Dr. James C. Giuffre, spent the morning telling callers the rumors were not true.

"It's going to be hard to hold him down because he feels so well," Dr. Giuffre said, "but I want him to stay isolated here for one week. I was concerned because any time you take a guy like Joe, a healthy, vibrant specimen, and he complains that he is tired, it's cause to look for something more serious."

"After taking his blood pressure I found an elevation," the doctor added. "We took lots of other tests and a few results were not to my liking. I wanted to make sure that he was not coming down with some chronic medical problem. Since he's been here there has been tremendous improvement, and his condition is good. I would definitely not suggest to him that he retire for physical reasons."

Frazier has not yet decided whether to retire. His manager, Yank Durham, has urged him to quit boxing, and so has his wife, but Frazier said he will wait until he confers with them and also with several officials of Cloverly, Inc., which owns his contract before making a final decision.

"I want to do some living now," Frazier said, "but I haven't decided anything. I'll get together with Yank, Bruce Wright (counsel of Cloverly) and my wife to talk things over. I figured out the other day that I've been fighting 10 years. That means I've spent three years of my life in training."

After the fight, Durham said, "I want him to retire, but I'm not going to force the man to quit if he wants to keep fighting. I'll be right in his corner if he wants to fight."

again, but once he does quit, I'll turn my back and walk away if he tries to come back." Wright said in a statement, "Cloverly, Inc. is presently concerned with Joe Frazier's health and continues its active interest in his future. We know of no plan for Joe's retirement from boxing. He has not told us of his plans for the future. Meetings were scheduled for this week. "Of course, the decision to retire from boxing will be that of Joe Frazier entirely," he added. "We would respect any decision he made."

As soon as he is released from St. Luke's Hospital, Frazier said he will visit his mother in Beaufort, S. C. He also said he was looking forward to personal appearances, and perhaps a movie in which he plays the part of the governor of an island.

His plans were sidetracked, however, after his 15-round victory over Muhammad Ali, March 8. At his victory party, he showed signs of exhaustion, escaping to the hotel kitchen, slumped in a chair and sipping water. The next morning, a rumor started in Europe that he was dead, but it was quickly squashed.

However, as the days passed, Frazier rarely appeared in shape.

By Wednesday morning, Frazier asked for "some sausages, a half dozen eggs and some bottle of liquid dripping into his veins was steak and chicken, but Frazier wasn't enthusiastic. "Do I look dead?" Frazier demanded. "Do I look seriously ill? I must get ready to get out of here. I might not do much in the gym for a couple of months except stay in shape."

Notre Dame Opens Against Drake Five

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Notre Dame has a distinction no other team can boast of during the 1970-71 basketball season—it defeated No. 1 UCLA.

The 12th-ranked Irish coached by Johnny Dee hung an 89-82 loss on the Bruins. It was a loss that pulled Coach John Wooden's charges away from their top position just briefly. They completed the remaining 11 games with victories just as they had played their first 14 contests.

It was undoubtedly Notre Dame's high-point in the season as they finished 20-7. Entering the Midwest Regional of the NCAA Tournament, the Irish have their work before them as they first play 20-7 Drake tonight in Wichita, Kan.

The Missouri Valley Conference co-champion made the tourney by winning a playoff series with Louisville and Wichita State.

If the Irish, led by All-American Austin Carr, make it past Drake, the next opponent is likely to be Big Eight champion Kansas; 25-1, riding a 19-game win streak, and led by its own All-American, Dave Robisch.

The Jayhawks' first opponent in the semifinal is independent Houston, which finished the season 21-6. One of the losses was to Kansas, 89-73.

In the other regional semifinals tonight, UCLA plays Brigham Young, 19-9; and Long Beach State, 23-4, faces Pacific, 21-5, in the West Regional in Salt Lake City.

No. 2-ranked Marquette 27-0, goes for its 40th straight victory in the Midwest Regional against Ohio State, 19-5, in Athens, Ga. In the second round, Western Kentucky, 21-5, faces Kentucky, 22-4.

And in the Raleigh, N.C. East Regional, Pennsylvania, 27-0, faces South Carolina, 23-4; and Fordham, 25-2, meets Villanova, 24-6.

The survivors of the games meet Saturday for regional championships, with the winners moving on to the Houston Astrodome for the national semifinals and final March 25 and 27.

In the NCAA college division, Neumann with 21 followed by Dean Meminger of Marquette with 18 and Jim McDaniels of Western Kentucky with eight.

Artis Gilmore of Jacksonville and John Roche of South Carolina tied at five. Fred Brown of Iowa had four and Ken Durrett was the nation's top college scorer, Mike Boylan led Assumption with 32 points.

Two other sophomores, Randy Coulling and Rick Nau, each scored four points in overtime to give Old Dominion of Norfolk, Va., an 81-80 decision over Puget Sound of Tacoma, Wash.

Skip Noble hit a layup at the buzzer to give the Monarchs a regulation 73-73 tie. Then, Coulling and Nau went to work. Steve Cox was Old Dominion's leading scorer with 23 points while Chuck Lowery led Puget Sound with 35.

Kentucky Wesleyan snapped Cheyney, (Pa.) State's 13-game victory string 89-83. John Duncan hit 23 points for the Panthers, winners in the tournament three times. Chuck Kirkland and LeRoy Eldridge each scored 24 points for the losers.

In the finals, the hometown Evansville Aces cleaned the bench in a 105-69 swamp of Hartwick of Oneonta, N.Y. The team has won the tournament four times and led by an easy 49-34 at the half. Four Aces scored in double figures with John Wellemeyer hi-man with 20 points.

Kentucky Wesleyan plays Old Dominion in the opening game of the semifinals tonight followed by the Southwestern Louisiana-Evansville contest.

Carr Player of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Austin Carr of Notre Dame, whose shooting handed national champion UCLA its only defeat of the regular season, was named today as the College Basketball Player of the Year for 1971 by The Associated Press.

Carr, a 6-foot-3 senior from Washington, D.C. won by a landslide over Sidney Wicks of top-ranked UCLA Bruins in the voting by 453 sports writers and broadcasters.

The voting was done in a separate category along with the balloting for the 1971 All-American announced Wednesday. Some of the 479 who voted for the All-American skipped naming a player of the year.

Carr, who still has a chance of beating out Johnny Neumann of Mississippi as the season's top collegiate scorer, polled 296 votes to 83 for Wicks for Player of the Year.

Far behind in third place was Neumann with 21 followed by Dean Meminger of Marquette with 18 and Jim McDaniels of Western Kentucky with eight.

Artis Gilmore of Jacksonville and John Roche of South Carolina tied at five. Fred Brown of Iowa had four and Ken Durrett of LaSalle three. Tied for 10th, with two each, were Dave Robisch of Kansas, Cliff Meely of Colorado and Charlie Davis of Wake Forest.

Curtis Rowe of UCLA Jim Chones of Marquette, Dennis Layton of Southern California and Rich Yunkus of Georgia Tech got one vote each.

Carr, Wicks, Gilmore, Meminger and McDaniels were chosen for the first team All-American. Roche, Robisch, Rowe, Neumann were named to the second team along with Paul Westphal of Southern California.

One Game Playoff
NEW YORK (UPI) — A single game will be played to decide the winner in the Central, Midwest or Pacific Divisions of the National Basketball Association, in the event of a tie, it was announced Wednesday by NBA commissioner Walter Kennedy.

The winner of the season series between the deadlocked teams will be the home team. A flip of a coin will decide the home team if the teams have split their season series.

VOLVOS LAST A LONG TIME. ISN'T THAT BAD FOR BUSINESS?

To some dealers, selling a car that lasts is the height of foolishness.

But it's an idea that's highly respected among enlightened consumers.

So instead of selling cars designed to fall apart so that you'll have to buy another one, we sell cars designed not to.

That way you'll want to buy another one.

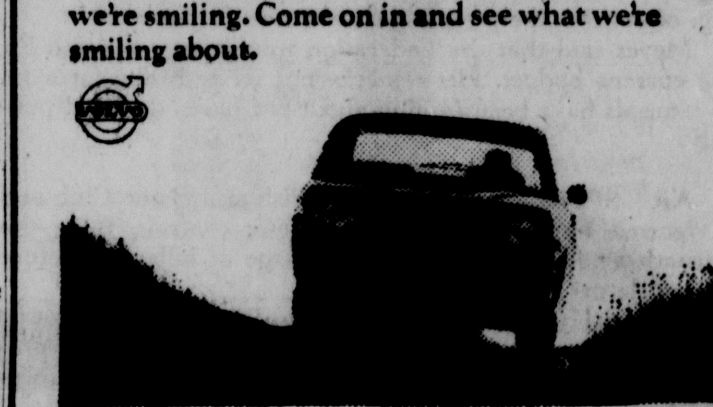

How well Volvos last is best summed up by this fact: 9 out of every 10 Volvos registered here in the last eleven years are still on the road.

The way things are in the world today, we can't guarantee every Volvo will last that long. But at a time when people are becoming increasingly disenchanted with the cars they drive, our customers are coming back for more. The car most often traded in on a new Volvo is an old Volvo.

How's business?

Well, Volvo is the largest selling imported compact in America today.

And at a time when most car dealers are crying, we're smiling. Come on in and see what we're smiling about.

Barry Used Old Formula

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Rick Barry who's been there before, knows what it takes to sell a relatively new league like the American Basketball Association.

"You can have a good game in the Garden and it's better than having a great game in a place like North Carolina," he said.

Well, the ABA had its cake and ate it, too, Wednesday night in its second appearance this season in Madison Square Garden, bastion of the rival New York Knicks and the National Basketball Association.

They came away with the hoped-for results—two exciting games, a little more recognition and a few more fans.

Barry, the glamour boy of the league, certainly did his part, scoring 45 points and then feeding off to Bill Melchioni for a 20-foot jump shot with three seconds left that gave the New York Nets a 122-120 victory over the Kentucky Colonels.

The opener of the doubleheader was almost as good—although lacking home team flavor—as the Floridians came from behind to upset the Utah Stars 120-116 behind little Mack Calvin's 41 points.

In other ABA games Indiana beat Texas 123-109 and Pittsburgh tripped Carolina 133-120.

Utah thus remained one percentage point ahead of Indiana in the Western Division, but one-half game behind while Pittsburgh kept one-half length in front of the Floridians in the East in their battle for fourth place, the last playoff spot.

In the NBA, San Francisco bombed Cincinnati 110-92. San Diego topped Detroit 106-99. Boston beat Los Angeles 112-104 and Baltimore clipped Cleveland 113-109.

Melchioni's shot from the corner was the last of his 32 points and capped a great day and night for the ABA, which earlier introduced to the New York press top draft pick Artis Gilmore of Jacksonville, who signed Tuesday with Kentucky.

Melchioni scored the Nets' last eight points in the final four minutes as the lead changed five times and the score was tied twice. Before that Barry was the man, pulling the Nets back from a 52-39 deficit to within 68-62 at the half, then putting them ahead 95-94 in the third quarter. Darel Carrier led Kentucky with 24 points.

Calvin, the smallest man on the court at 6-foot, was the showman in the first game.

Gilmore's Contract Seen Biggest in Pro History

NEW YORK (AP) — Artis Gilmore, signing pro basketball's largest contract, decided he would do it the Lew Alcindor way, while his lawyer made certain he didn't do it the Spencer Haywood way.

"The National Basketball Association made an offer and I chose the American Basketball Association," Gilmore explained Wednesday at a press conference here after signing with Kentucky of the ABA. "I didn't want to go through a bidding war."

Gilmore, the 7-foot-2, Jacksonville giant who was the most sought college player this year, obviously was following the example set by Alcindor when he signed two years ago with Milwaukee of the NBA for $1.4 million.

Gilmore's lawyer, Herb Rudoy of Chicago, said, "We had the ground rules laid out. We

He brought the Floridians back from a 13-2 deficit to a 61-56 halftime lead and kept them even at 110 before Lonnie Wright scored all six of his points in the final 3 1/2 minutes.

Seals Top Pungs, 5-2, Then Rest

OAKLAND (AP) — With five other National Hockey League games on tap tonight, the California Golden Seals will be resting up after beating the Pittsburgh Penguins Wednesday night for the first time this year, 5-2, and thereby getting out of a nine-game losing rut.

Toronto's Maple Leafs play at Montreal tonight, New York at the Philadelphia Flyers, the Detroit Red Wings at the league-leading Boston Bruins, and the Chicago Black Hawks at Los Angeles.

Chicago comes here Friday to take on the fired-up Seals, who spiked the Penguins' playoff possibilities with the victory here Wednesday night.

Pittsburgh drew first blood in the first period with a goal by Ron Schock. But in the second period California scored two goals 15 seconds apart, one by Tony Featherstone and another by Gary Creteau.

Gerry Ehman made it 3-1 early in the final period, and Gary Jarrett sank another shot at 12:20.

Ehman got his second goal of the night with less than two minutes to play, and Brian Hextall scored Pittsburgh's final tally on a delayed penalty shot just before the game ended.

WE WONDERED HOW LONG it would be before somebody in the field came along to blast the present setup of the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation under Commissioner Henry L. Diamond.

This new creation of Governor Rockefeller absorbed the old Conservation Department and many nimrods feel that it has been nothing but bad news for the hunters and fishermen of the state.

Commissioner Diamond pleaded his case before the Legislative Conference of the League of Women Voters a few days ago and painted a grim picture for the future.

"We've reached a crucial point for environment in New York State," said Diamond. "People are concerned about the environment and in our concern about rising taxes we must not lose sight of the commitment people made last Earth Day. If we do let that commitment slip by, it will be a chance gone forever."

"Proposed budget cuts for environmental programs will give aid and comfort to polluters and severely hamper New York's quest for a quality environment," he added. Diamond also pointed out that "our traditionally excellent fish and wildlife and land management programs" would be reduced far below the present levels and 300 dedicated people now working for a better environment would be fired.

WILLIAM (WINKY) MEYER president of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County and a local delegation were invited to the conference by Warren McKeon, Region 8 director. It develops that Meyer wasn't buying all of Commissioner Diamond's forebodings.

"Our impression from all the speakers we heard that day," says Meyer, "from Commissioner Diamond on down, was that if they did not receive the full budget for 1971-72, utter chaos would descend on the Conservation Department."

"As head of our Federation," Meyer goes on, "we truthfully cannot go along with this idea. Since Environmental Conservation has come into existence from our old Conservation Department, we have been in trouble."

MEYER CLAIMS that "all our agencies suffered from the expanded duties of the new Department of Environmental Conservation." The taxpayer, he insists, should not assume the burden by having to pay more taxes for this expanded Conservation Department which, he charged, could not fulfill its obligations in the past year.

"As far as wildlife and fish are concerned, the Department has been doing less for the sportsman in the field," said Meyer. "It has diverted most of its energies to the ecology movement in the state. We believe that ecology should come foremost but let it be in a department by itself, where it can be properly handled without encroaching on the funds and resources of other departments. Meaning, of course, like the old Conservation Department."

Meyer said the Federation would not campaign for the current budget. His remarks put on record what a lot of nimrods have been fuming about but never declared publicly.

ART SPERL of the Saugerties Fish and Game Club and a vigorous opponent of restrictive gun controls, is on the warpath again, warning against passage of bills now before the legislature.

Principal target of Sperl's ire is Bill S-598 by Lewis, S-1593 by Goodman, which would among other things provide for the registration of all firearms and licensing of owners.

"If this ever goes through, it would cause a great deal of expense and hardship for gun owners," says Sperl, repeating the usual stance of the anti-gun legislation group. It's not a new argument, but it is effective.

Sperl points out that to comply with all details of these bills would cost a lot of money, create new bureaucracies and put the power of issuing or denying applications into the hands of a small group of persons.

"THESE PERSONS WOULD probably be appointed by the governor," says Sperl. What irks Sperl and other outdoorsmen is the probability the statutes would call for compiling a list of all known weapons and who owned them. He sees this facet as opening up some interesting possibilities.

"It would be just dandy," he says, "if an attempt were made to overthrow our government. All the weapons would be collected or the person in whose name the weapons were registered would be (you name it) shot, put in jail, tortured, or maybe his relatives would be punished."

Sperl concludes his case against gun controls reiterating the sportsmen's creed—that registration and licensing will do little to curb crime. Has the 1968 Gun Control Act done anything to curb crime, he asks. He answers his own question: "If it has we haven't heard of it." He exhorts his fellow nimrods to bombard Albany with letters against this kind of anti-gun legislation.

Argentine Jinx Still Haunts Nino

BOLOGNA, Italy (UPI)—No trademark. Chirino lacked style European ever has stood up in but he was far stronger. He a boxing ring and beaten Italy's batted Benvenuti around the Nino Benvenuti. But a pair of head with powerful overhand Argentine boxers has done it clusters of rights and lefts.

Carlos Monzon, a two-fisted just couldn't stand the pace. He tornado from Santa Fe, Argentina, knocked Benvenuti out in the 12th round last November and took the world middleweight boxing title away from him.

Jose Roberto Chirino, who lost his Argentine title to Monzon in 1969 and moved to the United States, beat Benvenuti on points Wednesday night in what Nino had considered a warmup for his rematch with Monzon, April 17, at the Rome Sports Palace.

It was a staggering blow for Benvenuti, the idol of Italian sports fans for nearly a decade. His face mirrored the emptiness of defeat as he lurched from the ring and stumbled to his dressing room, a cordon of policemen separating him from 8,000 fight fans whose cheers had turned to jeers.

The stocky Chirino, flailing like a windmill, wore Benvenuti down over 10 rounds to win by a narrow margin—which could have been a knockout if the fight had gone on much longer, observers said. Toward the end it was all Nino could do just to pop on his feet in clinches with Chirino.

Benvenuti was listless and showed only glimpses of the month after 45 years as sports flashing left that once was his editor of the New London Day.

Backsliding Bosox Annoy Eddie Kasko

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

Manager Eddie Kasko has located some holes in his Red Sox and he's going to start darning them up today.

Boston's fifth straight exhibition baseball loss—this one an 8-2 one-sided affair to Houston—drained the mild-mannered Kasko of his last bit of patience Wednesday.

Kasko planned a squad meeting for the Sox today.

So far, what the Sox have been doing mostly has been exasperating their boss. Wednesday, it was pitcher Gary Peters' turn. He was rapped for eight hits and runs in five innings by the Astros, who ran in their spring record to 8-4.

Denis Menke cracked three hits and Cesar Cedeno drove in three runs with a double and three runs for Houston while Wade Blasingame allowed just one run and three hits in five innings.

While Kasko's problems mounted, Los Angeles and Cincinnati continue to get encouraging performances from two unheralded rookies.

Bob Darwin's eighth inning double—the fourth hit in the inning by LA—drove in the Dodgers' winning run in a 5-4 decision over Washington. Darwin, a former pitcher who has switched to the outfield this season, increased his spring batting average to .538 with the game-winning hit.

Pat Osburn, who had never pitched an inning of professional baseball before this spring, blanked Detroit for five innings as Cincinnati downed the Tigers 5-1. Osburn now has allowed just one earned run in 14 innings.

Catcher Bill Plummer drove

Minnesota absorbed a 10-1 defeat against Baltimore but got some good news off the field when outfielder Tony Oliva okayed a two-year contract. Oliva will receive between $90,000 and $95,000 this season and apparently will move into the six-figure bracket next year.

Oliva's signing left Minnesota pitcher Bill Zepp as the last major league holdout. Zepp has said he would not play this season unless the Twins trade him to Detroit, his home town.

Bobby Grich drove in five runs for the Orioles with a pair of doubles and an infield out while Andy Etchebarren and Merv Rettenmund each contributed a two-run single to the 10-hit attack against the Twins.

Montreal won its fourth straight exhibition game and third in a row against Atlanta, battering the Braves 17-5. Mack Jones' three-run homer highlighted a seven-run second inning and Ron Fairly touched off a five-run seventh with another homer for the Expos.

Tony LaRussa broke a 2-2 tie with a three-run homer and drove in another run with a triple, leading Oakland to an 8-3 victory over Cleveland. Ray Fosse had three hits for the Indians.

Dave Campbell's ninth inning single drove in the deciding run in San Diego's 8-7 victory over the Chicago Cubs. The Padres had tied the game with four runs in the seventh inning, the rally being capped by Ivan Murrell's two-run single.

Gary Gentry pitched five innings of one-hit ball and Cleon Jones, Tim Foli, Bob Aspromonte and Ken Boswell chipped in with two hits apiece, leading the New York Mets to a 6-1 decision over Kansas City. One of Jones' hits was a home run.

The Chicago White Sox tripped the New York Yankees 4-2 in a game played at Maracaibo, Venezuela. It was the ninth straight spring loss for the Yankees, who made four errors, and managed just four hits against Bart Johnson and two relievers.

Bill Would Bar Closed Circuit

WASHINGTON (AP) — broadcast of all major sports Pointing to what he called exorbitant profits from the Ali-Frazier title fight, Rep. Les Aspin proposed today that Congress ban major sports events from closed circuit television.

"Simply put, this bill would keep professional sports in America open to all sports fans, not just a select few," the public's image of professional sports in general," Aspin said.

Aspin said he plans to introduce a bill next week to prevent future showing of championship fights, superbowls, world series games and other major sports events on closed circuit TV.

Such legislation, Aspin said, would force promoters to turn to network television for the

The Owner's Son Will Head Colts

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Steve Rosenbloom, 26, today succeeded his father, Carroll Rosenbloom, as president of the Super Bowl Champion Baltimore Colts.

The elder Rosenbloom becomes chairman of the board. "But, the responsibility of running the Baltimore Colts is now Steve's," Rosenbloom said.

"One man must make the major decisions," he explained. "I am now looking to Steve to make those decisions."

The younger Rosenbloom began as an equipment assistant while still in grade school. In high school, he worked in the publicity office, and was an assistant to the late general manager Don Kelleff while attending Georgetown University in Washington.

Upon graduation in 1966, he went to work for the Colts fulltime. He served as business manager in 1967 and 1968, and was assistant to the president the last two seasons.

Rosenbloom assumed control of the old Dallas Texan franchise in 1953, brought the club to Baltimore and guided it through 18 years of major successes. The Colts have the best record in pro football over the last 13 seasons.

SAUGERTIES 77-74 victors in an early season get-together between the clubs. The teams played their usual balanced brand of ball as each had four men scoring in double figures. The Raiders moved out to a 22-17 first period lead which was trimmed by two, 37-34, at the half.

Both Allen's and the Raiders now have identical 11-2 records with a scheduled meeting set for March 27, the last day of the race. The Raiders were narrow

Dunham's Win Game Of Champs

Dunham Tunnel of Kingston trounced Saugerties Pistons in a battle of Little League basketball champions, 52-27, in a game played at Donlon Auditorium.

Rick Meiers, the Little League's highest scorer, paced Dunham's wins 28 points and Cliff Lyons added 22. Tim Lasher accounted for the other two points. Dunham's led 28-18 in a game played in halves, instead of the usual quarters.

John Spiers led the Pistons with 13 and Tim Cole had 10. A return game is scheduled Monday at the municipal auditorium in Kingston.

The score:
Dunham Tunnel (52) — Cliff Lyons 22, Rick Meiers 28, Tim Lasher 2, Brian Cahill, Mark Lasher, Jim Madden.

Saugerties Pistons (37)—Art Decelle 4, Norm Haesenbaig 9, John Spiers 13, Larry Arena, Mark Baudendistel, Wayne Brocco, Tom Francello, Karl Lezette, Tim Cole 10.

NIT Has Real Style

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Invitation Tournament can't compete with the NCAA basketball tournament in terms of quality teams, but this year's NIT might just outdo the NCAA when it comes to showmanship.

Forced to settle for conference also-rans and lesser independents, the NIT doesn't command the national respect of the NCAA tournament. However, this year's tournament, which begins Saturday, has a circus-like quality about it which just might make it a major attraction.

For one thing, Madison Square Garden, in an effort to beef up attendance to the early round games, has scheduled a pair of tripleheaders—a different approach to the tournament. Second, the appearance of Hawaii and Tennessee in the tourney will provide quite a bit of color for the spectators. Hawaii, which is the first team from outside the continental United States ever to appear in the NIT, features hula girl cheerleaders who throw orchids into the stands, and Tennessee has a pre-game warmup drill that features Golbetrotter antics and unicyclists.

It is the first time in nine years that the NIT will have less than two local teams, and it will be interesting to see if out-of-town clubs can draw in the early rounds.

The tournament opens with North Carolina meeting Massachusetts in the first game of a tripleheader. Louisville takes on Providence and Dayton meets Duke to conclude the afternoon round and the first day's action continues Saturday night with Tennessee opposing St. John's—the only local team—and Georgia Tech meeting LaSalle.

On Sunday there is another doubleheader as first-round action continues. Michigan meets Syracuse in the first game and St. Bonaventure takes on Purdue in the nightcap.

Hawaii finally swings into action on Monday against Oklahoma in the first game of a tripleheader to conclude first round play.

Kingston Cops Stars

SAUGERTIES Kingston Biddy League All Stars edged the Saugerties All Stars, 44-37, in the opener of a home and home series at Donlon Auditorium. The second game is scheduled Monday at the municipal auditorium in Kingston.

Led by Dick Burris and Bill Ellsworth, who scored 11 points each, Kingston moved ahead 28-23 in the third quarter, after trailing 17-15 at halftime. Joe Martin led Saugerties with 15 points.

The score:
Kingston (44)—Mike McWee 4, Mike Murphy 6, Dick Burris 11, Kevin Bockelman 2, Dave Schiede 6, Mike Kearney, Tony Albany, Kevin Jordan 2, Nick Longendyke, Tom Caruso 2, Bill Ellsworth 11.

Saugerties (37)—Bob Scally 7, Jay Harris 2, Greg Schnell 2, George Redder 6, Mark Dedrick 5, Bill Garrison, Steve Van Tassel, Jeff Harbinger, Jim Hackett, Alan Ross, Joe Martin 15.

Period three saw a back and forth contest with the lead exchanging hands several times, but once again the Raiders were on top at the buzzer.

Carrying the four point margin into the final session, the Raiders stayed in front until some two and a half minutes showed on the clock at which time Allen's came to the fore and won going away.

Drop Charges Against Woman In Dutchess

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—Murder charges against a Dutchess County woman have been dropped after a county grand jury refused to indict her in the February stabbing death of her husband.

Mrs. Caroline Steward of Staatsburg was arrested Feb. 14 after her husband, Donald, was slain during an apparent quarrel in a pickup truck on Route 9C.

County Judge Joseph Giudice ordered all charges against the woman dropped and her $10,000 bail exonerated.

Charged With DWI
Highland State Police arrested 26-year-old Charles Heyl, of R. D. 2, New Paltz, on Wednesday on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Arraigned before Town Justice Rexford Schneider, Heyl was held in $200 bail after he pleaded innocent. Hearing was adjourned until a later date. The arrest was made on Route 299.

Dear Abby

Waco Ideas Whacky

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: In regard to WACO WOMAN, who claimed that her husband was no different from any other man—he just likes “a change” once in a while:

My husband and I have been married for 26 years and have six children. We not only love each other—we like each other. I am considered a very attractive woman and my husband is handsome, intelligent and a good provider.

My husband is also no different from any other man, and admits that he has considered infidelity just for the novelty of it. For that matter, so have I.

We have resisted temptation (and at times it hasn't been easy) out of sheer will power. We know that the true joy in living comes to those who do right for no other reason than the right thing to do is the wise thing to do.

BEHAVING OURSELVES

DEAR ABBY: For the information and enlightenment of “Waco Woman,” just as all women are not opinionated martyrs as she is, neither are all men alike.

In my 25 years of married life, perhaps to the credit of my wonderful wife, I never have cheated on her.

There have been many opportunities, and I would be lying if I said I wasn't tempted from time to time, but (and here I know there are many men like me) it isn't worth losing a lifetime of joy and love and everything my wife and I built together for a few minutes of ecstasy with someone who may not even care how I like my coffee.

HAPPY HOMER

DEAR HOMER: Now, let's hear it from the distaff side!

DEAR ABBY: The letter sent to you by “Waco Woman” (or was it “whacky?”) has prompted me to ask you a question my mother and I discuss often. Is monogamy natural for the human male?

Being newly married, now I wonder if I should expect my husband to stray? My married brother has had some extramarital affairs, and he brags about these conquests to my mother and me, and mother just laughs. Yet if I were to do the same thing my mother would lock me in the cellar for a month!

The preacher says, “What God has joined together, let no man put asunder.” Doesn't that go for women, too?

DEAR MRS. L: Yes. The mating game has the same set of rules for the goose as it has for the gander. But for some reason, society has never really ostracized the goose who flies the coop, but the gander gets her wings clipped. This is known as The Double Standard. (Or more appropriately, The Double Cross.)

DEAR ABBY: So “Waco Woman” says her husband is just like all the other men. He would like a “change” once in a while. Well, ain't that lovely? I would like a change once in a while myself. And the change I would like is Paul Newman. But if my husband ever caught me with Paul Newman he would break my neck. I don't need to worry, however, because if Paul Newman wanted a change, he sure wouldn't pick me.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Into new ventures this evening. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Use tact with persons who have power over your business affairs or you could get into deep trouble with them. Do something about a bill or you lose good credit rating. Avoid having to pay more interest.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people who, early in life, has to be taught not to be so demanding of others and thereby avoid getting hurt. There is a sincere love of people here, once their rights are considered by your dynamic progeny. Any trouble-shooting vocation is good here, whether male or female, since there is love of action and challenge to prove worth. Give the amount of education desired only. Do not try to force anything on him or her.

No, Gwendolyn, a hick town isn't one with an inordinate number of drunks.

If you can spare a minute, don't let the office goof-off know about it.

After waiting in line for what seemed like hours to pay for one can of beans, we renamed the store the “stupormarket.”

If you don't know the difference between a lawyer and a barrister, you'll wise-up when you get the bill.

An old-timer is a fellow who recalls when “going to pot” meant a fellow was getting a little paunchy.

If she's not interested in a new wrinkle, she's over 30.

If you don't think they play post office any more, you haven't waited for a letter recently.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Forget limitations and start on work piled up. You'll soon get it out of the way and all looks rosier to you. Don't complain to others. Try to assist another and this helps you in return later.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) This is not a good day to handle an important affair since there are many obstacles in your way. Wait for a better day and time. Avoid the social, also, since trouble could come. Study

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take particular care in motion and travel in particular since you can avoid a possible accident. Study reports for errors and see that all is accurate. Enjoy romance in the evening.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Spending more money is not the way to get out of your difficulties now. Concentrate on being economic instead. Set up a sound budget for the days ahead. A little safe gamble is all right, though.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Not a good day for the social since other persons are thoughtless and you could easily lose your temper. Do whatever improves your image and use care in all that you do. Discuss an important matter with a good friend tonight.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Teasing one at home could cause a serious argument because of tense feelings there, so be tactful instead. Show more appreciation for gentility shown you. You are a perfectionist but this is no day to criticize.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Not a good time to go out for recreation when you have important matters to attend to or you could suffer much loss later on. Keep those promises you made to the letter. Evening is fine for a little fun.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take particular care in motion and travel in particular since you can avoid a possible accident. Study reports for errors and see that all is accurate. Enjoy romance in the evening.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

DULL AIR: (Q.) My mother and father are both as stimulating as a wet piece of whole wheat bread and communication with them is impossible.

I think a daughter should communicate with her parents, but I would rather talk to myself. Our home atmosphere is very dull. How can I liven it up? I think perhaps they don't like to talk to me because I have a harelip.—Depressed in Maine.

(A.) Make yourself talk to them about cosmetic surgery. An operation on your lip will put both you and them more at ease.

With this hurdle out in the open and eventually out of the way, two-way communication will be much simpler.

And you will get along better with other people, too—particularly boys. That may be the key that unlocks the world for you.

So start talking.

CUP OF WINE: (Q.) My family went to a friend's house for a party. It was a pretty hip party. They had wine and booze. I poured a cup of wine for my sister and me. My mother thought I was going to drink it all. She made me pour part of it back.

She's afraid I will get tight and has now ordered me not to drink at all unless she's there to check on how much. That's silly. I've been drinking for a year and a half and haven't had a bit of trouble. I'm 12½ now.—Smart Girl in Nevada.

(A.) Having a few sips of wine at a family party and unsupervised drinking are entirely different. You are much too young for the latter and could suddenly find yourself in a tubful of trouble if you kept it up.

Prove you're a smart girl. Listen to your mother's advice and follow it.

Spring Training for Viewers

NEW YORK (AP) — It is ship of Eddie's Father." Maybe spring practice time for television viewers. The idea is to develop one's skill in ducking reruns.

Only five regular series showed repeats Wednesday night, so only beginner's skill was required to avoid them. But as the weeks roll on, reruns will take over almost completely and the viewer will be hard put to find satisfactory entertainment.

Most television series consist of episodes that lose enchantment the second time around. The easy way would seem to be a summer-time switch of allegiance to a program on another network in the same time period.

It just doesn't work that way. "Men from Shiloh" fans obviously are not going to buckle down happily with "The Court-carded a diamond from dummy and the last club from her hand. On the next hand lead she was able to discard dummy's last losing diamond, ruff in her hand and claim the rest of the tricks.

"Cut and deal!" said the March Hare.

"Not a chance," said the dormouse. "I quit. She's too good for us."

A Hand From Wonderland

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Here is another hand from Wonderland's mad tea party.

After each side had a game Alice dealt herself a comfortable spade opener. The March Hare overcalled with three hearts and her partner the Mad Hatter jumped to game. Alice decided to pass and get the rubber over.

She looked at the dummy after the king of hearts was led. She won the ace. "Curiouser and curiouser. That must be the worst jump to game ever made. Still he is supposed to be mad. It looks like down one."

She laid down her ace of trumps. The dormouse woke up just enough to discard the eight of diamonds and things looked bleak indeed. Was there any way to avoid a two-trick set? Yes, there was!

Alice saw a chance to make the contract by means of a most unusual play—a forced-double-discard play. If the March Hare held exactly one diamond and two clubs. She cashed the king of trumps, asking of clubs and ace of diamonds. Then she led her jack of hearts.

The March Hare won, took his high trump and then had to lead a heart. Alice dis-

Auto Insurance System

Reform Bill to Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration sends today its proposal for state-by-state reform of the nation's troubled auto insurance system to a Senate committee whose Democratic members include two sponsors of a tough federal approach.

"We think the present system needs change badly and needs it now," said Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, in a statement prepared for the Senate Commerce Committee and made available by congressional sources. Volpe said the states should get the first chance to change the system.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., committee chairman, and Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., a ranking member, are cosponsors of a bill to establishing a mandatory, nationwide auto insurance system.

The administration recommendations and the Magnuson-Hart bill focus on the so-called no-fault liability under which injured persons are compensated regardless of who caused the accident.

Volpe brought Congress the long-awaited final report of a $1.6 million, three-year department study of auto insurance. He also submitted a proposed resolution which cited the inequities in the current system and concluded:

"That it is the sense of the Congress that the regulation of insurance should, in general, continue with the states, subject to the admonition, however, that Congress cannot, and will not, long ignore the need of the evolving new and updated approaches to insurance and accident compensation."

Hart, whose antimonopoly subcommittee has held extensive hearings on the insurance industry, believes that a state-by-state approach is unworkable.

Volpe said that a single reform system should not be imposed upon all the states.

But he did offer general guidelines for states to follow:

"We believe that the states should begin promptly to shift to a first-party, non-fault compensation system for automobile accident victims."

... that this might be done gradually and in such a way that we can reverse ourselves, if the actual performance of the system doesn't meet our expectations.

"... that recovery for 'general' or 'intangible' damages should be drastically limited and carefully circumscribed."

The administration recommended Congress take another look at auto accident compensation in two years "when we have had time to analyze the experience of the several states under new systems."

In its draft resolution, the administration said the existing system "results in the excessive compensation of many persons sustaining only minor loss" while "by contrast, many persons with severe and permanently crippling injuries recover only a fraction of their losses."

The administration's proposed no-fault system includes these provisions:

—Every car owner would be required to carry insurance covering himself and his family as well as anyone who might be injured in an accident involving his vehicle.

—Insurance must cover all medical expenses "with very high mandatory limits." Included would be all medical rehabilitation expenses within the limits provided.

—Loss of income through death or injury would be covered up to a suggested ceiling of $1,000 a month.

—Payment of up to $75 a week for replacement of services of a non-working member of a household would be provided.

—An injured person would be barred from suing to recover damages greater than the limits set for damages covered by the policy.

—No injured person could sue for intangible losses "unless he established that he suffered permanent impairment or loss of function or permanent disfigurement, or that he incurred personal medical expenses (excluding hospital expenses) as a result of the accident in excess of a rather high dollar threshold."

Payroll-Tax Hike Proposed To Finance Higher SS Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's call for an immediate payroll-tax hike to finance higher Social Security benefits has been received on Capitol Hill with puzzlement and hints of resistance.

Nixon approved Wednesday a hastily enacted 10-per-cent increase in Social Security benefits for the 26 million beneficiaries. But he urged Congress to immediately increase the wage base on which the Social Security payroll tax is levied from $7,800 to $9,000.

The bill he signed contains such an increase, but not until next Jan. 1. The raise in benefits is retroactive, however, to last Jan. 1.

The increase, whenever effective, means a maximum annual tax raise of $62.40 each on an employee and his employer.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, declined comment on chances of hastening the effective date of the tax hike.

But he said a tax increase this year would more than cancel stimulation the Social Security benefit boost was calculated to provide for a still sluggish economy.

The benefit raise is expected to pump an extra $3.6 billion to recipients, most of whom would be expected to spend the new money quickly.

Sources on the committee that shaped the legislation said all advance indications were that the administration, to feel the economy, would happily accept a benefit increase this year and a tax increase next—even though its original recommendation was for both in a single year.

However, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican on the committee, said he is sure Nixon's recommendation will get full consideration.

Byrnes said further changes in Social Security provisions are being considered in the over-all welfare-Social Security-medicare measure still before Ways and Means.

Mills agreed that these changes, including higher payments for widows and a relaxation in the limit on earning retirees could receive without benefit loss, would cost more and might require financing changes.

So far, however, the committee has been working in terms of increasing the tax base and rate only in future years to take care of such contingencies.

House Slates Vote for More SST Financing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House accused the most vocal congressional opponent of the supersonic transport plane Wednesday of "a shocking attempt to create fear" about the SST's possible threat to the environment.

The House scheduled a vote today on the Nixon administration's request for $134 million to continue financing development of the 1,800-mile per hour plane during the last three months of the fiscal year, which ends June 30.

Both sides predicted victory, although each hedged predictions with statements of uncertainty about the large number of members who have not announced their position.

"It's going to be very close," said Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, who backs the administration request. "I think we are going to win but it's going to be a hard struggle."

An opposition leader, Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., said he was "optimistic." He said, "I don't think we'll lose—or win—by more than 10 votes."

House passage would send the SST bill to the Senate where opponents believe the issue is a tossup. The House passed an SST bill by 15 votes last year.

The White House leveled its accusations at Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., after Proxmire charged the administration gagged a government scientist who earlier had predicted full-scale operation of an SST fleet would lead to a higher incidence of skin cancer.

Israel, U.S. Relations Take Turn for Worse

By United Press International

Israel's already-strained relations with the United States took a turn for the worse today with Prime Minister Golda Meir's rejection of Washington's latest Middle East peace platform.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Tuesday Israel's negotiations take up lesser security questions such as the reopening of the Suez Canal, the Palestinian refugees situation and guerrillas.

In addition, Eban was urging the talks be moved away from the limelight of New York to a quieter venue—possibly Cyprus or Geneva. Another point he was expected to pass on to the U.N. officials was that Israel will consider leasing Sharm el Sheikh from Egypt as part of a territorial settlement.

In Cairo, the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said President Anwar Sadat has started a series of conferences with Egypt's top military leaders aimed at preparing the nation for the eventuality of the war.

In New York, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban was meeting with U.N. Secretary General Thant and U.N. media. According to government sources in Tel Aviv, Eban was suggesting that the matter of Israeli-Arab borders be dropped for the moment and the war.

HOUSTON (UPI) — Maggie Mulligan, 22, a lass from Ireland touring the United States, couldn't help noticing all the floats, bands and tall plastic shamrocks parading through downtown Houston.

"What's going on?" she asked a bystander.

"The St. Patrick's Day parade,"

"My gosh," she said, "we don't have anything like this in my country."

Equalization Rate Drop Poses Threat of Higher Taxes

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON City and county officials will be in Albany next month to protest a general drop in equalization rates, averaging about 15 per cent throughout Ulster County.

In Kingston the rate dropped from 35 to 32 and Mayor Francis R. Koenig is ready to fight. "You just don't take these things automatically," he said. "You fight for a raise. I wrote to them (the State Board of Equalization and Assessment) as soon as I got the figures."

The state board originally set the city's hearing for April 1 but that has been postponed until later in the month.

On the county front, the County Treasurer's Committee of the Legislature met last night and reviewed the situation. The figures are still being studied but it is expected that the county will also send a delegation to Albany next month to protest the rate drops.

Last night's meeting was attended by Louis Bevier of New Paltz, the chairman, Orrie Riehl

and D. Gerald Gorman from the city, Lester Elmendorf from Ulster, Glen DeBrosky from High Falls and Jack Reynolds, director of the county's real property tax service agency.

The county figures read much the same as the city's: Denning dropped from 9 to 8; Hurley from 20 to 17; Kingston Town from 18-15; Marlborough from 17 to 16; Olive from 13 to 11; Plattekill from 54 to 48; Rosendale from 12 to 11; Saugerties from 14 to 13; Shandaken from 28 to 25; Ulster from 14 to 13;

Wawarsing from 16 to 14 and Woodstock from 68 to 60.

Special

The equalization rate is based on the assessment that a community puts on the value of real property. A ten per cent equalization rate in a municipality means that the assessor assesses property at 10 per cent of its value for tax purposes.

Kingston assesses at 35 per cent which is to say a property with a full value of $10,000 is assessed at $3,500 for tax purposes.

What the State Board of Equalization and Assessment is telling the city by dropping the equalization rate from 35 to 32 is that the city is not assessing its properties at the correct value, according to state samplings. In other words, Kingston, and Ulster County are under assessing property.

Koenig called for and got, the state's sampling data which revealed that the board sampled 196 one-family residences out of a total in the city of 6,107. The state sampled three out of 19 commercial properties valued at $50,000 or more; one of 13 industrial properties valued at $50,000 or more and two utilities out of four in the city.

Koenig, who will be joined by City Assessor Matthias G. Richardson and the city's real estate consultant, Walter Donnaruma, will attempt to show the state its samplings are inaccurate and do not truly reflect the assessing practices of the city.

A failure to do so could result in higher county and school taxes for city residents since a lower equalization rate adds to the full value property total of the city and county and school taxes are based on full value.

Reynolds explained the county aspect of it this way: A town with an equalization rate of 17 paid $45.931 in county taxes last year. A town with a rate of 18 paid $43.379.

"We're working up our figures right now," Koenig told The Freeman. "We're making every effort to get those rates raised."

2,000 Evacuated From Laos Area By U.S. Copters

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. helicopters airlifted nearly 2,000 more South Vietnamese troops out of Laos today, U.S. officials said.

Another South Vietnamese unit was reported surrounded by North Vietnamese after suffering more than 100 dead and wounded.

A South Vietnamese spokesman in Saigon denied reports that North Vietnamese forces have forced the South Vietnamese to pull back toward the border with South Vietnam.

"We have not been put to rout," the spokesman said. "Rumors saying the Communists forced the Communists back to the border are completely untrue."

At Fire Base "Brown," near "Lolo," beleaguered South Vietnamese forces were reported preparing for what military sources called "an all-out North Vietnamese assault."

Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam, commander of South Vietnamese forces in Laos, said government troops had maintained a 10-1 kill ratio over the Communists since the Laotian drive began Feb. 8.

Lam called the casualty figures "a victory ... a sign of winning."

Nevertheless, the 50 killed and 80 wounded the South Vietnamese reported in fighting today near "Lolo" were the highest acknowledged by Saigon in a single battle since the Laotian campaign began.

The spokesman said the North Vietnamese lost 567 killed in the same fighting, less than two miles from Lolo, which is nine miles southeast of the shattered Ho Chi Minh trail junction of Sepone.

Heavy overcast and rain prevented U.S. helicopters from carrying out an emergency rescue mission to a battered South Vietnamese battalion under Communist attack south-west of "A Loui," 11 miles inside Laos on Highway 9.

Field reports said the unit was surrounded and had taken losses of at least 100 dead and wounded. They said the estimated 160 men still at the outpost were ordered to "break out of the position" but no further reports were available.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said 10,259 Communist troops had been killed in the five-week-old Laotian campaign with government losses of 860 killed, 3,235 wounded and 193 missing.

The U.S. command said today 45 Americans were killed last week and 156 wounded. It was one more dead than the previous week and down from the previous week's 434 wounded. Three GIs were killed and 14 wounded in the U.S. air mission over Laos.

It brought to 44,676 the number of Americans killed and 296,034 the GIs wounded in more than 10 years of war since 1961. Another 9,335 Americans have died of non-hostile causes.

Five Americans were killed Wednesday when a U.S. UH1 Huey helicopter collided in flight with an AH1 Cobra gunship in Cambodia and four GIs and two South Vietnamese were killed in the collision of an AH1 chopper and a fixed wing plane at Can Tho, 90 miles southwest of Saigon.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said "rumors saying the Communists forced the South Vietnamese back to the (South Vietnamese) border are completely untrue. The truth is that we are now carrying out a new plan of operations which began on March 14 when the fighting got hot around Lolo."

"The plan is for operations in another area and in another direction," the spokesman said.

"That is what is meant when we have been talking about tactical movements by government troops in the past few days ... We have not been put to rout."

Earlier, Communist gunners for the fourth consecutive day bombarded the headquarters of the U.S. air support for the Laotian operation and North Vietnamese missiles were fired at U.S. B52s over Laos.

The Calley Deliberations Continue

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—The jury got an early start today in the second day of its shirt-sleeved deliberation of the fate of Lt. William L. Calley, accused of point-blank slaughter of civilians at the Vietnamese village of My Lai.

Looking chipper, the six officers comprising the court-martial jury walked into the courthouse, doffed military jackets and got down to work at 8:05 a.m. EST.

Maj. Harvey G. Brown, 33, of Amarillo, Tex., a Vietnam veteran who was taken to a post hospital shortly before midnight Wednesday night suffering a sudden attack of stomach pains, told the five other jury members he was feeling "fine now."

Brown spent an hour and a half at Martin Army Hospital and then returned to the five-bed room suite in a transient officers' barracks where the jury was sequestered during final arguments. The men will remain there until they reach a verdict on the guilt or innocence of Calley, who is accused of premeditated murder of 102 women, children and old men three years ago.

Brown's illness had caused a ripple of apprehension among court officials at midnight. They feared it might cause a temporary halt to deliberations, but that fear was dissipated with Brown's appearance in the courtroom.

Brown had heaved a sigh as he put on his coat following Wednesday's deliberations. Two other jurors, Col. Clifford H. Ford, 53, of Knoxville, Tenn., and Maj. Charles C. McIntosh, 38, Donora, Pa., also appeared stiff and tense at the end of the first day.

The picking of the jury began Nov. 12. This was the 51st day of court session since then,

there having been several long recesses.

Should the jurors find Calley guilty of premeditated murder, the 27-year-old lieutenant would receive a mandatory penalty of death or life imprisonment.

The jurors are working in a tightly guarded room which is newly equipped with blackboards, possibly to help chart Charlie Company's onslaught on the village three years ago.

On a table at one end of the narrow chamber are some 100 exhibits collected through four months of testimony.

Meanwhile in his bachelor apartment, on the post and decorated with peace signs, Calley welcomed a steady stream of Army friends and newsmen he invited to help pass the time waiting for the jury's decision.

The 27-year-old lieutenant provided beer, soft drinks and conversation that rarely touched on My Lai. A secretary, hired to handle the hundreds of letters he receives, acted as a hostess.

Kennedy, on call for any questions from the jury, played bridge in his chambers. Even the prosecutor Capt. Aubrey Daniel, his work finished after spending a year preparing the case, was relaxed and jovial for the first time since the trial started Nov. 12.

In their first hour of talks, the jurors sent out a call for a blackboard. In the afternoon, they asked for another.

The discussions apparently were heated.

As the jurors left for dinner, they put on their tunics without exchanging a word.

The faces of Col. Clifford Ford and Majors Charles McIntosh, Walter Kinard and Brown appeared flushed. Maj. Carl Bierbaum and Capt. Ronald Salem went out with jaws set.

The officers are being kept away from their families and from all contact with the world outside their six-room suite in transient officers' barracks and their deliberation room.

Three bailiffs censor their newspapers and television viewing of news about the Calley case.

They will return verdicts on four specifications: the mass murders of 30 and 70 people and the deaths each of one man and one child.

On each specification they must choose from four possible verdicts—premeditated murder, unpremeditated murder, voluntary manslaughter or acquittal.

Unless they vote for acquittal, the jurors, after announcing the verdicts on each specification, must renew their private discussions to fix sentence: life in prison or death for premeditated murder up to life imprisonment for unpremeditated murder, and up to 10 years for voluntary manslaughter.

Many 'My Lai' Massacres Happened, Viet Delegation Tells U.S. in Paris

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong delegation to the Paris peace talks charged today the alleged My Lai massacre was not an isolated case of American atrocities but one of several massacres of Vietnamese civilians by U.S. troops.

Both the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese chief delegates boycotted the talks for the third week in a row to protest the Allied drive into Laos, leaving lesser delegates to attend today's 107th session of the talks.

The deputy delegate for the South Vietnam Provisionary Revolutionary Government (PRG), Nguyen Van Tien, said on the third anniversary of the March 18, 1968, My Lai incident that "the United States has not ceased to intensify its barbarous atrocities."

"The Nixon administration pretends Son My (My Lai) is only an isolated case, and stages a trial of some soldiers ... to appease opinion," Tien said.

"The undeniable truth is that since the massacre of Son My, in particular since the accession of Nixon to the presidency, the number of these massacres has not ceased to increase," he said.

Tien also denounced a 28,000-man prison he said the Americans maintain at Cay Dua in South Vietnam where "more than 630 detained persons have died following torture and massacre."

"The jailers put the prisoners into sacks filled with sand and expose them to the sun until they are dead," he said. "Or they throw the prisoners into cauldrons filled with boiling water, or they stick them into jute sacks soaked with gasoline and then set them on fire to burn the men alive, or they massacre them with machine guns."

Meanwhile in Oswego the student body at the State University College at Oswego rallied around the school's president Wednesday on the eve of his departure for Paris where he intends to meet with the North and South Vietnamese delegations to the peace talks.

Dr. James Perdue announced recently his intention to go to Paris as a citizen interested in a peaceful settlement of the war. He said he was going at his own expense and on his personal vacation time.

Perdue said he had some personal opinions concerning the Indochina conflict but would keep an open mind during his discussions in Paris.

Perdue leaves by plane today from Hancock Field at Syracuse. Several student groups and the student government plan send off rallies both at his home and the airport.

"This shows that if college administrations are really responsive to students, the students will do anything to support them. Why else would we get up at 7 a.m.," said Judy Paratore, a student movement leader.

Suicide Ruling in Death Of Saugerties Businessman

SAUGERTIES or two hours" when he was to meet his brother at the home Dairy on Partition Street in

The death of a prominent Saugerties builder and developer was listed as suicide by Ulster County Coroner Henry S. Hartley.

Austin T. Simmons, 57, was discovered Wednesday afternoon sprawled on the dining room floor of his home in Simmons Park, a residential area that he developed.

State police at Lake Katrine were notified of the incident around 3 p.m. Wednesday. Coroner Hartley, of Saugerties, said today that Simmons "might have been dead for one discovered. Simmons died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the chest. State police said a 12-gauge shotgun was found on the floor of the dining room near Simmons' body.

Cause of death, according to state police, was listed as internal thoracic hemorrhage caused by a 12-gauge shotgun wound in the chest.

A widely known community figure, Simmons was discovered at his home by his brother, Arthur Simmons, a real estate broker in Saugerties. According to Hartley, Arthur had planned and then drive him to Saugerties to keep a doctor's appointment.

Simmons' name had been mentioned in connection with the proposed Central Broadway Shopping Mall in Kingston. The first sketch of the proposed mall was drawn up by Simmons late last year, and the Saugerties builder had reportedly expressed an interest in developing the project.

While Simmons "was not a joiner," according to Hartley, he did serve as president of the Saugerties Lions Club in 1959 and was elected president of the Saxton Sportsmen's Club in March, 1959.

The flame is scheduled to arrive at the Koenigsplatz in downtown Munich, Aug. 25, 1972, one day before the games begin.

A supplementary addition to the budget was therefore needed and the measure called for the transfer of $53,000 from a contingency account to the community college account. County Treasurer Fred DuBois was authorized to make the transfer.

Hekler also went over the ten form, working with mobile town's zoning proposals, mak-home park's attorney.

Houst. also lauded the new Woodstock Emergency Communications Center which went into full operation last Monday. Located in the Woodstock Town Hall Annex and functioning 24 hours around the clock, the center is doing business in the old police station. Police activities are now concentrated in the former Justice Court in the same building.

The Emergency Center is a new and improved system to facilitate fire and police dispatch work: is being manned initially by seven employees. A new telephone number has been installed, replacing the former emergency number used by Woodstockers, to be used for fire, police, or any other emergency such as poison cases and need for oxygen.

The number is 679-2422 (six-seven - nine - two - four - two-two). Three roll-over numbers are involved in the answering operation, almost totally eliminating the chances of ever getting a busy signal. In addition, callers will still receive an answer through the old number for the time being.

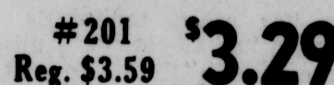

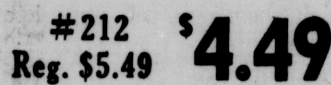

During the 24 hours daily operation of the Emergency Center, local police will remain on standby, meaning that any and all police or fire action should be reported to the new telephone number. To further inform Woodstockers of the new service, police and firemen will issue posters, and permanent stickers bearing the phone number will be given to all residents to attach to their home phones as soon as possible.

NEW YORK (UPI)— American Airlines reported Wednesday it had a net loss of $10.3 million in February, a loss of 51 cents per share.

In February, 1970, the company lost $4.4 million, or 21 cents per share.

So far this year, revenues have totaled $169.5 million compared to $173.6 million for the same period last year. Revenue passenger miles were off 5.5 percent compared to last year, and commercial freight volume was off 9.4 percent.

Cole Threatens Libel Suits

WASHINGTON (AP) — After nearly five weeks of conflicting testimony a Senate probe into alleged scandal in the giant military PX system has ended in charges touching the integrity of the investigating panel.

Finishing their interrogation of former Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole, senators announced Wednesday they will turn his sworn testimony over to the Justice, Treasury and Defense departments for possible perjury and tax evasion action.

Cole, once a key Army staff officer in Vietnam who later was fired as head of the European PX system, replied he had been slandered, libeled and destroyed by an unfair hearing.

The Senate probe degraded American justice and gave comfort "to the neo-fascists, the Nazis and the Communists," he said.

Cole said he would file libel suits against any senator or witness who repeated statements about Cole outside the cloak of congressional immunity.

"I feel if this case of mine is brought before a court of law, I will be exonerated," Cole said. "If this has been a fair and impartial hearing, I feel sorry for the future of this country."

Committee Chairman Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., declaring the aim of the panel is reform, said of Cole's charges: "I reject them totally." Cole is represented by Warren Magee.

Several witnesses accused Cole of misconduct in relations with vendors dealing with PXs and service clubs in Vietnam.

Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla., said Cole had used the phrase "I don't recall" 92 times in answer to questions of his relations with William J. Crum, a businessman dealing with clubs and PXs in Vietnam.

Senators on the permanent investigations subcommittee also held Martin J. Bromley, an international slot-machine magnate, blameless of an implication made in testimony that he offered a $50,000 bribe to buy Cole's silence.

Bromley is said to be the key figure in a worldwide operation selling slot machines and amusement devices to military clubs.

Dewey's Body Lies in State

NEW YORK (UPI)—The body of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will lie in state for public viewing today in the city where he launched the political career which almost carried him into the White House.

The twice unsuccessful presidential candidate died in Florida Tuesday of a heart attack. His body was flown here Wednesday according to a spokesman for the law firm with which Dewey was associated.

Funeral services for the one-time racket-buster were scheduled for Friday at 4 p.m. in St. James Episcopal Church in the presence of numerous public leaders. Interment will take place at Pawling, N.Y., where Dewey maintained a residence.

It is an historical irony that Dewey is almost as well known for a campaign he lost as he is for the three successful ones he ran for governor of New York. In 1944 he ran for the presidency as the Republican candidate and lost to Franklin

D. Roosevelt as predicted by Harry S. Truman and it was considered a foregone conclusion that Dewey would run away with the election. In 1948, however, he was the GOP presidential opponent of

But he lost. Dewey said it was because he thought he could conduct a clean, high-principles campaign while the electorate apparently preferred Truman's "give 'em hell" campaign technique.

On the surface Dewey appeared to be a tough, humorless and cold personality which may have contributed to his surprising defeat.

But those who worked with him said he was actually a deeply compassionate and friendly man.

The French newspaper Le Monde in its obituary on Dewey referred to the 1948 election saying Dewey "was the first important victim of public opinion polls."

And Many Tributes in Albany

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—The state legislature put aside its regular calendar Wednesday to adopt a resolution paying tribute to former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Most of the tributes came from the 14 members of the legislature who served during the Dewey administration.

"He was a tough opponent, a task master of the first order," Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges said. "But underneath this exterior was a warm personal man."

Brydges recalled how Dewey for himself, he put together the essentials to succeed in winning the nomination for General Eisenhower," Hughes said.

"Any of us who reach the status where we can say no to that kind of offer will have to be a great man," Brydges said.

"Because of his age, he didn't feel he could make the contribution to the court he was used to making in public life."

Sen. John H. Hughes, N.Y., recalled the contribution Dewey made to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's presidential bid in 1952.

"Although he couldn't succeed in service to this country and this state when he died," Zaretzki said.

School Aid—A Cutoff

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York's basic plan for holding down education costs is to use a carrot and stick to get local school districts to employ fewer teachers and administrators.

The underlying premise—supported by comparisons with other states—is that the ratios of teachers and other professional staff personnel to pupils have become too high.

Therefore, the thinking at the Capitol is that there should be a cutoff point beyond which no more state aid will be given to the districts. If the districts want richer ratios, it will be up to them to raise the needed tax money locally.

Legislative sources indicated Wednesday that the exact standards remain to be worked out.

Meanwhile, Assemblyman Charles A. Jerabek, a Republican - Conservative from Bay Shore, Long Island, has introduced legislation aimed at saving the state $300 million a year by creating an approved ratio of 45 "instructional staff" to every 1,000 pupils. Jerabek defines instructional staff as classroom teachers, principals and supervisors and such other personnel as librarians, guidance counselors and athletic directors.

The sources conceded that Jerabek's proposal conforms in broad terms with what legislative leaders are working on but added that the goal is to come up with something more flexible.

One consideration is to avoid getting so locked into over-all ratios that there would be no latitude for services provided by the districts to mentally, emotionally and physically handicapped children.

In addition, some extra effort may be made to bear less heavily on classroom teachers, compared with the nonteaching professional staff, when determining the ratio.

Statistics provided to legislators show that the ratio of instructional staff to pupils in New York is 58.8 per 1,000. New Jersey is listed second at 54.7, Connecticut at 54.4, Pennsylvania at 49.8 and Illinois at 46.8 to complete the top five states.

Rolison to U.S.—Pay Up

ALBANY has advanced the Federal Government's share of the Pure Waters Program and the Interstate Highway system. This has kept these programs moving in spite of the fact that the past several administrations and the Congress of the federal government have defaulted in paying its share of these projects.

Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. (R-Poughkeepsie) will introduce a resolution in the state legislature to ask the federal government to pay in full its long overdue promissory notes to the taxpayers of New York State.

Senator Rolison said, "For years, the State of New York

"Hundreds of millions of dollars are past due on these federal promissory notes and if they were paid they could reduce the state and local tax burden of our taxpayers."

"I have requested the Legislative Research office to compile a complete listing of these past due payments. As soon as this data has been compiled, I shall prepare and introduce a resolution asking the legislature to call upon the Congress and the federal administration to pay its share of these costs.

"Every member of the legislature of every party will be invited to participate in and to support this resolution in the name of the taxpayers of the State of New York.

"It must be remembered that these programs have nothing to do with revenue sharing. They are programs legislated by the Congress of the United States and, in some cases, were mandated by the Congress. New York State moved ahead on these programs, relying on the promise of the federal government to pay its share.

"It is now time for the federal government to pay on these long, overdue, promissory notes to the taxpayers of our State and local areas. Such payments may well obviate tax increases and conceivably result in lightening the tax burden for our people.

"Once the legislature has passed this resolution, we shall call upon the Congress and the administration to make payment without further delay. Each and every member of New York State's Congressional delegation will be directed to take steps to see that these hundreds of millions of dollars are paid in the coming fiscal year."

Rolison also reported today that a bill designed to prohibit the use of triple-tandem trucks on the New York State Thruway has been reported out of the Senate Committee on Motor Vehicles for action by the full Senate.

Rolison, a member of the Motor Vehicle Committee, has been working closely with the chairman, State Sen. John Caemmerer in endeavoring to get the Thruway Authority to voluntarily stop the operation of these vehicles, but with no success to date. Therefore, legislation would appear to be necessary.

Dutchess' Second Fatal of Week Youth Dies, 4 Hurt in Crash

MILLBROOK half mile west of Route 82 in the Town of Washington. A 17-year-old Dutchess County youth was killed and four passengers in his car were injured when the vehicle was involved in a spectacular crash on Route 44 at County Medical Examiner Dr.

William G. Thompson of Rhinebeck reported the youth died of a fractured skull.

Police said that Roy, accompanied by four other teenagers, were westbound on the highway ahead of a truck when the youth

attempted to make a left turn into a private driveway as the truck driven by Russell Gregory, 28, of Pine Plains, was passing. The vehicles collided.

Passengers in Roy's car who were treated at the hospital in Poughkeepsie were, Pamela Grubell, 17, who suffered a fractured left leg; Patrick Hurley, 14, who sustained minor head injuries; Richard Hurley, 17, who was treated for a scalp laceration and Susan Cassinelli, 16, who received contusions of the head. They all reside in this village.

Roy was the second traffic fatality in Dutchess County this week. On Monday, William T. Kahl, 26, of the Brookside Garden Apartments, Wappingers Falls, was killed when his car careened out of control on Osborne Hill Road, Town of Fishkill, and slammed into a tree.

Kahl was ejected and his car continued on some 200 feet before it crashed into a tree. Fishkill State Police reported.

Phone Company Presses for Immediate Hike

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Arguing that the New York Telephone Co.'s financial situation is critical, company officials are pressing the state Public Service Commission to allow an immediate, temporary $284-million rate increase.

Telephone officials continued the appeal Wednesday during the second day of public hearings on a permanent 29.1 percent rate hike that would bring in $391 million in added revenue for the company.

The utility has contended that it needs the additional funds to increase earnings and to attract additional capital investment for expansion and service-improvement programs.

Joseph J. Gottlieb, the PSC examiner in the hearing, said a decision on the temporary increase would be made when the PSC collects enough data, but he set no definite date.

The telephone company emphasized that customers would be refunded if the PSC later disapproves the temporary raise in rates.

Testimony during the hearing has centered on consumer complaints about service and the company's counter-complaint that it needs more money before it can improve its service.

At Wednesday's session, Charles R. Gibson, PSC counsel, asked Edward Goldstein, a New York Telephone vice president, about the condition of service in New York City.

"I would say we are making fine progress," Goldstein answered.

"The improvement in service is apparent everywhere and upstate the service has been good all along."

Gibson later asked if telephone service in New York City had ever been as bad as now.

"Not to my knowledge," Goldstein said.

In other actions Wednesday, PSC examiner Gottlieb set Aug. 20 as the closing date for the hearings and July 23 as the date when the PSC case must be finished.

The cross-examination of telephone company executives was expected to continue today.

PSC Warns of New Voltage Cuts

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—More voltage reductions will be inevitable in the Consolidated Edison Co. system this summer, Public Service Commission Chairman Joseph C. Swidler reported Wednesday night.

In his weekly report to Governor Rockefeller, Swidler said the power shortage will occur from maintenance needed on older units, and the delay in getting the Indian Point No. 2 generator going.

The PSC chairman said Con Ed once again will have to purchase power from outside its system to supply the New York City metropolitan area.

Officials estimate they will have a total capacity of 9,742 megawatts this summer, Swidler said, including the return of the Indian Point No. 1 plant and the "Big Allis" generator in Queens.

He said the estimated peak load of 8,150 megawatts would leave a reserve of only 19.5 percent.

If the equipment availability is roughly the 72 percent of last summer, he said, Con Ed will need to buy 1,100 megawatts in peak hours.

Rosendale Parley—Congratulations

ROSENDALE, N.Y. (UPI)—Congratulations from incoming and outgoing trustees and brief discussion on Rosendale's parking situation occupied most of the agenda at Wednesday night's Village Board meeting.

According to Village Clerk Nancy Hanrahan, both Mayor Carl Grassi and newly elected Trustee William Ritter have been notified officially of their recent victory at the polls. The two will decide jointly when swearing-in ceremonies will take place.

Last night's meeting marked the last for outgoing Trustee Kenneth Smith, who was lauded for his efforts on the Village Board by Grassi. Ritter, who is not yet an official member of the Board, was congratulated by the other Board members on his victory.

Smith did not run for reelection this year.

As one of his final acts on the Village Board, Smith urged officials to continue efforts to solve the village's parking situation. A motion by Smith that would have authorized the Village to purchase a parking lot off Main Street was not seconded.

Smith was assured by the other Board members, however, that the parking situation would not be neglected. The Village, it was pointed out, is now renting a large lot belonging to the Joppenbergh Mountain Assn., but it has been inaccessible because of the large accumulation of snow.

Grassi urged residents and shoppers in the village "to be patient" until the snow is cleared from the lot off Main Street.

New Demolition Bids Opened

KINGSTON City officials expect to begin work on a demolition contract involving seven city-owned properties and four privately owned properties within the next few weeks.

Bids were opened Wednesday in Mayor Francis R. Koenig's office with the apparent low bidder, J. and S. Excavating of Kerhonkson, at $6,700 for the city-owned properties and $2,450 for the privately-owned properties.

Van Alen and Thayer of Kingston came in next, lowest at $8,627 for the city properties and $3,159 for the privately-owned properties.

High bidder was William Van Kleeck of New Paltz at $15,400 for the city-owned properties and $6,400 for the privately-owned building.

The city-owned properties are located at 44 West Union Street, 159-161 Hunter Street, 163-165 Hunter Street, 109-111 Hunter Street, 34 Abeel Street, 111 Broadway and 131 Abeel Street. The privately-owned buildings are located at 50 Sycamore Street, 127 Abeel Street, 141-147 Abeel Street and 35 West Union Street.

The demolition is being carried out through a joint city-federal program with a total of $52,000 in funds, two-thirds of which is paid by the federal government.

Churchmen Bow to War Critics

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York City Council of Churches has changed its plans to present the Family of Man award to Bob Hope because of opposition to the comedian's February meeting. No public stand on the Vietnam War and announcement of the award was made although Hope was explanation and forced a new vote. However, at Monday's meeting of the council's general assembly, about 20 young ministers, led by the Rev. Richard Neuhaus, demanded an

Hope's record of public commitment to the three pressing issues that confront the council — poverty, racial justice and peace. Neuhaus said Wednesday, "On the contrary, Mr. Hope has uncritically supported the military establishment."

Dr. Dan Potter, executive director of the council, said he thought Hope was a good candidate for the award. He said Hope had been notified of the change and he "understands and there are no hard feelings. That in itself marks him as a pretty great guy."

The award is a gold medallion which goes annually to the public figure who has "contributed massively to the family of man." In the past it has been awarded to Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon. Last year's award went to Mayor John V. Lindsay.

New Try to Get Angela Out

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Attorneys for black militant Angela Davis say they're going to appeal courts to seek her release on bail now that the judge in her murder case has disqualified himself.

Miss Davis' codefendant, 31-year-old black convict Russell Magee, surprised even his own attorneys Wednesday when he presented an affidavit at a pre-trial hearing seeking to disqualify Superior Court Judge John P. McMurray "for cause."

After almost two hours of conferences in chambers with attorneys for all parties, McMurray returned to the bench and declared: "I'm going to allow Mr. Magee's affidavit for cause. It disqualifies me to act further in this case."

Miss Davis, 27-year-old former UCLA philosophy instructor and an avowed Communist, and Magee are charged with murder, kidnap and conspiracy in the Aug. 7 shootout at the Marin County Civic Center in which a judge, two convicts and an accomplice were killed.

McMurray's decision postponed the case indefinitely and returns to the California Judicial Council the task of finding a judge.

After McMurray's announcement, Howard Moore Jr., chief counsel for Miss Davis, asked him to consider her petition for

Magee's handwritten petition seeking disqualification of McMurray, 62, was brought out of retirement from sparsely populated Inyo County in southern California to preside at the pre-trial hearings. All Marin County judges had disqualified themselves because of past friendship with Superior Court Judge Harold Haley, killed in the shootout last summer.

Robert Carrow, one of Magee's court-appointed attorneys, said his client's affidavit simply meant "he could not get a fair trial before Judge McMurray."

The Bobby Seale Jury Hears Testimony

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A jury of five Negroes and seven whites whose selection took nearly four months begins hearing testimony today in the trial of Black Panther Chairman Bobby G. Seale and Ericka Huggins, a local party member.

Seale and Mrs. Huggins are charged with kidnaping resulting in the death of a fellow Panther and aiding and abetting murder—offenses which carry the death penalty—plus conspiracy to kidnap and to murder. In addition, Mrs. Huggins is accused of binding with criminal intent.

The charges arise from the slaying of Alex Rackley, whose body was found in a swamp 20 miles north of New Haven almost two years ago. Police said the victim was suspected of being a police informer by members of the Panthers' local chapter, and was tortured with boiling water before being shot.

of death at his hands," says a statement from Panther national headquarters.

The Panthers maintain that the killing was conceived and carried out by George Sams Jr., a former Panther and bodyguard to Stokely Carmichael, that Sams was a police agent. Sams has pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the case and is expected to be an important prosecution witness. "The members of the New Haven chapter were young and they were immature, so they fronted Rackley in New Haven cannot and must not be blamed and ordered him slain. Seale denied seeing either Sams or the victim."

Seale, who founded the Panthers in 1966 with Huey P. Newton, was arrested in California in August 1969 on the basis of an affidavit in which Sams said the Panther leader had conspired to open the vault by falsely telling him his wife was being held hostage, police said. They got away with $67,200.

Rekindle Faith in U.S.

In the depths of the Depression, Americans had "nothing to fear but fear itself."

Today, faced with problems undreamed of a generation ago, it may be that we have nothing to despair of but despair itself.

That was the tenor of a boost-America speech made before the New York Rotary Club by Charles W. V. Meares, chairman of the board of the New York Life Insurance Company.

Crisis seems to accurately express the general mood of our time, says Meares. We are struggling to control inflation without aggravating unemployment, to resolve the problems of urban decay and racial unrest and of a deteriorating environment. There is crime and drug abuse and violence in the land and, above all else, there is the Vietnam war that we have yet to bring to an end.

But the most serious crisis of all, he believes, is a crisis of the spirit, a mood of disillusionment and bewilderment that has swept across our land.

"At the heart of this crisis of the spirit is the feeling of helplessness that so many individuals have. They recognize many of our problems but they feel they are so big and complex that the individual is powerless to cope with them."

By contrast, our country was founded in a burst of confidence in man's ability to govern himself, and it survived its times of trouble because of the faith our people had in themselves and their country.

We seem to be losing that confidence and faith today. Recent polls have shown, for instance, that many students believe America is losing its nobility of purpose, that most adults would surrender some of their freedoms in exchange for law and order and that a majority of all age groups is pessimistic about the nation's future.

What America needs in 1971, says Meares, is a resurgence of faith in its ability to solve its problems, no matter how large they seem.

"We, the people, have to believe that if we could rebuild the devastated economies of Europe and Japan a generation ago, then we can surely rebuild the devastated hopes of our minorities today; that if we can back into the longest war of our history, then clearly we can get ourselves out of the war; that if we can kill the fish in our streams with pollution; then we can find ways of ending that pollution; that if we can believe in ourselves and reaffirm the faith of our founding fathers, then we can accomplish practically anything."

This is no call for Pollyannish complacency, however. The time has come, he says, to stop talking about the things that must be done and to start doing them. If you can't move the world, at least nudge a neighborhood.

In earlier days, if fire or storm destroyed a man's home, his neighbors rallied to the call for help to raise new beams and roof and walls, usually on the old foundation. This call goes out again today. And it demands a personal response from a neighborhood of millions in our complex national household.

"But first," says Meares, "we must recognize that 200 years of history and accomplishments have provided us with a firm foundation on which we can build today. There is, then, neither sense nor purpose in tearing down our society and starting over again from scratch. Instead, we must be willing to acknowledge that, while we do have miles to go before we rest, we have already come a very long way, indeed."

As noted, this was a booster speech, appropriate for a Rotary Club—but also, perhaps, for a nation that has had enough of tearing down.

181% Tax Rise in 15 Years

Taxes collected by all levels of government—local, state and federal—have risen 181 per cent in the last 15 years. This finding of the Tax Foundation should surprise no one. The cost of government has been rising precipitously in the same period and the taxpayer, who had to pay the bill, found little relief by changing governments whichever way he turned.

In 1956, total government tax collections amounted to slightly less than $100 billion. This year, the research foundation estimates that the tax collections for all governments will total $281 billion. That works out at $4,328 per household, as compared to $2,045 in 1956.

Tax collections this year will increase by about $5 billion, but because of an increase in households, the per household tax will average out at a little less than last year—$4,328 down from $4,353.

While we are relating the bad news, let's make it complete. Governments were $511.6 billion in debt at the end of 1970. The federal government debt accounted for 73 per cent, for a total of $371 billion. This worked out to a per capita federal debt of $1,816, and for the aggregate government debt of $511.6, the per capita share was $2,558.

To get it all on a personal basis, the per capita tax bite for all governments was $1,405. So to get square with himself, the average American man, woman or child would pay his tax of $1,405; and, to discharge his debt, an additional $1,855 or a total of $3,260.

David Lawrence Says Nixon Determined American Industry Shall Be Protected

WASHINGTON — The United States and the Japanese governments have in the last two and one-half years engaged in what up to now has proved a futile effort to obtain a "voluntary" restriction on exports of textiles and certain other products to this country.

American producers cannot compete with the low-priced goods brought in from Japan. Naturally, the administration and Congress have been urged to apply some form of protectionism so as to preserve certain businesses and jobs in the United States. The attitude of the Department of State has been one of caution, based upon a belief that somehow the controversy could be settled amicably, perhaps by "voluntary" restrictions imposed by the Japanese themselves.

The principle of limiting exports was accepted by Japan. It agreed that a level would be established for exports to this country, and the United States negotiators declared that if this were done, no mandatory action would be taken. But, for months, the question debated has been how the level should be set and when it should be applied. The decision was delayed. Meanwhile, exports have increased. If Japan had been willing to agree on its 1969 level of exports, there would have been no trouble. But the problem was left unsettled, and while the months passed, the level of exports was rising. It was evident the Japanese were aiming at a higher and higher figure for their "voluntary" restriction.

Not until this year were there indications the Japanese might be willing to fix their present export figure as the annual amount beyond which they would not send any more textiles to the U.S. but by the time this conclusion had been reached, the American industry had been seriously damaged. The State Department was advised that the textile people in the South would not be able to compete with the "voluntary" quota established by the Japanese.

To complicate matters further, the Japan textile federation recently entered into a kind of agreement with the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee concerning the quotas. It was endorsed by the Japanese government. President Nixon was displeased with this approach through Congress instead of the State Department. He declared that the American government must provide relief for the textile workers and businesses of the United States, and he rejected the proposal made by the Japanese. He is willing, however, to carry on further negotiations to solve the problem.

The Japanese have evidently misjudged the firmness of the Department of State on the issue and didn't believe that the "voluntary" quotas insisted upon would be based on the levels of export which were attained in 1969, with a reasonable provision for growth. The administration's idea was that the Japanese government would take into account the impact of its exports on the American textile industry. Plenty of opportunity can be given for sales of the Japanese products as well as the American output. The danger, however, lies in the influx of low-priced textiles from Japan to such an extent that the entire American market will be absorbed.

President Nixon is determined that American industry shall be protected, though the Japanese will still be able to export to the United States a substantial quota of textiles under a formula that would provide for gradual increases. But this would have to be based upon restrictions that would take care of some possible negative effects on American industry from year to year.

What is puzzling about the whole matter is the reluctance of the Japanese to deal directly at all times with the State Department and set up voluntary quotas that would give the American textile industry a chance to survive. Instead, the controversy has been allowed to drag on and, finally, the quota that was offered as "voluntary" is so big that the industry thinks the program would be destructive rather than constructive.

Many members of Congress do not have textile plants in their home states, but the principle of protectionism applies to other products as well. For there are a number of countries which export goods to the United States that are in competition with American businesses and workers. Once a quota system is established, it will be a useful formula to extend to other industries and will help several industries which are worried today about low-priced foreign imports.

Sheepin. They were replaced with men loyal to Brezhnev. The Brezhnev "personality cult" also continued to expand. His partisans even printed a two-volume edition of his "works" which were designed to depict the mediocre man as a "great" Marxist-Leninist ideologist.

The "works" were unimpressive, to be sure. Most of Brezhnev's proteges. All the eulogistic references to predecessor had to be deleted. Specious efforts to polish Brezhnev's image as a worthy successor to Lenin and Stalin go on unabated.

Under the circumstances, no Soviet politician who cares about his own political future has much energy to spare these days for major Soviet foreign policy initiatives. Even West German Chancellor Willy Brandt has had to scale down his earlier optimism about a speedy agreement with Moscow.

He made it clear that there could be no real detente between Russia and Bonn if West Berlin remained in a state of tension.

The Russians have much to gain from an agreement with West Germany. But the Soviet leadership is clearly not capable at this time of making a statesmanlike decision on Berlin which Bonn requires to convince Bonn's Bundestag to ratify the "nonaggression" treaty he signed in Moscow last August. There is no doubt that Brezhnev is fighting for his political life. He is still the frontrunner. He can win only if a majority of the Red Army's generals rally to his reactionary banner.

Jack Anderson Says U.S. Rainmakers Proving Success Over the Ho Chi Minh Trails

WASHINGTON — Air Force rainmakers, operating secretly in the skies over the Ho Chi Minh trail network, have succeeded in turning the weather against the North Vietnamese.

These strange weather warriors seed the clouds during the monsoons in an attempt to concentrate more rainfall upon the trails and wash them out.

The hush-hush project, known by the code name "Intermediary - Compatriot," was started in 1967 to hamper enemy logistics. Those who fly the rainmaking missions believe they have increased the precipitation over the jungle roadways during the wet seasons.

Their monthly reports, stamped "Top Secret Specat" (Special Category), have claimed success in creating manmade cloudbursts over the trail complex. These allegedly have caused flooding conditions along the trails, making them impassable.

The Ho Chi Minh trails will get their next monsoon bath from May to September. During this season, the South Vietnamese are expected to pull out of Laos and leave it to the rains to stop the flow of enemy supplies down the trails. Only those with top secrecy clearance knew, until now, that nature would be assisted by the U.S. Air Force.

An Air Force weathermaker, answering our questions guardedly, said the "Intermediary - Compatriot" project is more experimental than operational. The experts still aren't sure, he said, whether cloudbursts that occur after seeding would not have taken place anyway.

However, the evidence is persuasive if not conclusive, he acknowledged, that it is possible not only to increase precipitation but to concentrate it upon a target area. In 1969, the Philippines' President Ferdinand Marcos asked the U.S. to employ its latest weather modification techniques to relieve a drought in the islands. The Air Force sent its rainmakers to seed the clouds over the Philippines, and a substantial downpour followed.

The only trouble with rain, as Jesus Christ pointed out in his sermon on the mount, is that it falls on the just and the unjust alike. The same cloudbursts that have flooded the Ho Chi Minh trails reportedly have also washed out some Laotian villages. This is the reason, presumably, that the Air Force has kept its weathermaking triumphs in Indochina so secret.

Nixon's Secret Pledge
President Nixon withheld some intriguing information about his wife from the nine newsmen who talked to him about the First Lady on the eve of her 59th birthday.

He didn't tell how hard Pat Nixon tried to persuade him to give up politics. Nor did he mention that tucked among her private papers is an extraordinary pledge that she made him sign after the bruising 1952 campaign.

She got him to put in writing a promise that he would quit politics. But Pat Nixon soon learned that even a wife can't count on a political promise. He ran again for Vice President in 1956, then for President in 1960.

Intimates say Pat was "supremely happy" after her husband lost to John F. Kennedy and settled down to becoming a successful California lawyer. She wanted nothing more, they say, than a real home and a husband who worked regular hours.

But Richard Nixon still hadn't gotten over the political bug. Despite Pat's strenuous objections, he ran for the governorship of California in 1962. His defeat was one of the lowest points of their lives.

Once again she persuaded him to give up public life. She encouraged him to move the family — lock, stock and law clients — to New York City. The way to make sure he stayed out of politics, she reasoned, was to pull up his political roots and transplant them in Nelson Rockefeller's territory.

Pat's Strategy
She mistakenly concluded that her husband could never

stage a political comeback in Rockefeller country, and she settled down again to the private life she had always wanted.

It ended in 1968. As usual she played the good soldier and campaigned for her husband. But her friends, noting that she was less active than in the past, suspected her heart wasn't in it.

These friends agree emphatically with the President that Pat isn't the bland and brittle blonde she appears to be in pictures and that she has extraordinary stamina for a woman who seems so thin and fragile.

She wears long-sleeved gowns to cover her bony shoulders. And the White House physician, Dr. Walter Tkach, feeds her malts with eggs in a vain attempt to put some weight on her.

But behind the skin and bones and frozen smile, she is a warm, gracious, sensitive woman to whom children instinctively draw. She also maintains a healthy reverence toward her famous husband.

On more than one occasion, her friends say, she has taken him aside after a speech and deflated his ego with pinprick criticism. "That man will never get a swelled head as long as Pat is his wife," one intimate of the Nixons told us.

Of all the recent First Ladies, say intimates, Mrs. Nixon is most like Bess Truman. Mrs. Truman was a homebody who shied away from publicity. But she was an artist at the tug-on-the-coat-sleeve and the under-the-table kick when Harry Truman was feeling explosive. Pat Nixon, if more subtle, is equally effective.

On one occasion, the Nixons were entertaining visitors, and RN was expounding mightily on world problems. Pat passed quietly among the guests with a tray of hors d'oeuvres. "Why don't you have some of these?" she asked sweetly. "They're much better than the baloney he's handing out."

Henry J. Taylor Says National Days in Red China

These are national days in Red China, days contrived for a nationwide chant: "Mao Chu Hsi Wan Sui" — "Long Live Chairman Mao."

In China a mere 19 million Communist party members control more than 730 million people. But this is easy when you command the four essentials of dictatorship: the army, the secret police, the food supply, and Mao Tse-tung, now 78, and his wife Chiang Ching, a former red guerrilla fighter, exercise their bicephalous command like the head of a hammer.

No wonder 11 million Chinese fled to Formosa when Mao took over mainland China. No wonder that some time ago, representing 17 million overseas Chinese, 285 organizations in 47 countries signed an advertisement in the free world press opposing admission of Red China to the United Nations and thus "to refrain from giving aid and comfort to Mao Tse-tung."

The ancient Chinese had a saying: "May you live in interesting times." But the Chinese wished it to their enemies. So does Mao, racked by greed, green with envy, totally devoted to power and to himself. His own admissions sound like Gilbert and Sullivan's pirate singing. "Shall we kill him now, or later?"

Mao's regime has slaughtered, exiled and imprisoned millions. It has killed more, in fact, than did Stalin and Hitler combined. And this does not include the Mao-instigated Red student riots that killed additional countless millions into a renewed support of Mao.

The Red Chinese army is called the People's Liberation Army (PLA), and behind the scenes, the PLA was really behind this ghastly purge.

You must add, as well, those deliberately starved, and on a scale even larger than Stalin used in the Ukraine. For example, during the last two famine years throughout most of China Mao exported 200,000 tons of rice a year to Castro's Cuba. He was more interested in helping America's Red enemy in the Western Hemisphere than in his own starving people.

Mao land the irrepressible, dangerous Chiang Ching, her ambitious eyes as hot as the Gobi, live in the Forbidden City, the reserve of China's former emperors in the heart of Peking, always formerly called the Celestial Kingdom. Peking itself has the musical sound of any Oriental city selling its wares — the whole city buzzing with flies, brays and conversation. But Peking always had a special charm and was regarded by Western ambassadors as one of the world's most delightful and desirable posts. They can grow as sentimental about this as homing pigeons.

A willow-fringed medieval moat surrounds the high gray battlements of the Forbidden City's ancient wall. The compound covers a square mile. Its heart is a vast complex of palaces, pavilions and houses with golden-tiled rooftops and swallows usually wheeling and dipping above them. This central complex opens onto a beautiful area known as Chung Nan Hsi, the South Lake — a lovely lake like a plate of slate, where the pre-dawn dew is amazingly deep, and in the morning the loons call in the piercing sunlight and the Peking ducks settle gently or dive with a timid pride.

But the Public Security Bureau secret police are also there — everywhere and always — like half-submerged hulks lunging mysteriously to the surface when you least expect them. They are a very formidable crew, commanded by iron-fisted Wang T'ang-hsing, Chiang Ching's protégé, whose memory is the terror of all of Mao's rivals.

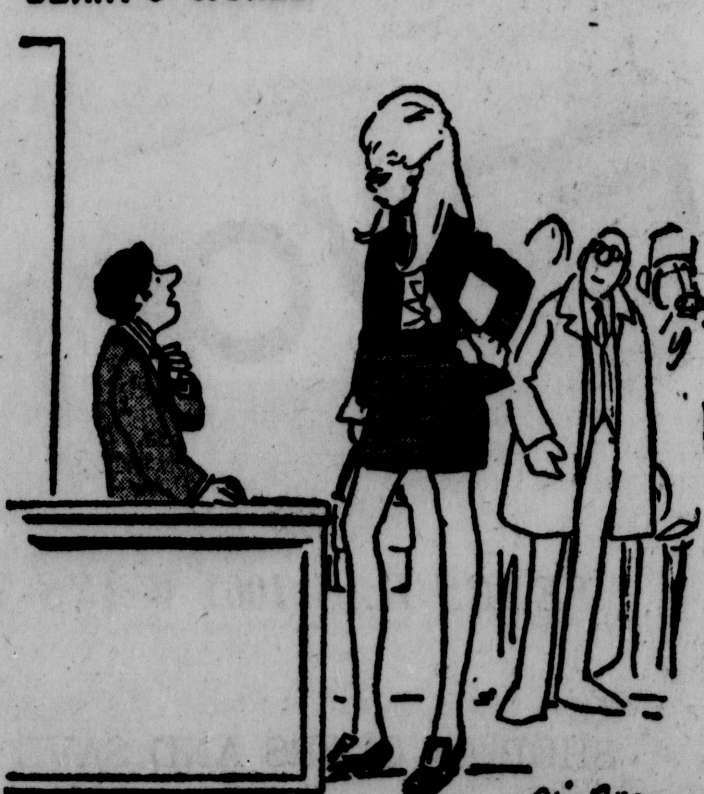

On national days tens of thousands of marchers are assembled at the Forbidden City's Gate of the Heavenly Peace. They're equipped with bamboo poles bearing the enormous red banners of communism that blaze the "Mao Chu Hsi Wan Sui" slogan, and are carefully drilled to chant and push through the broad streets.

The oration is usually given by Marshal Lin Piao, Mao's disciple and apparent chosen successor if he survived Mao, in his nasal voice as cold and hollow as an echo from the back of a dripping cave.

While Lin Piao bellows his reams of persuasive drivel, Mao himself stands beside him in godlike silence. And next to Mao stands Chiang Ching in godlike silence, too.

There is an old Confucianist prayer: "Dear Lord, make this a better world and please begin with me." But that was the former Peking and the ancient Chinese — long before China was booby-trapped.

Freeman Readers Write the Editor

March 17, 1971 County District Attorney's Office was the second worst in the state. That in itself points to a definite lack of efficiency. But as an interested and concerned citizen of this county, I attended a county legislative meeting on Thursday, March 11. The first business on the agenda was the sterilization of pigeons. Pros and cons were heard and many questions were asked by the legislators. A small round of applause ensued.

Second on the agenda was the sewage and surface water problems in the Barclay Heights area. Two residents of this area presented the problems, asked questions concerning the Board of Health and asked help in securing relief for the residents. Not one single question was asked by the legislators. The discussion was immediately thrown back to the sterilization of pigeons. After a period of time, one gentleman interrupted this discussion and made a brief statement concerning the Board of Health and how it is co-operating fully in this matter of sewage. As this gentleman resumed his sitting position the discussion again reverted back to the sterilization of pigeons.

Could this really be happening? Are there no answers to the questions asked of the Health Department? Are our legislators really that unimaginative that they could not ask one single question concerning the protection of the citizens they represent.

'A Pigeon's Solution to Human Problems'

Perhaps we should use this sterilization process on the citizens of Barclay Heights. Eventually as the population decreases, our sewage and surface water problems would cease. There would be fewer outspoken, concerned, bothersome citizens asking questions and expecting answers.

In conclusion: Keep your chin above the polluted surface water and your feet out of the muck, unless of course, you have wings!

MRS. IDA SCHULZE

Saugerties, N. Y.

March 17, 1971
Editor, The Freeman:

One of the more ominous conditions that currently confront our society is the shoddy way in which some elected officials carry out their duties, and their simultaneous tendency to reject out of hand measures that would subject them to objective review. A recent position taken by the Ulster County District Attorney is perhaps a good case in point.

There is currently before the State Legislature a bill that would set up a division of criminal justice to supervise all law enforcement agencies in the state. Those who favor the bill point out that some district attorneys have a tendency to make questionable deals in too many of the cases that are brought to them, and that there are often gross inconsistencies in the manner in which cases are presented to grand juries. The object of the bill is to insure fair and equal treatment for all, and to do away with favoritism. The bill passed in the 1970 Legislature, even though Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and State Senator Jay P. Rolison voted against it. If it passes again this year, it will be placed on the ballot in November for the voters approval. Francis J. Vogt, the Ulster County District Attorney, is opposed to the bill. "I can't think of anything we need less than some official appointed by the governor to supervise our activities," he has been quoted as saying. Some of those who have had the opportunity to examine the record of the Ulster County District Attorney's office, however, can't think of anything that office needs more than objective supervision.

One recalls that the Hughes Report showed that the felony conviction rate of the Ulster

County District Attorney's Office was the second worst in the state. That in itself points to a definite lack of efficiency. But as an interested and concerned citizen of this county, I attended a county legislative meeting on Thursday, March 11. The first business on the agenda was the sterilization of pigeons. Pros and cons were heard and many questions were asked by the legislators. A small round of applause ensued.

An impartial, non-political agency of the ombudsman type, with the authority to oversee the operation of the District Attorney's Office, might go a long way to insure equal treatment for everyone before the bar of Justice. Whatever tendencies there may now be to overlook the transgressions of the politically powerful might be effectively curtailed. If the district attorney is doing the best job possible, one wonders why he should object so strongly to an impartial examination by a non-political agency.

Rev. Kinsolving Articles
Editor, The Freeman:
I am in agreement with Rev. Gary L. Mehl when he expresses his dismay at the type of journalism used by Rev. Kinsolving. I can only ask, also, what purpose he has in writing his articles?

When this series of articles was announced I had anticipated something stimulating and constructive. In the four articles published so far I have seen 'nothing but negativism. Constructive comments, pro or con, are one thing, but these articles contain nothing but biting criticism. Most of us have no way of knowing the other point of view. So, with Rev. Mehl, I will also have serious doubts about the credibility of Rev. Kinsolving's future articles. In any event some articles of a more constructive nature would be welcome.

Very truly yours,

Welfare, Tax Problems

February 25, 1971

Editor, The Freeman:

It is with great concern that I write this letter. It is high time that Mr. Bell, Mr. Rolison, and all of the other politicians who have been voted into office do something besides talk about the Welfare and Tax problems. Just who are the people that appoint the Commissioner of Welfare? Are these people qualified, and are the case workers also qualified for such a job? These jobs cannot be juicy plums for those people who have been just good citizens. We must have educated people who take an interest in their jobs and will also look after the taxpayers money. This money should not be squandered away to shiftless people who won't make a move to help themselves.

There is no reason today why an able bodied man or woman can not work today. The only people who should be qualified for welfare or unemployment are those who are sick, elderly, or women who have young children and no husband. Might I also add here that women who have more than one child out of wedlock be barred from collecting welfare.

Where did this whole mess get out of hand? It is high time that we put a stop to all of this nonsense, buckled down to some work, and weeded out these leeches of society. The people who care about America may decide to go all out for a new system the next election day. Ten million voters can't be entirely wrong.

Thank you,
MRS. DON BENHAM
Manager of the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge
Kingston, N. Y.

Goodell Calls on Libs To Dump Nixon in '72

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For threat of moving toward a mer Sen. Charles E. Goodell of New York said today liberal Republicans should start laying the groundwork for a possible "dump Nixon" movement in 1972.

Goodell predicted Nixon would dump Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in 1972 and choose a running mate "who is relatively uncontroversial ... a political eunuch."

Goodell, defeated last fall at least in part because of opposition from President Nixon, criticized the President for "widening" the Indochina war and for his handling of domestic problems, adding, "I would support opposition to the President now."

Goodell said he was not "urging open revolt" within the party at this time but is meeting with dissident GOP liberals throughout the country "to see if we can get a significant insurgency within before becoming league president of the Republican party with the ident."

WHL Head Quits

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Eugene Kinasewich announced Wednesday that he is quitting as president of the Western Hockey League to return to the field of education.

Kinasewich, 29, was an assistant dean at Harvard before becoming league president.

Nine Plead Guilty to Violations

KINGSTON Nine of the 34 motorists cited for speeding during a police radar check pleaded guilty Wednesday before City Judge Hubert A. Richter and paid fines totaling $120. The cases of the other motorists are pending. Also in court yesterday was the case of Gisela Chontos, 38, of Port Ewen, who was summoned on charges of failure to produce a driver's license or registration for the vehicle and driving while intoxicated. She was released pending a hearing on Friday.

Farm Program Aimed Toward Public Benefits

KINGSTON — Anti-pollution and other environmental benefits have been emphasized in the development of the Ulster County Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) for 1971, according to John Snyder, local farm lead. "REAP was formerly ACP — the Agricultural Conservation Program, which has been operative in Ulster County for many years," Snyder said. "The name change is the key to the program change. Long-range preservation of the environment and more public benefits are being emphasized."

"Lower priority is being placed on conservation practices which are production-oriented or which provide only temporary benefits," he said. "In considering applications by farmers, as individuals or in groups, the county ASC Committee will give first priority to those which will best improve the community environment and provide the most public benefits," Snyder said.

Encouragement will be given to such farmland conservation measures as dams and ponds, permanent grass cover, sod waterways, buffer strips, and tree plantings, all of which help retain and slow down water and reduce siltation as the water moves downstream. Practices which help reduce pollution from animal wastes, fertilizers and pesticides also will be encouraged.

REAP will continue to be administered by the Ulster Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, 54 John Street, Kingston.

Full Spring Agenda For Burroughs Group

NEW PALTZ — Following the meeting, an illustrated talk on Birds and Flowers of Peru will be presented to the members of the John Burroughs Natural History Society, by Dr. Edgar M. Reilly Jr. Dr. Reilly is the curator of zoology at the New York State Museum at Albany.

Marbletown — 13 Calls By Aid Unit

HIGH FALLS — The February report for the Marbletown First Aid Unit notes that 13 calls were answered and that the squad covered 340 miles in the line of duty. Acknowledged in the report was receipt for a donation provided by the Woman's Guild of the High Falls Reformed Church for purchase of restraint straps for the squad's vehicles. A special meeting will be held Sunday to plan activities for the coming months. The new call number for the First Aid Unit is 626-0122.

A field trip to the Ashokan Reservoir will take place Saturday, March 27. Anyone interested may join the members of the John Burroughs Society by meeting at 8:30 a.m. at the Aeration Basin of the Reservoir. The group will observe waterfowl and other land birds that are around the area. Fred Hough of Accord, an excellent naturalist and member of the Research and Records Committee of the Burroughs Society, will be the trip leader. This is an easy trip to observe the spring migrants. The next field trip will be April 18 at Wurtsboro. Details will be announced.

Ellenville YMCA Lists Spring Plans

ELLENVILLE leverage." The class for boys and girls 10 years old and over will be held from 7 to 8 p. m. The YMCA Sponsoring Committee, announced today that, "The YMCA Spring Program will include instruction in baton twirling, judo for boys and girls, judo for high school and adults, and a Saturday gym program for boys 8 to 12 years old." We are grateful to the school district of Ellenville, said Auerbach, "for their cooperation in helping us with facilities to carry on activities for Ellenville youth."

Baton twirling starts Monday, March 22 at 3:30 p. m. in the elementary school gym, under the supervision of Mrs. George DePuy.

Auerbach said, "We are pleased to have Ellenville Police Chief, William Trapnell, as our judo instructor." Judo instruction classes start March 25 at the Ellenville Elementary Gym. Chief Trapnell said, "The judo classes will be hard working groups teaching how to fall, discipline and basic defense skills using speed, balance and

Amendments Start April 1 on Colored Lights

KINGSTON

"Amendments to the Vehicle and Traffic Law pertaining to the use of colored lights on vehicles will become effective April 1, it was announced today by the Volunteer Fire Police Association of Ulster County, through its secretary John Sahlhoff.

Emergency vehicles using colored lights are defined by the new law as "every ambulance, police vehicle and fire vehicle."

The law as it will become effective on April 1 provides that one or more red or combination red and white lights or one white light, which must be a revolving, rotating, oscillating or constantly moving, may be affixed to authorized emergency vehicles, and such lights may be displayed on an authorized emergency vehicle when such a vehicle is engaged in an emergency operation, and upon a fire vehicle while returning from an alarm or fire or other emergency.

The law further states that one blue light may be affixed to any motor vehicle owned by a volunteer member of a fire department or on a motor vehicle owned by a member of such person's family residing in the same household or by a business enterprise in which such person has a proprietary interest or by which he is employed, provided such volunteer fireman has been authorized in writing to so affix a blue light by the chief or the fire department or company of which he is a member, which authorization shall be subjected to revocation at any time by the chief who issued the same or by his successor. Such blue light may be operated by such volunteer fireman on such a vehicle only when engaged in an emergency operation. The use of the blue light does not include returning from a fire.

Five Shoplifting Arrests in Area

NEW PALTZ — Five persons were arrested Wednesday by authorities on charges of petit larceny involving shoplifting of merchandise at area business establishments. One of the defendants also was cited for possessing dangerous drugs. The arrests were made in this village, Rosendale and the Town of Ulster.

An 18-year-old youth was arrested by Highland State Police and accused in the theft of merchandise at the Grand Union Store here. Two others were cited for petit larceny for alleged thefts at the same store.

Sergeant Stanley Kowalik of the Highland State Police reported Roger Polansky of Gardiner was booked on the larceny count and also for criminal possession of dangerous drugs after troopers reportedly found him in possession of a quantity of marijuana.

Arraigned before Town Justice Rexford Schneider, Polansky pleaded innocent to both charges. He was committed to the county jail in lieu of $250 bail on each count and hearing was adjourned until Friday.

Trooper H. R. McKeighan, who arrested Polansky, also cited Cheryl Ann Sawyer, 20, of 42 Church Street, this village for petit larceny. She was accused of stealing merchandise worth $2.40 at the Grand Union Store. After pleading guilty before Judge Schneider, the defendant was sentenced to pay a $100 fine or serve 10 days in the county jail. She indicated the fine would be paid. McKeighan also arrested Robert Simon, 24, of Wallkill, on a petit larceny charge. He was accused of the theft of merchandise worth $2.63 at the Grand Union store. Simon pleaded guilty and was fined $100 or 10 days in jail by Judge Schneider.

Another shoplifting case was reported by the sheriff's office. Sergeant Ray Davis said Lance Morgan Lightstone, 19, of Waukegan, L. I., was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Donald VanAken assisted by Deputy Thomas Cook.

Lightstone was accused of before Justice Reilly who released her and adjourned hearing until March 24. Trooper B. G. McNab assisted in the arrest.

dale Shopping Center. Arraigned before Ulster Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly, the youth pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail or a $50 fine. He paid the fine. Meanwhile, Kingston State Police reported the arrest of Mrs. Sandra Levy, 38, of 158 Main Street, Kingston, on a petit larceny charge. She was cited on complaint of Mrs. Joan Cramer, personnel manager at Wallace's store in the Ulster Shopping Plaza, who accused the woman of taking a dress and pillow cases from the store valued at $33.

Mrs. Levy pleaded innocent before Justice Reilly who released her and adjourned hearing until March 24. Trooper B. G. McNab assisted in the arrest.

Mistreatment Denied By Auburn Guards

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP)—Another group of prison guards and law officers has trooped to the witness stand at a federal hearing here to deny any mistreatment of inmates during an earlier county court appearance.

The testimony by Auburn State Correctional Facility guards and Cayuga County sheriff's deputies came Wednesday at a U.S. District Court hearing on six inmates' request for transfer to federal custody.

The six say they cannot properly prepare their defense of assault and robbery charges while they remain in the custody of guards who have testified against them previously.

The charges resulted from a Nov. 4 riot at the prison. The prisoners have testified before Judge Edmund Port that they were beaten, intimidated and harassed in the segregation unit of the prison. They also have charged officers with beating some of their number when they allegedly refused to leave their county court arraignment by Clark.

One of the correction officers who brought the prisoners to court during that arraignment, Robert Oaks, testified Wednesday that two of the inmates, Harold Johnson and Russell Prout, complained that their leg irons were too tight and refused to walk.

They kicked guards and had to be restrained while they were being carried to a van, Oaks said.

He then showed the court a scar on his left leg that he said was inflicted by a prisoner.

Four county deputies also testified that they did not beat or insult the inmates.

The deputies carried one of the prisoners, Robert Clark, from the courtroom when he allegedly refused to leave at the end of the session. Deputy Francis Piorowski said Clark was struggling while being carried.

Deputy Peter Pinckney and Sgt. Joseph Bradan testified that they were bitten on the fingers by Clark.

Priests Ask Church: Let Us Get Married
BALTIMORE (UPI)—An organization representing 34,000 priests in the United States asked the Roman Catholic church Wednesday night to grant priests permission to marry.

The 200 delegates of the National Federation of Catholic Priests Councils, largest organization of priests in the United States, recommended an end to mandatory celibacy in a six-page "statement of renewal."

The document will be sent to the International Synod of Bishops for consideration when it meets in Rome in September.

The celibacy clause recommended the choice of marriage or celibacy be given immediate priority to priests now active in the ministry.

Dioceses should be allowed to admit married men as candidates for the priesthood and priests who left the ministry to return, the statement said. The clause said celibacy is a "precious tradition of the Catholic church... freely chosen, it is an act of dedication."

The delegates debated the statement of renewal, clause by clause, recommendation by recommendation, for five hours. The call for optional celibacy passed 182-23 with three abstentions.

The statement also recommended a broader voice for priests and laymen in selection of bishops, the restructuring of the traditional parish organization "to meet the needs of the people" by allowing co-pastors, team approaches to running a parish and an official ministry for women.

Stone Ridge Dance
The American Legion Post 1512 of Stone Ridge will hold its St. Patrick's Day Dance at the Legion Hall on Saturday, March 20th.

Music for dancing will be furnished by Tom Filocco and his Musicians. Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. There will be special features during the evening and an invitation is extended to the public to join in the festivity.

Refreshments will be included for a donation at the door.

Jury Completed For Retrial of Alice Crimmins
NEW YORK (UPI)—Selection of an all-male, mainly middle-aged jury was completed Wednesday for the second trial of Alice Crimmins of Queens in connection with the slaying of her two children in 1965.

Defense counsel Herbert Lyon told the jury box that any woman who would kill her own children "is the worst person in the world."

"We are not asking for sympathy, but if, after listening to all the evidence, after hearing all the facts, and after following the law, she is found not guilty, then she is entitled to all the sympathy in the world," he said.

Mrs. Crimmins, a shapely blonde whom the prosecution has described as a "swinger," is charged with the murder of her son, Edmund Crimmins Jr., 5, and first degree manslaughter in the death of her daughter, Alice Marie, 4, in 1965. A mistrial was declared in her first trial.

Quint's Progress
VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI)—Doctors at Valley Presbyterian Hospital say they are optimistic the two surviving infants of California's first set of quintuplets will live.

The quintuplets, four girls and a boy, were born 10 weeks premature Tuesday. The boy was stillborn and two of the girls died Wednesday.

Mrs. Pearl Kaplan, 25, the mother, had been taking the fertility drug Humagon for about one year.

In loving memory of our Dear Husband, Father and Son-in-Law, Winchell (Wink) Atkins, who passed away 3 years ago, March 18, 1968.

At night the silent stars look down, On a grave not far from here, Where sleeps the one we can't forget.

The one we loved so dear, If we had all the world to give, We'd give it, yes and more, To hear his voice and see his smile.

And greet him at the door, The years may wipe out many things, But this they wipe out never, The memory of those happy days.

When we were all together, YOUR LOVING WIFE, DAUGHTER, SON and FATHER-IN-LAW

Colombo's Son Sues CBS for $1 Million

NEW YORK (UPI)—Anthony Colombo, the son of Joseph Colombo Sr., filed a $1 million suit against the Columbia Broadcasting System and its local affiliate, WCBS television, Wednesday for a newscast which described him as a "reputed Mafia leader."

had any conflict with the law whatsoever."

The suit stems from a broadcast last June 26 and alleges the network and WCBS, knew the statement was "untrue" when it was broadcast.

A spokesman for the television station said the complaint had been received and was under study but had no further comment on the charges.

Anthony's father, Joseph, was arrested recently on grand larceny charges in Nassau County. A younger brother, Joseph Colombo Jr., was recently acquitted on charges of conspiring to melt down $20,000 worth of silver coins to retrieve the value of the silver in them.

Anthony Colombo was described in the suit as a vice president of the Italian American Civil Rights League which has picketed the New York offices of the FBI charging harassment against Italian Americans.

Hearing Off Until March 24 For Mrs. Acker

TOWN OF ULSTER A preliminary hearing for Mrs. Helen Acker, 22, of Mahwah, N. J., on a murder charge stemming from the slaying of 20-year-old New Jersey gas station attendant on the Thruway near New Paltz, was adjourned Wednesday afternoon until March 24 at 2:30 p.m.

The case was scheduled to come before Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly yesterday for examination, but the defendant said she was unable to obtain counsel and requested the assignment of an attorney. Judge Reilly assigned Kingston attorney William D. Pretsch. Mrs. Acker and John Parker Jr., 30, of Mahwah are both charged with murdering Gordon Scharrenburg of Park Ridge, N. J., on the morning of Oct. 27. The two allegedly forced the youth to accompany them from a Mahwah gas station to the spot where his bullet-riddled body was later found by a truck driver. Parker is under indictment for the murder.

'Man of Year' Free in Bond

LACKAWANNA, N.Y. (AP)—The Lackawanna Chamber of Commerce's 1970 "man of the year" was free on $1,500 bond today after pleading innocent to charges in a 15-count indictment.

A special grand jury accused Lester J. Burke of billing the city's school district for equipment it never received. Burke, 60, was charged with forgery, possession of a forged instrument, and offering a false instrument for filing.

The indictment, handed up Tuesday, accuses Burke of filing a $995 claim for a tractor never delivered to the school district. The jury said Burke later filed other claims for $1,650, also for equipment never delivered.

Saugerties District Sets Annual Meeting

SAUGERTIES
At a regular meeting of the Saugerties Central School District Board of Education with President Anthony Rizzo presiding, it was voted to set the date of the annual school district meeting on Tuesday, May 4, and the budget vote and election of new board members on Wednesday, May 5.

The board will present its budget of 1971-72 at a public hearing on Tuesday, April 20, at the high school auditorium on Washington Avenue, at 7:30 p.m. Copies of the budget will be made available at that time and may also be obtained at the administration building following that date.

The board's budget may be amended only by a ballot vote on May 5. Qualified voters of the district who wish to suggest amendments must submit a petition duly signed by a minimum of 100 qualified voters not less than six days prior to the vote, April 29.

Petitions nominating candidates for the Board of Education must be filed with the district clerk at the administration building on Hill Street not later than April 21. The candidates receiving the three highest number of votes will be elected.

Polls will be open for voting on the budget and board candidates on Wednesday, May 5 between the hours of noon and 9 p.m. in the Main Street School gymnasium.

The annual meeting will be held in the Senior High School auditorium on Washington Avenue at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, May 4.

Mrs. Ingrid Sternberg and William Provost, elementary teachers, demonstrated the use of recording cassettes and the overhead projector.

Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, announced that a grant of $3,859.00 has been made available under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act - Title II.

A letter from the New York State School Boards Association was read urging citizens to meet in Albany on March 24 to emphasize "Public Education Day".

A request for recognition of an organization as a representative for bargaining purposes of two bargaining units which have not been combined was denied.

The following professional personnel were recommended for tenure by Dr. Arnold and the recommendations were unanimously accepted by the board: David Baker, Mrs. Ann Bergin, George Cosenza, Mrs. Virginia Hancock, Mrs. Joan Hoff, Mrs. Roberta Place, Mrs. Patricia Potter, Robert Potter, William Robinson, Mrs. Terrie Rosenblum, Mrs. Ann Marie Simmons, Miss Diana Sofrony, Mrs. Patricia Tonzi, Thomas Whelan, and Dennis Wurzel.

Charles Emerick reported on

BOCES; Donald Calderwood for the building committee; John O'Rourke for the budget committee; Philip Meade regarding the meeting with PTA concerned with playground equipment; and President Rizzo on Ulster County School Boards Association.

Permission was granted to the PTA's to purchase playground equipment for the elementary schools at no expense to the district with the selection of equipment to be approved by a committee composed of the director of health and physical education, the supervisor of buildings and grounds, and the principal and physical education teacher of the building.

A list of tax corrections was approved.

The director of the high school band was authorized to proceed with plans to raise money through public support to provide uniforms for the band.

Leaves of absence were granted to Mrs. Margaret White, Mrs. Dolores LaChance, Mrs. Betsy Hill, and Mrs. Rosemary Cordani.

The resignation of Mrs. Joanne Haskel was accepted.

Reinstated as elementary teachers beginning September 1971, upon completion of a leave of absence, were Mrs. Mary Winnie, and Mrs. Barbara Stewart.

An inservice course in elementary reading was approved for the 1971-72 school year, and Mrs. Hermine Mills was approved to teach the course.

SAUGERTIES

Thomas Mayone, special investigator for the Ulster County District Attorney's Office, was guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Grant D. Morse School PTA attended by more than 100 persons.

Mayone explained that the drug problem in Saugerties is more serious now than it was three years ago and the "hush-hush" approach is not the answer. He said that in the past several months, five persons from the Saugerties area have gone to rehabilitation hospitals.

He urged the home, school and community work together to combat drugs.

Mrs. James Chase was program chairman and refreshments were arranged by Mrs. George Fetty, Mrs. Michael Sheehan and Mrs. George Augustine.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. John Weglarz, vice president of the PTA, Ward Schelling, fundraising chairman, gave a report on the successful bake sale held in February. Following this report, a new fund-raising project was introduced. A benefit movie, "Cromwell," will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre, April 14 thru 20. Matinees will be shown on Saturday and Sunday. Only those tickets sold prior to the running of the movie will benefit PTA. It is a first run film starring Alec Guinness and Richard Harris.

Mrs. John Giannone, a Morse kindergarten teacher, explained the perceptua screening test which will be given to each kindergarten pupil before the close of the school year. The test will be used to locate areas where children may need special help. PTA volunteers will assist with the testing, under the supervision of the school psychologist, Kevin Graham, and the kindergarten teachers.

Phillip Meade expressed a definite need for closer PTA-School Board relationships in order that the people may be better informed about the affairs of their schools.

Grand Union Helping State Put Rubella in (Shopping) Bag

MRS. VALERIE DWORK, DAUGHTER KRISTINE AND HINMAN (L-K)

ALBANY — New York State Department of Health's five-year rubella immunization program received 10 million bag's worth of support from Grand Union Company recently.

The first grocery bag bearing the message "immunizing today's children protects tomorrow's children" rolled off the press into the hands of Dr. Alan Hinman, director of the Department's Bureau of Epidemiology, which is coordinating the State Rubella Information Program, and Jean Judge, director of consumer affairs for Grand Union.

Also representing the New York State Department of Health at the mammoth bag-in was Dr. David Ross, regional health director.

Grand Union is printing the rubella grocery bags as a public service. The large food merchandiser will distribute the bags in April to millions of shoppers through its 275 stores in the New York State area.

In addition to the printed message, the bag displays an illustration used in the current state rubella immunization effort. A rubella umbrella, symbolizing the Department of Health's rubella umbrella, symbolizing the Department of Health's rubella immunization program, hovers over a mother, her young son and her baby daughter.

"The Grand Union bag is destined to reach millions of families in New York State," said Hinman. "We greatly appreciate Grand Union's efforts in behalf of the Department of Health's campaign to eradicate rubella."

Rubella immunization of boys and girls entering school for the first time is now a New York State law. "All children between the ages of one and 12 should be immunized in order to protect expectant mothers who might contract rubella and pass it on to the unborn fetus," Hinman noted.

Rubella, also known as German measles (as the grocery bag points out), is a common childhood disease. It is usually not serious to boys and girls but can be a tragic cripple of unborn babies if transmitted to pregnant women.

The last rubella epidemic occurred in 1964 and 1965, and resulted in the birth of 20,000 deformed babies and 20,000 miscarriages nationwide. Another outbreak of rubella is anticipated in the next year or two. The efforts of Grand Union are in cooperation with the overall State program to avoid another rubella epidemic.

Cassaniti Appointed At Clinton

KINGSTON — Louis Cassaniti has been appointed assistant manager of the Governor Clinton Hotel, it was announced recently.

Cassaniti will be in charge of reorganizing existing services at the hotel, with special emphasis given to the renovation program that is currently being undertaken by the owners of the historic up-town building.

Among the renovations and improvements that Cassaniti will oversee are installation of a new telephone system, improvement of banquet services and the addition of new residential and commercial apartments within the building.

Cassaniti said many of his efforts will be directed at attracting increased convention trade and tours.

Prior to joining the staff at the Governor Clinton, Cassaniti served as a restaurant manager for three years and handled hotel operations for two years at the Statler Club of Cornell University.

He graduated from Paul Smith's College in Paul Smith, N.Y.

IBM Gives Driscoll Promotion

KINGSTON — Earl F. Wheeler, director of the IBM Kingston Laboratory, has announced the promotion of John F. Driscoll to Communications Systems manager, Health and Welfare Systems.

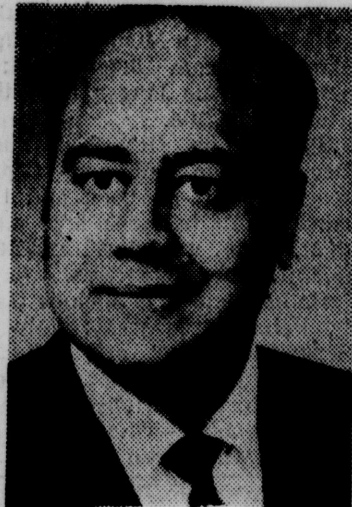

In his new position, Driscoll is responsible for providing the IBM Systems Development Division's strategies and product plans for communication and complex systems in the health and welfare industries.

Driscoll joined IBM in January 1956 as a field engineering student and was assigned to the Sage Experimental Sub-sector in Lexington, Mass. from July 1956 to February 1957. He returned to Kingston where he was promoted to associate engineer in 1958 and to technical assistant in 1960.

In December 1960, Driscoll was promoted to staff engineer in Air Traffic Control Support at Atlantic City, N.J.

In July 1963 he returned to Kingston as a project engineer in Data Acquisition Systems. He was promoted to development engineer in Special Systems Support in 1964 and promoted to senior engineer in that area in 1967.

Driscoll, his wife Edythe and three sons, reside in Saugerties.

Kingston Savings Bank clears up the interest rate confusion.

There are lots of ways and places to save. So many, in fact, that if you want the highest possible return on your savings, it can get a little confusing, trying to figure out how and where to get it.

We'd like to clear things up a bit.

Kingston Savings Bank has six ways to save. They're all described here. Read and decide which way is best for you. Then, remember this: no other bank pays higher dividends. And, some banks pay less.

6% per year, compounded daily and paid quarterly.
You deposit $1,000 or more, for a specified term, from 2 to 5 years.

5.75% per year, compounded daily and paid quarterly.
You deposit $1,000 or more, for one year.

5.25% per year, compounded daily and paid quarterly.
You deposit $1,000 or more, for 90 days.

5% per year, compounded daily and paid quarterly.
Deposits made by the 10th of any month earn 5% from the first of that month, and from then on from day of deposit.

5% per year, compounded daily, and credited for whatever number of days your money is on deposit, as long as a balance of $10 remains to the end of the quarter. Our Day of Deposit to Day of Withdrawal Accounts.

On term accounts — 6%, 5.75%, and 5.25% — you can choose to receive your interest at the end of each quarter, or leave the interest in your account to earn interest on that interest.

If you have $100,000 or more, come in and discuss a special plan tailored for you.

Mrs. Salapatis...It Was a Chamber First

KINGSTON The Irish eyes were shining on Mrs. Lillian Salapatis Wednesday morning, the surprise and popular winner of the annual "Irishman of the Year" award presented by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

ident of the Chamber of Commerce, read the "solemn proclamation" naming Mrs. Salapatis this year's winner of the "Royal Order of the Blarney Stone."

A warm and enthusiastic ovation greeted this year's reigning Irishwoman to the podium at fast guests were in accord that the Governor Clinton Hotel, she admirably met the qualifications required for the honor: a said that, to his knowledge, Mrs. Salapatis was the first woman ever to be accorded "Irishman of the Year" honors by a Chamber of Commerce.

An active participant in community civic affairs, Mrs. Salapatis is co-chairman of the Individual and Small Business Solicitations Committee of the United Way of Ulster County. She served for two years as chairman of the American Cancer Society and, in 1968, was named Woman of the Year by the Ulster County Young Republicans. She is a member of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, Mental Health Association, Federation of Women's Clubs and American Legion Auxiliary, Tillson Post.

Sharing the spotlight at Wednesday's breakfast meeting was Peter W. Barrecchia, managing editor of The Daily Freeman, who spoke on the growth and editorial responsibilities of Ulster County's only daily newspaper and later fielded a number of questions on the inner workings and future plans and goals of The Freeman.

Emphasizing The Freeman's role as a "community newspaper," Barrecchia said that "the public's right to know must be honored," and he cited the newspaper's growth of staff and facilities in recent years as a move to meet its responsibilities in the area of local news coverage.

Barrecchia pointed out that more than 20 persons are involved in the gathering of the news each day throughout Ulster County as well as in Northern Dutchess County. Supplementing the daily coverage of news events, he added, are "Freeman specials" that probe into the "news beyond the news."

Rondout Votes Against Approval Of Ulster County BOCES Budget

STONE RIDGE Rondout Valley High School Board, meeting Tuesday night, voted unanimously not to approve the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services budget.

According to John Basten, district clerk, the board agreed that should the present BOCES budget be passed, Rondout Valley Schools will withdraw from the BOCES math and English programs and will probably take place on May 5 from noon to 9 p.m. in the high school reading skills index.

Poenicke has developed, with the aid of teachers in the district, an index for children in grades K-4. Staff appointment was approved for Harry Snyder who will teach general music in the Middle School on a probationary basis. He replaces Mrs. Elizabeth Shaw who has resigned.

Four requests for two-year maternity leaves of absence were granted to Mrs. Barbara Fernandez, Mrs. Paula Bell and Mrs. Katherine Gillis. Also an extension of one year for a maternity leave for Mrs. Jean Waruch was granted.

The resignation of Mrs. Veronica Sommer, teacher aide in Accord School was accepted. Mrs. Caroline Johnson was named to replace Mrs. Sommer.

Supplementing the daily coverage of news events, he added, are "Freeman specials" that probe into the "news beyond the news."

Barrecchia said that "the public's right to know must be honored," and he cited the newspaper's growth of staff and facilities in recent years as a move to meet its responsibilities in the area of local news coverage.

43 Nurses Are Licensed, Passed Exam

NEW PALTZ Forty-three practical nurses who attended classes sponsored by the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services were licensed recently after passing a professional examination, it was announced by Ulster BOCES officials.

Forty-nine prospective nurses took the exam, it was pointed out by Michael M. Aronica, director of vocational education, with only six failing to achieve a satisfactory score.

Passing the test were 16 of the 17 graduates of the secondary curriculum (where nursing is part of their high school education), 11 of the 12 adults and 16 of the 20 participants in the State Manpower Training Program.

Aronica explained further that 20 high school girls completed the nursing program and graduated from their respective high schools.

The composite record for the past five years, reported by Dr. Jack L. Roosa, district superintendent, disclosed that 69 high school program graduates have been duly licensed, in addition to 30 adults in the past three years and one Manpower class of 16.

Roosa added that the total of 115 practical nurses for Ulster County does not include two classes of adults graduated under the sponsorship of Kingston High School during the first two years of the program.

A majority of the graduates of the program, it was pointed out, are currently working at Benedictine and Kingston Hospitals. In addition, several of the graduates are participating in courses leading to registered nurse status.

AFS Program Set Friday at Olivebridge

OLIVEBRIDGE An American Field Service International Scholarships Community get-together is planned for Friday at 8 p.m. in Olivebridge Methodist Church, Town of Olive. Mrs. Alice Crost, president of Ontario Branch of AFS International Scholarships, will explain the purpose of this organization which arranges for sending students to study and travel in foreign countries.

Marie Snyder, who returned last month from Montevideo, Uruguay, will speak and show slides describing the highlights of her year of study and travel abroad. Miss Snyder is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snyder of Olivebridge.

Sharing the evening's program with Miss Snyder will be Eva Arza, AFS International Scholarships student from Asuncion, Paraguay. A guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Goddard of Woodstock, Miss Arza will describe life and customs in her country, particularly in relation to teenagers.

Residents and parents of pupils of Ontario School District are invited. A question-answer session will be conducted to help guests better understand the opportunities available to present and prospective juniors and seniors of Ontario High School. Refreshments will be served.

Futureologist Coming to UCCC

CONTRIBUTION — Stephen Moncure (L) the Student Government Organization president at Ulster County Community College, receives a contribution from Paul Sturges, of Stone Ridge. The students are conducting a fund drive to buy materials to build a dome on the campus for the appearance of Buckminster Fuller on April 20. Fuller, a distinguished architect, has gained fame for his geodesic domes.

STONE RIDGE will donate funds for the project. Buckminster Fuller, a distinguished architect, inventor and philosopher who has gained fame for his geodesic domes, will appear at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College on Tuesday, April 20, under sponsorship of the Student Government Organization.

"We're extremely pleased to be able to bring a futureologist like Dr. Fuller to our College," said Stephen Moncure, the S.G.O. president, "and for the occasion we plan to build a geodesic dome on the campus." Moncure said UCCC students are conducting a fund drive to raise money to buy materials for the dome. The dome will be constructed by students and faculty members before Dr. Fuller appears April 20. Moncure said Paul Sturges, of Stone Ridge, an industrial consultant who specializes in heat exchange, had aided the S.G.O. in getting Fuller, with whom he has been acquainted in the past, to come to the Stone Ridge campus. Sturges has contributed to the fund drive for materials for the dome and Moncure said he is hopeful that other area residents beliefs for the future, his scorn of traditional structures and his dismissal of tradition. He predicted the present environmental crises more than 40 years ago and foresaw the great technological leap that would follow World War II about 40 years before the war. Fuller felt that most of his inventions wouldn't receive serious consideration until his life was almost over because the time lag between inventions and their coming into use averaged 22 years in America. The time lag is an even larger 50 years in which he was most involved. Fuller has been a pioneer of revolutionary technical inventions since he constructed the Dymaxion house in 1927. He has been called a mathematical philosopher.

Pattern Directors In Appeal to Save OPC

NEWBURGH paid by both the money saved as well as that generated as a result of its efforts."

The Board of Directors of Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress has issued an appeal aimed at saving the state Office of Planning Coordination (OPC) from possible extinction in the current debate over cutbacks in Governor Rockefeller's proposed $8.45 billion budget, it was learned today.

In a resolution, passed unanimously by Pattern's 45-member Board of Directors, the state Assembly Ways and Means Committee was urged "to give favorable consideration to keeping the budget and program of the Office of Planning Coordination intact so that it can, at this critical stage in the state's development, continue to offer its valuable services to the citizens of New York State."

Leaders of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee earlier this month proposed the possible elimination of the entire 235 member OPC staff and its $3.7 million budget. Under the proposal, the work of this office would be returned to several state agencies that formerly handled it.

OPC, created in 1967, is charged with coordinating the planning activities of all state departments with those of federal and local governments.

In its formal resolution, which was also sent to area state legislators, Pattern's board cited these major reasons for keeping OPC intact:

—The agency "has provided invaluable planning and coordination services to local governments in the Mid-Hudson and throughout the state."

—It occupies "an essential role in coordinating the programs and policies of a variety of other state agencies to ensure their maximum effectiveness."

—The state's future "hinges in large measure upon its orderly development, and the Office of Planning Coordination has the major responsibility in this regard."

—State expenditures for the Office of Planning Coordination are, over time, more than re-

CAP Cadets In Winter Survival Bivouac

Five cadets from the Kingston Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, joined cadets from Dutchess and Taconic Squadrons at a Winter Survival Bivouac recently held on Bald Mountain near Winddale.

The cadets were given basic survival training and CAP Emergency Services training and had only survival rations to eat during the weekend. Campsite planning and shelter construction were stressed along with how to keep your feet warm and dry.

Senior members who served on the bivouac staff were 2nd Lt. Kipp A. Pells, Bivouac Commander; CWO Lela F. Pells, Administrative Officer; SSG Kenneth W. LaBarr, Training Officer; and AMN Richard Byrd, Supply Officer. Cadet-TSG Richard J. Cramer, served as Flight Sergeant "A".

In addition to Cramer, other cadets who attended from the local squadron were Keith W. Coon; Larry W. Forte; Scott A. Moone; and Greg Murphy.

Civil Air Patrol is the official civilian auxiliary to the United States Air Force, and conducts air search and rescue operations. The cadet program stresses aerospace education and leadership. Major Lane, Squadron Commander, invites all teenagers to join Civil Air Patrol and attend the regular weekly meetings at the New York State Armory on Manor Avenue on Thursday at 7 p.m.

Freeman Show — A Smash Hit

It is a dangerous thing to express appreciation to those who help with a designated project but The Daily Freeman's benefit fashion show for the United Way of Ulster County would never have been realized without the assistance of many wonderful people. To name a few:

Modjeska Sign Studio which furnished an eight foot medallion used as a backdrop on stage at the J. Watson Bailey School Tuesday, March 16. The medallion commemorated the 100th Anniversary of this newspaper. Coordinating this work were Paul and Janet Modjeska and Bill Freer.

Through the courtesy of the Kingston Recreation Department and its director Andy Murphy, the show was provided with a ramp for the 125 models.

Spiesman's Bakery in Kingston provided a special anniversary cake while Britts furnished necessary props.

Coach House Players of Kingston provided helping hands in the persons of Ray Caddy, their stage designer; Bill Chavis, board member;

and George Quartell on lights.

Flowers for the occasion were provided through the courtesy of The Carriage House while Kingston Savings Bank provided door gifts. Also contributing to the success of the show were: Frank Simpson, Ulster County Savings Bank, Valley Gardens Inc., London's, Rondout National Bank, Yardley's, Savings and Loan Association of Kingston; Oneida Silversmiths; Fashion Two Twenty, Colonial City Carpet Company, Hy Green-span, Greenwald's Travel Agency, Gloria Jean's Bridals Plus, Estee Lauder Perfumes, Howard Johnson's, Capri 400 in Port Ewen and Revlon.

Stores represented in the fashion show included: Cricket Shop, Flah's, Rafalowsky's, Montgomery Ward, Leventhal's, Sears, Jennifer Shop, Britts, London's, Valley Casuals, Holly's Tall Shop, Gloria Jean's Bridals Plus, Gladys Bridals, The Rose Shop, Kaye Sportswear, Hurley Saddle and Wallace's.

Also Tack and Leather Shop, Rhinebeck; Village Closet, New Paltz; Hibernation, Kingston; Sheik Bou-

Cosmetics

All make-up for 1971 Fashion Preview was provided through the courtesy of Vanda Beauty Counselors. Assisting Joyce Fasano, Vanda's district manager in Kingston were Mary Yates, Carol Crispino and June Dalton. Assisting Carol Mayone, branch district manager in Saugerties were Alice Tipp, Susan Lezette and Jeannine Campbell.

Vanda conducted a special beauty session prior to the show at the YWCA. The beauty specialists gave models a complete skin and beauty treatment and instructed them in the proper use of make-up for the stage.

TRIBUTE IS PAID by officials of United Way of Ulster County to Dorothy A. Narel, woman's page editor of The Daily Freeman, on the occasion of the newspaper's third annual fashion show given in the J. Watson Bailey School in Kingston. Mrs. Narel served as director and general coordinator of the benefit cited as the largest fashion show

300 Voices in Kingston Concert

"Musical Echoes from the Hudson Valley" featuring combined choruses totaling more than 300 voices will be presented at the Community Theatre in Kingston on Sunday, Apr. 4, by the St. Cabrini Home, Inc.

Organized by Dominick Lo-Faro, musical director at the Home, the program will feature a combined children's chorus drawn from parochial schools throughout the Hudson Valley. There will also be an adult chorus whose membership will include seminarians, nuns, and members of religious orders.

The main performance is scheduled for 8 p.m. and is open to the public with proceeds going to the St. Cabrini Home at West Park, a home for dependent and neglected children. A dress rehearsal at 2 p.m. on April 4 will be open to children at a reduced ticket cost.

Area parochial schools which will be represented in the children's chorus include St. Mary's, Immaculate Conception, and St. Joseph's schools of Kingston; St. Augustine's school, Highland; and St. Mary's school, Poughkeepsie.

Some of the groups participating in the adult chorus will be Mt. Saint Alphonsus seminary, Santa Maria (Christian Brothers) novitiate, and Marist Brothers, Esopus; Marist College, Poughkeepsie; Highland Corale, Highland; Cabrini High School Corale, New York City; and Missionary Sisters from Brooklyn, New Jersey, New York City, and West Park.

Advance tickets may be purchased at the Community Theatre Box Office, at Abrams Music Store, 299 Wall Street, and O'Reilly's Stationery Company, 38 John Street, in Kingston; or from Mrs. Lee Moreno in Highland.

Surprise Party

To start the spring season with a bang, Kingston Chapter of Hadassah will present a surprise party for paid-up members on Monday, Mar. 29 at Temple Emanuel, Albany Avenue, at 8 p.m. Curious members who attend this evening of fun are promised to be pleased to discover what Mrs. Jonathan Oseas and Mrs. Morton Lurie, membership co-chairmen, have devised. The slate of officers for 1971-72 will also be presented. Dessert will be served. Plans for the coming year will be presented by Mrs. Samuel Goldberg, president. Mrs. Harry Feldman, Youth Aliyah chairman, will report on her successful campaign and card party held at the home of Mrs. Arnold Goldschlag.

Distaff Digest

Anniversary Fete

The Women's Guild of Saugerties Reformed Church celebrated its anniversary with a covered dish supper and meeting on Tuesday, Mar. 9. Announcement was made of the gift of a sink for the newly renovated kitchen in the chapel. Guild members will be selling a variety of cutlery to raise funds for Guild projects and orders will be taken by any member.

Members of the Guild will participate in a service at Stone Ridge Reformed Church on April 21 at 7 p.m. The service will be arranged by the Mid-Hudson Women's Classical Union.

Bake Sale

Gamma Chi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, held its March business meeting at the home of Mrs. Karl Hoppe, Ulster Park, at which time plans were formulated for a bake sale to be held at Governor Clinton Market on Saturday, Mar. 20. Proceeds will benefit the Guiding Eye for the Blind, the Chapter's service project this year.

On Tuesday, Mar. 23, the Chapter will entertain prospective members at a Spring Rush-Fondue Party at the home of Mrs. Charles McNeil.

Pictorial Coverage on Big Fashion Show

of United Way of Ulster County; Dorothy A. Narel, director of the show; Joan Conway, advertising and fashion coordinator for the show; Richard L. Treat, publisher, and Bill Chavis of Coach House Players who served as manager of stage properties.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE — Alice Bartz portrays a radiant bride for Gladys Bridals of Kingston in the 1971 Fashion Preview held Tuesday night. The show featured two complete wedding scenes with a section on formal wear for men and women. Also modeling in the wedding scene for Gladys Bridals were Betty Glowinski as the attendant and Kerry Pillsworth as the flower girl.

KNICKERS are the "in" thing this spring and summer and Joan Huber thinks they're just great. Her outfit comes from Fashion Town located on Route 9W in the Town of Ulster.

SUMMER FUN means a three-piece outfit for the beach from Valley Casuals, Kingston Shopping Plaza. It is modeled here by Gigi Gilligan, well known professional model. Also modeling for Valley Casuals were Kay Gilligan, Maggie Tucker, Sheila Barnes and Irene Tucker.

HANDCRAFTS were in order also at the Freeman show. Mrs. Richard Winter of Hurley modeled her own hand-made outfit as did Maria Filosa. They represented Sit N' Knit of Hurley.

WARREN SIMMONS, Freeman business manager also joined the spring and summer fashion parade in a suit from Flanagan's in Kingston. Modeling for Flanagan's also was Brendon Alexander, a director for the United Way of Ulster County.

IRWIN THOMAS, city editor, sported a pale blue suit for Flah's in the Freeman's big style show. Other male models for Flah's included Eddie Palladino and Richard Dieter.

TRACY PALLADINO joined the fashion parade in a shepherdess dress from Flah's, Kingston's Shopping Plaza. The youthful model also appeared for Tack and Leather in Rhinebeck.

HAIR STYLES from Joseph's in Saugerties won approval from a capacity house at J. Watson Bailey. Tiny braids were used by this model to accent a high upsweep. Ideal for evening wear.

NINA TIANO in the latest look, a peasant outfit. She models here for Caldor's in the Town of Ulster. Her gathered blouse sports the new bloused sleeves also.

FLOWER GIRL for Gladys Bridals of Kingston was little Kerry Pillsworth. The Freeman fashion show featured two wedding scenes. Modeling with Kerry were Alice Bartz as the bride, Betty Glowinski attendant, and Roberta Bartz in a formal gown.

FINALE of the 1971 FASHION PREVIEW given Tuesday, March 16, in the auditorium of the J. Watson Bailey School in Kingston featured this wedding scene from Gloria Jeans Bridals Plus in Port Ewen. On stage are some of the formals for men and women while in the background is a special medallion made for the occasion by Modjeska Sign Studios of Kingston. The medallion commemorates the 100th Anniversary of this newspaper.

ICE BLUE crushed velvet captured the hearts of women attending Ulster County's biggest fashion show Tuesday night. It is modeled here by Gloria Stevens for Caldor's, Town of Ulster. The beautiful cape features the new side buttons. Also modeling for Caldor's were Cathleen Macisaac, Denise Newton, Sharon Kuriger, Joan Huber and Nina Tiano.

SUN AND FUN is the word for Edward Palladino, assistant city editor, in a sports outfit from Flah's in the Kingston Shopping Plaza. Fashions for Flah's were co-ordinated by Rosemary Cook of Albany.

MATERNITY pantsuit from the Maternity Shop in Kingston is modeled by Mrs. Lester (Dorothy) Hatcher. It proves the lady-in-waiting can be beautiful and comfortable at the same time.

SUEDE is a big number this year and J & J Wig Hut and Rustic Cabin presented this two piece outfit in The Freeman fashion show Tuesday night. When it came to wigs, a Tom Jones hairpiece drew applause.

SPORTS EDITOR Charles J. Tiano livened things up at the fashion show with his appearance. Modeling a snappy golf outfit for Kaye Sportswear of Kingston, Tiano took time out to fill in the audience on such things as "... the tired man's golf swing." This is the first time The Freeman show featured a large section on men's clothes.

EASY SUIT for easy fun days is the theme for this knit outfit from Flah's in Kingston Shopping Plaza. It is modeled here by Freeman employee Richard Dieter. It's the latest outfit for men. A royal blue, the suit is outlined with red leather and featured red print sleeves.

WE WONDERED HOW LONG it would be before somebody in the field came along to blast the present setup of the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation under Commissioner Henry L. Diamond.

This new creation of Governor Rockefeller absorbed the old Conservation Department and many nimrods feel that it has been nothing but bad news for the hunters and fishermen of the state.

Commissioner Diamond pleaded his case before the Legislative Conference of the League of Women Voters a few days ago and painted a grim picture for the future.

"We've reached a crucial point for environment in New York State," said Diamond. "People are concerned about the environment and in our concern about rising taxes we must not lose sight of the commitment people made last Earth Day. If we do let that commitment slip by, it will be a chance gone forever."

"Proposed budget cuts for environmental programs will give aid and comfort to polluters and severely hamper New York's quest for a quality environment," he added. Diamond also pointed out that "our traditionally excellent fish and wildlife and land management programs" would be reduced far below the present levels and 300 dedicated people now working for a better environment would be fired.

WILLIAM (WINKY) MEYER president of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County and a local delegation were invited to the conference by Warren McKeon, Region 8 director. It develops that Meyer wasn't buying all of Commissioner Diamond's forebodings.

"Our impression from all the speakers we heard that day," says Meyer, "from Commissioner Diamond on down, was that if they did not receive the full budget for 1971-72, utter chaos would descend on the Conservation Department."

"As head of our Federation," Meyer goes on, "we truthfully cannot go along with this idea. Since Environmental Conservation has come into existence from our old Conservation Department, we have been in trouble."

MEYER CLAIMS that "all our agencies suffered from the expanded duties of the new Department of Environmental Conservation." The taxpayer, he insists, should not assume the burden by having to pay more taxes for this expanded Conservation Department which, he charged, could not fulfill its obligations in the past year.

"As far as wildlife and fish are concerned, the Department has been doing less for the sportsman in the field," said Meyer. "It has diverted most of its energies to the ecology movement in the state. We believe that ecology should come foremost but let it be in a department by itself, where it can be properly handled without encroaching on the funds and resources of other departments. Meaning, of course, like the old Conservation Department."

Meyer said that the Federation would not campaign for the current budget. His remarks put on record what a lot of nimrods have been fuming about but never declared publicly.

ART SPERL of the Saugerties Fish and Game Club and a vigorous opponent of restrictive gun controls, is on the warpath again, warning against passage of bills now before the legislature.

Principal target of Sperl's ire is Bill S-598 by Lewis, S-1593 by Goodman, which would among other things provide for the registration of all firearms and licensing of owners.

"If this ever goes through, it would cause a great deal of expense and hardship for gun owners," says Sperl, repeating the usual stance of the anti-gun legislation group. It's not a new argument, but it is effective.

Sperl points out that to comply with all details of these bills would cost a lot of money, create new bureaucracies and put the power of issuing or denying applications into the hands of a small group of persons.

"THESE PERSONS WOULD probably be appointed by the governor," says Sperl. What irks Sperl and other outdoorsmen is the probability the statutes would call for compiling a list of all known weapons and who owned them. He sees this facet as opening up some interesting possibilities.

"It would be just dandy," he says, "if an attempt were made to overthrow our government. All the weapons would be collected or the person in whose name the weapons were registered would be (you name it) shot, put in jail, tortured, or maybe his relatives would be punished."

Sperl concludes his case against gun controls reiterating the sportsmen's creed—that registration and licensing will do little to curb crime. Has the 1968 Gun Control Act done anything to curb crime, he asks. He answers his own question: "If it has we haven't heard of it." He exhorts his fellow nimrods to bombard Albany with letters against this kind of anti-gun legislation.

Argentine Jinx Still Haunts Nino

BOLOGNA, Italy (UPI)—No trademark. Chirino lacked style European ever has stood up in but he was far stronger. He a boxing ring and beaten Italy's batted Benvenuti around the Nino Benvenuti. But a pair of head with powerful overhand Argentine boxers has done it clusters of rights and lefts.

Benvenuti, 32 to Chirino's 26, Carlos Monzon, a two-fisted just couldn't stand the pace. He tornado from Santa Fe, Argentina, kept wincing and shaking his head, almost as in disbelief at the 12th round last November and took the world middleweight boxing title away from him.

Jose Roberto Chirino, who lost his Argentine title to Monzon in 1969 and moved to the United States, beat Benvenuti on points Wednesday night in what Nino had considered a warmup for his rematch with Monzon, April 17, at the Rome Sports Palace.

It was a staggering blow for Benvenuti, the idol of Italian sports fans for nearly a decade. His face mirrored the emptiness of defeat as he lurched from the ring and stumbled to his dressing room, a cordon of policemen separating him from 8,000 fight fans whose cheers had turned to jeers.

The stocky Chirino, flailing like a windmill, wore Benvenuti down over 10 rounds to win by a narrow margin—which could have been a knockout if the fight had gone on much longer, observers said. Toward the end it was all Nino could do just to keep on his feet in clinches with Chirino.

Benvenuti was listless and showed only glimpses of the month after 45 years as sports editor of the New London Day.

Backsliding Bosox Annoy Eddie Kasko

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Manager Eddie Kasko has located some holes in his Red Sox and he's going to start darning them up today.

Boston's fifth straight exhibition baseball loss—this one an 8-2 one-sided affair to Houston—drained the mild-mannered Kasko of his last bit of patience Wednesday.

Kasko planned a squad meeting for the Sox today.

So far, what the Sox have been doing mostly has been exasperating their boss. Wednesday, it was pitcher Gary Peters' turn. He was rapped for eight hits and runs in five innings by the Astros, who fan their spring record to 8-4.

Denis Menke cracked three hits and Cesar Cedeno drove in three runs with a double and Wade Blasingame allowed just one run and three hits in five innings.

While Kasko's problems mounted, Los Angeles and Cincinnati continue to get encouraging performances from two unheralded rookies.

Bob Darwin's eighth inning double—the fourth hit in the inning by LA—drove in the Dodgers' winning run in a 5-4 decision over Washington.

Darwin, a former pitcher who has switched to the outfield this season, increased his spring batting average to .538 with the game-winning hit.

Pat Osburn, who had never pitched an inning of professional baseball before this spring, blanked Detroit for five innings as Cincinnati downed the Tigers 5-1. Osburn now has allowed just one earned run in 14 innings.

Bill Would Bar Closed Circuit

WASHINGTON (AP)

Pointing to what he called exorbitant profits from the All-Frazier title fight, Rep. Les Aspin proposed today that Congress ban major sports events from closed circuit television.

"Simply put, this bill would keep professional sports in America open to all sports fans, not just a select few," the Wisconsin Democrat said in prepared remarks.

Aspin said he plans to introduce a bill next week to prevent future showing of championship fights, superbowl, world series games and other major sports events on closed circuit TV.

Such legislation, Aspin said, would force promoters to turn to network television for the broadcast of all major sports programs.

"The exorbitant profits made by a handful of professional promoters from the All-Frazier fight were totally unjustified and led to numerous lawsuits, the illegal counterfeiting, and scalping of tickets at incredible prices and seriously injured the public's image of professional sports in general," Aspin said.

Heavyweight champion Joe Frazier defeated Muhammad Ali in a grueling 15-round fight shown only on closed circuit television March 8.

Aspin asserted that $20 million or more of expected profits from that fight will represent "an enormous temptation for other sports to follow suit and produce their events on closed circuit TV."

Under terms of his bill, Aspin said promoters of major sports events would be required to accept the highest bid from a television network for the broadcast of a sports event.

He said the only exception to the closed circuit TV ban would be if the Broadcast Bureau of the Federal Communications Commission determined that the anticipated profits from a live network broadcast—along with other expected receipts such as the gate—would not be sufficient to justify holding the event.

KINGSTON AMERICAN

Registration days for Kingston American Little League have been set for April 10 and April 17 at the ALL field on Kiersted Avenue, adjacent to the New York State Armory between the hours of 10 a.m. and 12 noon, both days.

Boys must reside within the following areas: Ward 4, District 2; Ward 5, District 1 and 2; Ward 6, District 1 and 2; Ward 7, District 1; Ward 8, District 2; Ward 13, District 1.

Each boy must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and bring birth certificate. Eight year olds may register for the minor league. Any boy who will be nine years old before Aug. 1 and not 13 before Aug. 1, 1971, is eligible.

Red Hook's LL In Fund Drive

RED HOOK

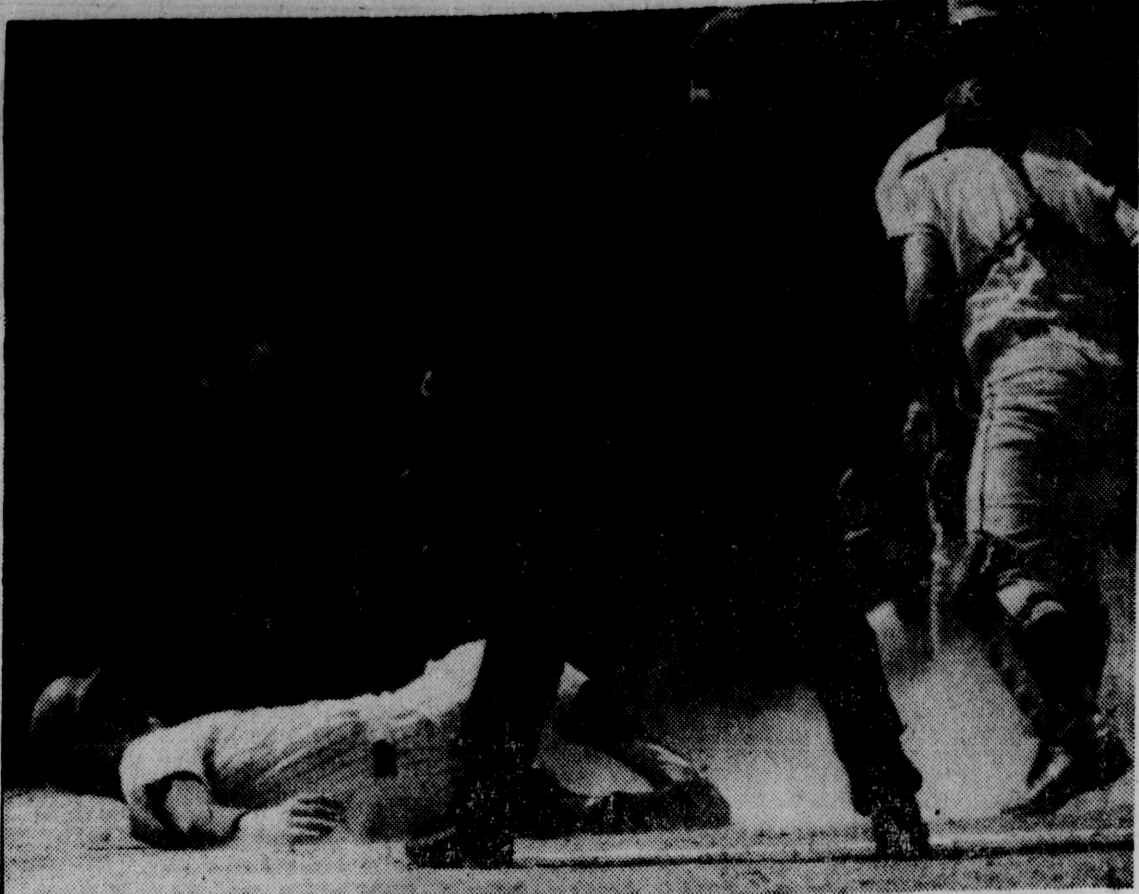

Red Hook Little League has set registration for all classifications March 23 and March 25 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the high school lobby for all boys who will attain the age of nine years before Aug. 1 and who will not be 13 before Aug. 1.

Each applicant, regardless of whether or not he registered in prior years, must bring his birth certificate and a parent or guardian to the registration. There is a need for managers, coaches, umpires and other volunteers.

A booster drive, conducted by Corky Friery, will start on the first night of registration and continue until the beginning of the season which has been tentatively set for May 17.

Tryouts for the Major and Minor leagues will be held April 17 and April 24 at 1 p.m. at the high school field with senior and big league tryouts to be scheduled at a later date.

Next meeting of the league Board of Directors will be held Tuesday, April 13.

SAUGERTIES 77-74 victors in an early season get-together between the clubs. The teams played their usual balanced brand of ball as each had four men scoring in double figures. The Raiders moved out to a 22-17 first period lead which was trimmed by two, 37-34, at the half.

Both Allen's and the Raiders now have identical 11-2 records with a scheduled meeting set for March 27, the last day of the race. The Raiders were narrow

Dunham's Win Game Of Champs

Dunham Tunnel of Kingston trounced Saugerties Pistons in a battle of Little League basketball champions, 52-27, in a game played at Donlon Auditorium.

Rick Meiers, the Little loop's highest scorer, paced Dunham's with 28 points and Cliff Lyons added 22. Tim Lasher accounted for the other two points. Dunham's led 28-18 in a game played in halves, instead of the usual quarters.

John Spiers led the Pistons with 13 and Tim Cole had 10. A return game is scheduled Monday at the municipal auditorium in Kingston.

The score:
Dunham Tunnel (52) — Cliff Lyons 22, Rick Meiers 28, Tim Lasher 2, Brian Cahill, Mark Lasher, Jim Madden.
Saugerties Pistons (37) — Art Decelle 4, Norm Haesenbaig 9, John Spiers 13, Larry Arena, Mark Baudendistel, Wayne Brocco, Tom Francello, Karl Letzette, Tim Cole 10.

NIT Has Real Style

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Invitation Tournament can't compete with the NCAA basketball tournament in terms of quality teams, but this year's NIT might just outdo the NCAA when it comes to showmanship. Forced to settle for conference also-rans and lesser independents, the NIT doesn't command the national respect of the NCAA tournament. However, this year's tournament, which begins Saturday, has a circus-like quality about it which just might make it a major attraction.

For one thing, Madison Square Garden, in an effort to beef up attendance to the early round games, has scheduled a pair of tripleheaders—a different approach to the tournament. Second, the appearance of Hawaii and Tennessee in the tourney will provide quite a bit of color for the spectators. Hawaii, which is the first team from outside the continental United States ever to appear in the NIT, features hula girl cheerleaders who throw orchids into the stands, and Tennessee has a pre-game warmup drill that features Golbetrotter antics and unicyclists.

It is the first time in nine years that the NIT will have less than two local teams, and it will be interesting to see if out-of-town clubs can draw in the early rounds.

The tournament opens with North Carolina meeting Massachusetts in the first game of a tripleheader. Louisville takes on Providence and Dayton meets Duke to conclude the afternoon round and the first day's action continues Saturday night with Tennessee opposing St. John's—the only local team—and Georgia Tech meeting LaSalle.

On Sunday there is another doubleheader as first-round action continues. Michigan meets Syracuse in the first game and St. Bonaventure takes on Purdue in the nightcap.

Hawaii finally swings into action on Monday against Oklahoma in the first game of a tripleheader to conclude first round play.

Kingston Cops Stars

SAUGERTIES Kingston Biddy League All Stars edged the Saugerties All Stars, 44-37, in the opener of a home and home series at Donlon Auditorium. The second game is scheduled Monday at the municipal auditorium in Kingston. Led by Dick Burris and Bill Ellsworth, who scored 11 points each, Kingston moved ahead 28-23 in the third quarter, after trailing 17-15 at halftime.

The score:
Kingston (44)—Mike McWee 4, Mike Murphy 6, Dick Burris 11, Kevin Bockelman 2, Dave Schleede 6, Mike Kearney, Tony Albany, Kevin Jordan 2, Nick Longendyke, Tom Caruso 2, Bill Ellsworth 11.
Saugerties (37)—Bob Scally 7, Jay Harris 2, Greg Schnell 2, George Redder 6, Mark Dedrick 5, Bill Garrison, Steve Van Tassel, Jeff Harbinger, Jim Hackett, Alan Ross, Joe Martin 15.

Period three saw a back and forth contest with the lead exchanging hands several times, but once again the Raiders were on top at the buzzer.

Carrying the four point margin into the final session, the Raiders stayed in front until some two and a half minutes showed on the clock at which time Allen's came to the fore and won going away.

Drop Charges Against Woman In Dutches

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Murder charges against a Dutchess County woman have been dropped after a county grand jury refused to indict her in the February stabbing death of her husband.

Mrs. Caroline Steward of Staatsburg was arrested Feb. 14 after her husband, Donald, was slain during an apparent quarrel in a pickup truck on Route 9C.

Dist. Atty. Albert Rosenblatt said a grand jury report returned Tuesday failed to indict the woman. The jury's findings, he added, "implied" that Steward's death was a "justifiable homicide." He said Mrs. Steward had been "brutalized, severely beaten and had lost several teeth."

County Judge Joseph Juicio ordered all charges against the woman dropped and her $10,000 bail exonerated.

Charged With DWI

Highland State Police arrested 26-year-old Charles Heyl, of R. D. 2, New Paltz, on Wednesday on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Arraigned before Town Justice Rexford Schneider, Heyl was held in $200 bail after he pleaded innocent. Hearing was adjourned until a later date. The arrest was made on Route 299.

Dear Abby

Waco Ideas Whacky

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: In regard to WACO WOMAN, who claimed that her husband was no different from any other man — he just likes "a change" once in a while:

My husband and I have been married for 26 years and have six children. We not only love each other — we like each other. I am considered a very attractive woman and my husband is handsome, intelligent and a good provider.

My husband is also no different from any other man, and admits that he has considered infidelity just for the novelty of it. For that matter, so have I.

We have resisted temptation (and at times it hasn't been easy) out of sheer will power. We know that the true joy in living comes to those who do right for no other reason than the right thing to do is the wise thing to do.

BEHAVING OURSELVES

DEAR ABBY: For the information and enlightenment of "Waco Woman," just as all women are not opinionated martyrs as she is, neither are all men alike.

In my 25 years of married life, perhaps to the credit of my wonderful wife, I never have cheated on her.

There have been many opportunities, and I would be lying if I said I wasn't tempted from time to time, but (and here I know there are many men like me) it isn't worth losing a lifetime of joy and love and everything my wife and I built together for a few minutes of ecstasy with someone who may not even care how I like my coffee.

HAPPY HOMER
DEAR HOMER: Now, let's hear it from the distaff side!

DEAR ABBY: The letter sent to you by "Waco Woman" (or was it "whacky?") has prompted me to ask you a question my mother and I discuss often. Is monogamy natural for the human male?

Being newly married, now I wonder if I should expect my husband to stray? My married brother has had some extramarital affairs, and he brags about these conquests to my mother and me, and mother just laughs. Yet if I were to do the same thing my mother would lock me in the cellar for a month!

The preacher says, "What God has joined together, let no man put asunder." Doesn't that go for women, too?

DEAR MRS. L.: Yes. The mating game has the same set of rules for the goose as it has for the gander. But for some reason, society has never really ostracized the goose who flies the coop, but the gander gets his wings clipped. This is known as The Double Standard. (Or more appropriately, The Double Cross.)

DEAR ABBY: So "Waco Woman" says her husband is just like all the other men. He would like a "change" once in a while. Well, ain't that lovely? I would like a change once in a while myself. And the change I would like is Paul Newman.

But if my husband ever caught me with Paul Newman he would break my neck. I don't need to worry, however, because if Paul Newman wanted a change, he sure wouldn't pick me.

For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

Friday, March 19

GENERAL TENDENCIES: It could turn out to be a very adverse day and evening if you make those sarcastic and unpleasant comments that come to mind. You must realize that others, less fortunate, are being to say what they really do not mean so be understanding and laugh them off pleasantly. Be understanding.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are feeling restless and want to toss over important duties for worthless fun, so keep stable instead. Smile and carry through with promises made. You will find this can be a good and productive day.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can handle practical affairs and get out to some form of recreation with a good friend only if you schedule your hours wisely. You may have some hunch that could not be right at all. Forget it.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't make an issue over a disagreement with an associate or you start a bad argument that could sever worthwhile connections. Plan how to handle a business matter wisely. Then all clears up nicely.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Show care in the handling of your routine work or you make some big mistakes that will take a long time to clear up. An associate wants to argue. Avoid this individual for awhile. Be wise.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Not a good time to go out for recreation when you have important matters to attend to or you could suffer much loss later on. Keep those promises you made to the letter. Evening is fine for a little fun.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Teasing one at home could cause a serious argument because of tense feelings there, so be tactful instead. Show more appreciation for gentility shown you. You are a perfectionist but this is no day to criticize.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take particular care in motion and travel in particular since you can avoid a possible accident. Study reports for errors and see that all is accurate. Enjoy romance in the evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Spending more money is not the way to get out of your difficulties now. Concentrate on being economic instead. Set up a sound budget for the days ahead. A little safe gamble is all right, though.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Not a good day for the social since other persons are thoughtless and you could easily lose your temper. Do whatever improves your image and use care in all that you do. Discuss an important matter with a good friend tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Forget limitations and start on work piled up. You'll soon get it out of the way and all looks rosier to you. Don't complain to others. Try to assist another and this helps you in return later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) This is not a good day to handle an important affair since there are many obstacles in your way. Wait for a better day and time. Avoid the social, also, since trouble could come. Study into new ventures this evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Use tact with persons who have power over your business affairs or you could get into deep trouble with them. Do something about a bill or you lose good credit rating. Avoid having to pay more interest.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...he or she will be one of those young people who, early in life, has to be taught not to be so demanding of others and thereby avoid getting hurt. There is a sincere love of people here, once their rights are considered by your dynamic progeny. Any trouble-shooting vocation is good here, whether male or female, since there is love of action and challenge to prove worth. Give the amount of education desired only. Do not try to force anything on him or her.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

DULL AIR: (Q.) My mother and father are both as stimulating as a wet piece of whole wheat bread and communication with them is impossible.

I think a daughter should communicate with her parents, but I would rather talk to myself. Our home atmosphere is very dull. How can I liven it up? I think perhaps they don't like to talk to me because I have a harelip. —Depressed in Maine.

(A.) Make yourself talk to them about cosmetic surgery. An operation on your lip will put both you and them more at ease.

With this hurdle out in the open and eventually out of the way, two-way communication will be much simpler.

And you will get along better with other people, too—particularly boys. That may be the key that unlocks the world for you.

CUP OF WINE: (Q.) My family went to a friend's house for a party. It was a pretty hip party. They had wine and booze. I poured a cup of wine for my sister and me. My mother thought I was going to drink it all. She made me pour part of it back.

She's afraid I will get tight and has now ordered me not to drink at all unless she's there to check on how much. That's silly. I've been drinking for a year and a half and haven't had a bit of trouble. I'm 12½ now. —Smart Girl in Nevada.

(A.) Having a few sips of wine at a family party and unsupervised drinking are entirely different. You are much too young for the latter and could suddenly find yourself in a tubful of trouble if you kept it up.

Prove you're a smart girl. Listen to your mother's advice and follow it.

Spring Training for Viewers

NEW YORK (AP) — It is spring practice time for television viewers. The idea is to develop one's skill in ducking reruns.

Only five regular series showed repeats Wednesday night, so only beginner's skill was required to avoid them. But as the weeks roll on, reruns will take over almost completely and the viewer will be hard put to find satisfactory entertainment.

Most television series consist of episodes that lose enchantment the second time around. The easy way would seem to be a summer-time switch of allegiance to a program on another network in the same time period.

It just doesn't work that way. "Men from Shiloh" fans obviously are not going to buckle down happily with "The Courtship of Eddie's Father." Maybe "To Rome with Love" viewers will find happiness with Henry Fonda and "The Smith Family."

"Men at Law" is coming to an end, canceled by CBS after its first season, but it is still using new material. The story Wednesday had a promising start: A young woman was trying to persuade her ailing grandfather to leave a quack's sanitarium. The charlatan was murdered—but then the story went down hill fast with a sorry imitation of a "Perry Mason" type courtroom denouement.

NBC's "Music Hall" also is still among the living. Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme were the principals in sketches presuming to show the horrors of suburban life. Sid Caesar and Barbara Eden were a couple of rude, celebrity-made

Reform Bill to Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration sends today its proposal for state-by-state reform of the nation's troubled auto insurance system to a Senate committee whose Democratic members include two sponsors of a tough federal approach.

"We think the present system needs change badly and needs it now," said Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, in a statement prepared for the Senate Commerce Committee and made available by congressional sources. Volpe said the states should get the first chance to change the system.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., committee chairman, and Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., a ranking member, are cosponsors of a bill to establishing a mandatory, nationwide auto insurance system.

The administration recommendations and the Magnuson-Hart bill focus on the so-called no-fault liability under which injured persons are compensated regardless of who caused the accident.

Volpe brought Congress the long-awaited final report of a $1.6 million, three-year department study of auto insurance. He also submitted a proposed resolution which cited the inequities in the current system and concluded:

"That it is the sense of the Congress that the regulation of insurance should, in general, continue with the states, subject to the admonition, however, that Congress cannot, and will not, long ignore the need of evolving new and updated approaches to insurance and accident compensation."

Hart, whose antimonopoly subcommittee has held extensive hearings on the insurance industry, believes that a state-by-state approach is unworkable.

Volpe said that a single reform system should not be imposed upon all the states.

But he did offer general guidelines for states to follow: "We believe that the states should begin promptly to shift to a first-party, non-fault compensation system for automobile accident victims."

... that this might be done gradually and in such a way that we can reverse ourselves, if the actual performance of the system doesn't meet our expectations.

... that recovery for 'general' or 'intangible' damages should be drastically limited and carefully circumscribed."

the experience of the several states under new systems."

In its draft resolution, the administration said the existing system "results in the excessive compensation of many persons sustaining only minor loss" while "by contrast, many persons with severe and permanently crippling injuries recover only a fraction of their losses."

The administration's proposed no-fault system includes these provisions:

—Every car owner would be required to carry insurance covering himself and his family as well as anyone who might be injured in an accident involving his vehicle.

—Insurance must cover all medical expenses "with very high mandatory limits." Included would be all medical rehabilitation expenses within the limits provided.

—Loss of income through death or injury would be covered up to a suggested ceiling of $1,000 a month.

—Payment of up to $75 a week for replacement of services of a non-working member of a household would be provided.

—An injured person would be barred from suing to recover damages greater than the limits set for damages covered by the policy.

—No injured person could sue for intangible losses "unless he established that he suffered permanent impairment or loss of function or permanent disfigurement, or that he incurred personal medical expenses (excluding hospital expenses) as a result of the accident in excess of a rather high dollar threshold."

Payroll-Tax Hike Proposed To Finance Higher SS Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's call for an immediate payroll-tax hike to finance higher Social Security benefits has been received on Capitol Hill with puzzlement and hints of resistance.

Nixon approved Wednesday a hastily enacted 10-per-cent increase in Social Security benefits for the 26 million beneficiaries. But he urged Congress to immediately increase this wage base on which the Social Security payroll tax is levied from $7,800 to $9,000.

The bill he signed contains such an increase, but not until next Jan. 1. The raise in benefits is retroactive, however, to last Jan. 1.

The increase, whenever effective, means a maximum annual tax raise of $62.40 each on an employee and his employer.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, declined comment on chances of hastening the effective date of the tax hike.

But he said a tax increase this year would more than cancel stimulation the Social Security benefit boost was calculated to provide for a still sluggish economy.

The benefit raise is expected to pump an extra $3.6 billion to recipients, most of whom would be expected to spend the new money quickly.

Sources on the committee that shaped the legislation said all advance indications were that the administration, to feed the economy, would happily accept a benefit increase this year and a tax increase next—even though its original recommendation was for both in a single year.

However, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican on the committee, said he is sure Nixon's recommendation will get full consideration.

Byrnes said further changes in Social Security provisions are being considered in the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, declined comment on chances of hastening the effective date of the tax hike.

Mills agreed that these changes, including higher payments for widows and a relaxation in the limit on earning retirees could receive without benefit loss, would cost more and might require financing changes.

So far, however, the committee has been working in terms of increasing the tax base and rate only in future years to take care of such contingencies.

House Slates Vote for More SST Financing

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House accused the most vocal congressional opponent of the supersonic transport plane Wednesday of "a shocking attempt to create fear" about the SST's possible threat to the environment.

The House scheduled a vote today on the Nixon administration's request for $134 million to continue financing development of the 1,800-mile per hour plane during the last three months of the fiscal year, which ends June 30.

Both sides predicted victory, although each hedged predictions with statements of uncertainty about the large number of members who have not announced their position.

"It's going to be very close," said Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, who backs the administration request. "I think we are going to win but it's going to be a hard struggle."

don't think we'll lose—or win—by more than 10 votes."

House passage would send the SST bill to the Senate where opponents believe the issue is a tossup. The House passed an SST bill by 15 votes last year.

The White House leveled its accusations at Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., after Proxmire charged the administration gagged a government scientist who earlier had predicted full-scale operation of an SST fleet would lead to a higher incidence of skin cancer.

In New York, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban was meeting with U.N. Secretary General Thant and U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring to discuss possible moves in light of Israel's rejection of U.N. appeals to withdraw from occupied Arab territory.

According to government sources in Tel Aviv, Eban was suggesting that the matter of Israeli-Arab borders be dropped for the moment and the war.

DON'T CONFUSE THESE TWO

TERMITE ANT

If you see just one termite—you can be sure there are hundreds more hidden "workers" eating away at your home. Call us for guaranteed, long lasting protection.

FACT! Termites damage more homes every year than storms and fires combined!

DON'T WAIT! Let us protect your home with our guaranteed 5-year protection plan. Prevention is cheaper than repairs after an attack of termites.
